19 Latin American Nations Resist New Deal Air Plan

MOVE TO CURB SMALL POWERS CHARGED HERE

Berle's Proposal Brings Protest.

BY FRANK HUGHES.

Nineteen Latin American countries represented at the international civil aviation conference in the Stevens hotel here revolted last night at what one of their spokesmen said was the New Deal plan to set up classes of superior and inferior powers in this hemisphere following the European pattern.

The Latin American delegates said they had no quarrel with the United States and asked only that the traditional policy of the Pan-American union be followed, with every nation in the western hemisphere having an equal voice in their mutual affairs.

Basis of Protest.

Their protest was based on a proposition presented by the United States delegation for the formation of an interim council which would act as an international regulatory body in world air transport until a permanent authority can be formed. Altho this document was offered as the work of United States delegation, it was prepared and mimeographed in Washington by the New Deal planners who called the conference long before any of the American delegation reached Chicago.

It proposed to create a council of 15 men, two each to be chosen by the United States, soviet Russia, and the British empire; one each from Brazil, China, and France, and the remaining six to be appointed from "countries not otherwise represented," three from Europe, two from the western hemisphere, and one from Asia and Africa.

Point to Soviet Move.

The Latin American spokesmen pointed out that Russia withdrew from the conference before it was called. The state department in Washington announced that it received word of Russia's withdrawal two days before the conference convened here last Wednesday, but the soviet refusal was known and published in London on Oct. 12. This led them to believe that the document was written by the New Dealers in Washington.

"We can always get together with the United States and work out arrangements governing the air traffic in this hemisphere," one of the delegates, who asked that his name be withheld, said. "At least we have been able to in the past."

"The Pan-American union, of which the United States is a member, has always worked on the basis that each of the 21 nations in this hemisphere shall have an equal voice in their international affairs.

"Not Riff Raff."

"If the United States tries to force the European idea that there shall be 'master' powers and 'inferior' powers upon us we will resist. This proposal for an interim council supposes that six powerful nations shall have control of the Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—B-29 Super Fortresses today bombed Singapore naval installations and the second biggest airplane fuel source in the far east.

A bulletin from the 20th air force called bombing results "good to excellent," both at the former British naval base on the tip of the Malay peninsula, and at the Pangkalan-Brandon oil refinery on the north coast of Sumatra.

The primary blow, in "substantial force," was against dock yard and repair facilities at Singapore, which the Japanese are understood to have converted into the chief brace of their navy in the south.

Hit Ship in Drydock.

The presumption was strong that a main purpose of the Singapore attack was to hamper the refitting of Japanese warships which escaped from the great naval battles in Philippine waters. That theory was supported by the bulletin which mentioned two direct hits on a Japanese ship in the drydock for repairs. Other direct hits were reported on a control house at the largest drydock and other vital points.

The flight, from India bases, was reported as the longest daylight mission ever flown by military planes. The only longer one—and that by only a few miles—was the August 10 night blow by the same bomber command against the Pladjoe refinery at Palembang, Sumatra.

Bomb Hits Refinery.

At least one bomb dropped square on the refinery in the Sumatra strike, the bulletin said. The 20th air force described Pangkalan-Brandon as the second most important high octane gasoline source in the far east, probably exceeded only by the Pladjoe refinery hammered last month.

Only weak fighter plane opposition was reported. Anti-aircraft fire was called moderate over both targets, and none of the American craft was reported lost.

Headquarters said nothing about Japanese radio reports of "enemy planes" scouting over the eastern sea coast of the main Japanese home island of Honshu. The Japanese guessed that the reconnaissance flights over the home islands came from the Mariana Islands.

Most of the eastern sea coast of Honshu, where Tokyo and most of Japan's heavy industry are located, was covered by the scouting planes, Tokyo radio said.

The Japs said 30 Super Fortresses took part in the Singapore raid and were "repulsed."

Rangoon Bombed Again.

SOUTHEAST ASIA HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, Nov. 5 (AP).—Heavy bombers of the eastern air command yesterday attacked railway targets at Insein on the outskirts of Rangoon, Burma, it was announced today.

The bombers had fighter escort. Other aircraft attacked ship yards and an air field at Vinh on the gulf of Tonkin in French Indo-China.

Yanks on Leyte Get a Swim; Survivor Tells of Sea Battle

Fight for 17 Days

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CARIGARA, Leyte Island, P. I., Nov. 5.—The weary boys of the 24th division went swimming today in beautiful Carigara bay. They had walked and fought for the length of Leyte valley to take that swim.

One regiment, only three-fourths of the boys who had started for Carigara 17 days ago, arrived along a 15 mile stretch of the sandy beach. The boys began setting up camp. They haven't had a hot meal or slept off the ground since leaving their invasion transport, and they were told it would be two days before the first signs of civilization, tents and mats and blankets and cook stoves, arrive.

Seventeen Days of Battle.

The boys going for a swim are a tired lot. Some can't believe that body and mind can take such punishment. Most of them just lie in the shallow surf, letting the warm water soothe the aches out of their bodies.

Every day of the last 17 days was a new battle and a new battleground. First it was the beach and the bloody coconut swamp and then towering hills; then came the conquest of the first town of Palo, with its 200 year old church into which the Filipino citizens had crowded for safety.

Outside Palo the infantry men toted their supplies thru waist deep swamps. Once out into the broad valley highway 2 lay ahead.

Every Day the Same.

From then on each campaign day was about the same, on the road soon after dawn, each man loaded with ammunition, weapons, and food, and at the hip two canteens of murky water often taken from shell holes. They slogged thru the dust or mud—it's always one or the other—a mile or two or four until they came to a river or a town.

There the Japs lay waiting, machine guns and snipers hovering over the road. The troops scattered. Men dropped dead or wounded and brave medics dragged them out. Tanks sprayed the fields and blasted pillboxes. Then everybody withdrew. From far behind the artillery opened.

Then the infantry moved up again and wiped out what Japs remained. March, fight, dig. March, fight, dig. That has been the thrilling story of the Leyte campaign. That's why the men stretch lazily on Carigara beach.

Floats in Sea 4 Days

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Quartermaster 3/C Neil Dethless, 20, of Olympia, Wash., survived the naval battle of Samar, after floating in the water four days when his destroyer was sunk, Australian correspondent Reg Harris reported yesterday from the Philippines in a press broadcast to three Australian papers.

Delirious and weak, Dethless finally reached the Samar coast, the last of a group of crewmen who started to swim for the island, Harris said.

Dethless was aboard a destroyer which fought a Japanese force of four battleships, nine cruisers and 12 destroyers.

Ship Made a Shambles.

"The Japs opened fire from 15 miles range," Dethless was quoted as saying, "and kept up a terrific barrage as they closed in. Our force was straddled by 16, 14, and 8 inch shells as we fought back.

"My ship was hit first under the bridge, with a lot of casualties. Another smashed our port screws, reducing our speed to 16 knots. The third got our magazine and set the ship afire, but we continued to fight back, with the destroyer a shambles.

"We sustained seven direct hits before we were ordered to abandon ship. Most of our life boats and rafts had been smashed.

"We jumped overboard and swam like hell to get away from the burning derelict, which the Japs continued to shell while we were in the water.

30 Swim for Samar.

"I jumped overboard at noon on the 25th and woke up on the beach at noon the 29th. I had been in the water four days."

At first, Dethless said, he was on a raft with other crewmen, but left it while trying to rescue another sailor.

"During the second day," he continued, "thirty of us in the water together sighted Samar and started to swim for it. It seemed about 16 miles away.

"In the darkness that night we got separated, and at dawn there was only one man with me. Later I lost him, too."

Dethless related that Filipino natives found him and took him to the home of a Filipino woman whose husband, now dead, had been an American navy lieutenant and later an American army captain. A guerrilla leader took him to the Americans on Leyte.

SIEGFRIED LINE YANK, 50, GETS GREETINGS RIGHT ON THE DOT

WITH THE 747TH SEPARATE TANK BATTALION, 29TH DIVISION, Siegfried Line, Nov. 4 [Delayed]—(AP).—Sgt. Luther Haggard, regular army soldier from Brownsville, Tex., received greetings by mail today on his 50th birthday.

The sergeant, who was in Germany with the United States army of occupation after World War I, has been on the continent since the day after the invasion began. When the mail truck arrived there were two letters for Haggard. "Happy birthday to a swell dad," said one from his two children, Betty, 11, and Bobby, 6. The second bore greetings from his wife.

"What makes Jerry think he can beat an army that can get a man his birthday greetings on time," boomed the veteran.

REPORT BRITISH CIVIL SERVANTS TO RULE EUROPE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Indications are growing in London that Britain will play the No. 1 role in the post-war administration of Europe. With staffs of civil servants, especially those from the food industry, already reported being enrolled for transfer to Germany as soon as the Nazis are defeated, a force of civil defense personnel was being recruited to work in liberated lands.

Another report is that there is a proposal before the cabinet that members of parliament should go to Germany with the allied control commission to reorganize the civil and political life of the people behind the firing line. Some difficulties are expected to arise in the wake of this plan, for the juiciest plums among the assignments probably will go to many conservatives and a few Laborites.

It was hinted that if the Labor party insists on equal representation the plan may be turned down and no M. P.'s will go.

F.D.R. WILL TRY AGAIN TO WIN HIS HOME TOWN

He Tours Hudson Valley Today.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 5.—President Roosevelt remained in seclusion today at his heavily guarded country estate on the Hudson river after an overnight train trip from Boston, Mass., where he delivered the last major address of his fourth term campaign. He will vote here Tuesday.

The President did not attend church services, as is sometimes his custom when staying here. The White House secretariat said the "lid was on" so far as news was concerned.

Tomorrow, the President will sally forth on an automobile tour of towns in the Hudson valley, following a pre-election day custom set up many years ago when he first began seeking public office.

Never Won at Home.

It is probably a futile quest for a voting majority among his neighbors because Mr. Roosevelt, despite landslide national victories, has never gained a majority of votes in his home county of Dutchess or home town of Hyde Park, since he first ran for President in 1932.

State Sen. Fred Bontecou, county Republican leader, predicted Gov. Dewey would pile up a 12,000 vote majority in the county. James A. Benson, chairman of the county Democratic committee, would not forecast a local victory for the President, altho he asserted Mr. Roosevelt would win nationally.

The President lost the county by 5,583 to Hoover in 1932, by 4,401 to Landon in 1936, and by 6,730 to Willkie in 1940.

Expected to Attack Fish.

Mr. Roosevelt will make stops and speak briefly from the rear seat of his open touring car at Beacon, Kingston, and Newburgh, N. Y. Again following custom, he is expected to utter some harsh words about Rep. Fish [R., N. Y.], whose fight for reelection from this congressional district is being bitterly contested, with Sidney Hillman's CIO-PAC active in support of Fish's opponent, Augustus Bennet.

At 5:30 p. m. Mr. Roosevelt will wind up his tour with an appearance and address in front of the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., postoffice.

On Tuesday the President will vote in the Hyde Park town hall.

Britain Still Holding 34 Without Right of Trial

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—No persons were arrested under defense regulation 18-B during September, and 54 detainees were released, the minister of home security announced. Thirty-four out of 1,000 originally seized were still held as dangerous. Regulation 18-B permits the government to hold a person without trial.

Truman Boner Last Minute Blow to F.D.R.

Browder on Religion

IN his book "What Is Communism?" Earl Browder, leader of communism in America, explains the Communist stand on religion:

"We stand without any reservations for education that will root out beliefs in the supernatural. . . . We Communists do not distinguish between good and bad religions, because we think they are all bad for the masses."

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

The Presidential election campaign ends today amid sensational developments that bid fair to influence profoundly the result of the national balloting tomorrow.

President Roosevelt at Boston Saturday signally failed in his last minute effort to reconcile the Irish Catholic Democrats, most potent political group of doubtful, and possibly pivotal, Massachusetts to his candidacy for a fourth term.

The episode fanned into fresh flame issues of the election raised by the President's failure to redeem his 1940 Boston pledge to keep the country out of war and by the ascendancy of Earl Browder's Communists and Sidney Hillman's communist dominated CIO political action committee in the drive for Mr. Roosevelt's reelection.

Democratic leaders at national headquarters yesterday ill concealed disappointment at the failure of the President to mend the breach between him and the Irish Catholics. They had staked all on Mr. Roosevelt's final effort, fearing, if it should fail, not only that New England would be lost to the Roosevelt-Truman ticket but that repercussions in New York, Chicago, and other large cities, in every one of which there is a large Catholic population, would intensify opposition to the fourth term and clinch the election of Gov. Dewey.

Truman to Be Blamed.

If Mr. Roosevelt is defeated tomorrow, Vice Presidential Candidate Truman will be blamed, as the Republican orator, the Rev. Samuel Burchard, who flung his famous taunt of "rum, Romanism, and rebellion" at Grover Cleveland in the last days of the 1884 campaign, was blamed for the defeat of James G. Blaine.

For it was Truman who, in stumping Massachusetts a week ago, touched off the explosion that shook the complacency of the Democratic managers. It may be that Truman was greatly riled at the time by the coolness with which he was being received by Democratic leaders in New England.

Truman reached New England on the heels of the publication of affidavits that he formerly was a member of the Ku Klux Klan in Missouri. He denied the charge, but still a fresh crop of affidavits appeared in the press day after day as one after another of his Missouri neighbors, who were members of the Klan, testified that he had been enrolled in the hooded order.

Entering Massachusetts he was

Roosevelt Health Remains Puzzle

Make-Up Artist Story.

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 5 [Special].—The New Bedford Standard-Times will say tomorrow that a Hollywood make-up artist works on President Roosevelt's face to give him a bronzed, healthy appearance before he emerges from his private railroad car on campaign trips.

The newspaper attributes the story to Philadelphia [Pa.] professional men, one of whom was aboard the Presidential train when it arrived in Philadelphia Oct. 27. It will say:

"A small group of Philadelphians were discussing the question of the President's health while in an insurance meeting. One of them said he had heard a rumor that make-up was used to improve Mr. Roosevelt's appearance. A railroad official present said: 'It isn't a rumor; it's true. I have seen it done and I know the man who did it.' He said he saw the motion picture make-up artist put the finishing touches on the President's face and spoke to him afterward because they were acquainted."

Hospital Mystery.

There were conflicting statements yesterday as to whether a room was reserved for President Roosevelt in St. Luke's hospital on Oct. 28, the date of his address in Soldiers' field.

A Tribune reporter making a check of the hospital asked to speak to "some one in authority," and was told by a woman who answered that request, that such a room had been reserved for the President to be used "in case of an emergency," but that it was not used. The informant declined to give her name, saying any announcement must come from the executive director.

Last night, Leo M. Lyons, former relief administrator for Chicago and now executive director of St. Luke's, issued the following statement: "No reservation was made for President Roosevelt or any member of his party in St. Luke's hospital for Oct. 28."

Rumors that a room had been engaged for the President at St. Luke's had been current for several days.

DEWEY TO MAKE FINAL PLEA ON RADIO TONIGHT

Returns to Albany for Address.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Gov. Dewey arrived here this afternoon, his campaign travels ended. With his wife, he walked briskly thru the railroad station to his automobile, his chin up, smiling, as fresh and vigorous as when he opened his fight for the Presidency.

Last night, in New York City's Madison Square Garden, he ended his arguments against a fourth term for President Roosevelt. Tomorrow night, from the executive mansion he will broadcast to the nation urging citizens to exercise their franchise in this second war time election in America. Then, on Tuesday, he and Mrs. Dewey will go to New York City to vote and that night to listen to the election returns in their apartment in the Roosevelt hotel.

Appears in Good Condition.

If Dewey is worried about the outcome, he does not show it in his appearance. His eyes are clear and steady. The crew of the campaign train said he has been eating and sleeping well and appears in the pink of physical condition.

The arrival of his campaign train here this afternoon ended approximately 22,000 miles of travel in which 23 major addresses were delivered. He has told the nation of his program for full production, full employment, tax reductions, a more comprehensive social security program, and a purge of burocracy.

Dewey's final message to the electorate will be delivered at 10 to 10:15 p. m. [Chicago time] tomorrow, over all four radio networks.

Speech to Be Rebroadcast.

Also tomorrow night, from 8:30 to 9 o'clock [Chicago time], Mutual will rebroadcast the Madison Square Garden speech in which Dewey summarized his arguments for the ouster of Roosevelt and his New Dealers; the bungling of the war effort before and after Pearl Harbor; the chaos on the Potomac, prolonging the war, and imperiling economic recovery after the war, and the rise of Earl Browder of the Communists and Sidney Hillman of the CIO-PAC to political power.

Dewey disclosed last night that his voice almost failed him during the final phase of his campaign. He remarked during an impromptu postscript to his Madison Square Garden broadcast that he had "almost lost" his voice in Pennsylvania, despite the careful spacing of his speeches.

TURKEY DAY TO BE JUST THAT TO YANKS IN PACIFIC

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Nov. 5 (AP).—A Thanksgiving turkey dinner for every United States naval officer and man in the Pacific area, afloat and ashore, is the ambition of the navy service force.

Some 940,000 pounds of turkey, with all the trimmings, is moving out to fighting and supply ships and to the men at shore establishments in the Mariana, Caroline, Marshall, Gilbert, and Hawaiian Islands. Other arrangements have been made to see that men under MacArthur, and those in the Alaskan theater, get their full share of the holiday goodies. Army quartermasters plan to ship 240,000 pounds of turkey to Central Pacific bases.

Rainy Election Day Seen for Chicago and Illinois

Chicago and Illinois voters face a rainy election day tomorrow. Weatherman H. L. Jacobson said yesterday that the mercury will remain under 50 degrees. "It won't be a nice day," Jacobson summed up. The weather bureau in Washington, D. C., announced Saturday that election day weather is not likely to be severe enough in any locality to keep voters at home.

POLES EXHORTED TO BALLOT WITH LINCOLN PARTY

Rally at Historic Site for Human Liberty.

A call for America to return to Abraham Lincoln's philosophy of freedom and liberty was issued yesterday by the Polish American Republican organization of Illinois. Members of the group met at the site of the old Wigwam, where Lincoln was nominated for President in the Republican convention of 1860.

"It's time for American voters to turn once again to the Republican party for a leader to save the cause of democracy, as they did in that crisis of our history when the life of this nation and human liberty were in jeopardy," said Secretary S. Charles Bubacz. He spoke before the bronze plaque that identifies the property at 333 Lake st. as the site of the Chicago Wigwam, a squat, frame building erected for the Republican national convention of 1860.

Old Structure Now Warehouse.

The structure, now at the southeast corner of Lake st. and Wacker dr., is used as a salesroom and warehouse by a wholesale rubber company.

A plank in the 1860 platform upon which Lincoln campaigned was revived by Stanley R. Pulaski, director of the Polish Roman Catholic Union of America.

". . . Recent startling developments of fraud and corruptions at the federal metropolis [Washington, D. C.] show that an entire change of administration is imperatively demanded," was the plank recalled by Pulaski. He asserted the nation today is in as dangerous condition, due to broken promises and foreign philosophies accepted by the administration, as the Union was in the days of Lincoln.

American Freedom Threatened.

A vital rejuvenation of true American principles was called for by William J. Remus and Dr. Alex J. Prominski. Both recalled that it was for such principles that Gen. Thaddeus Kosciusko, famed Polish hero of the Revolutionary war, fought side by side with American colonists.

"Today our freedom and liberty are again being threatened," Remus said. "We must guard that precious heritage, which is being endangered by foreign 'isms' emanating from the Browders, Hillmans, and their kind. It's time for Americans of every party to rededicate themselves to the ideals of our martyred leaders, that the time tested standards of democracy may have a rebirth in the nation."

A wreath was placed over the plaque "in the name of all Americans who view with horror the attempts to compromise American liberties."

KELLY STOOPING INTO DIRT, SAYS AID OF DEMPSEY

Hits His Statement on Sex Cases.

Mayor Kelly's last minute attack on John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for state's attorney, was contrasted yesterday with indorsements of Dempsey by the bar association and by civic leaders. Former Judge Edward B. Casey, manager of Dempsey's campaign, said the mayor had put the spotlight on the state's attorney's battle, and "had reached a new low in dirty politics" with "last minute lies."

In addition Dempsey was hailed as the candidate to be supported by the colored people in an indorsement issued by Earl B. Dickerson, attorney and former alderman.

Lowest He Ever Stooped.

Casey's statement regarding the mayor's charge that Dempsey had been lenient in 11 sex cases during a three year period when Dempsey was an assistant state's attorney was as follows:

"In this campaign Mayor Kelly reached a new low in dirty politics. In his anxiety to put his stooge in the state's attorney's office, and sensing defeat, he stooped lower than he has ever stooped before—and that's saying something.

"He waited until 6 o'clock Saturday night, after all records were locked in vaults, then issued a newspaper release which was signed by an assistant state's attorney anxious to hold his job. Kelly said it was an official record and issued by him without comment. But everything in it was Kelly's comment and nothing else.

Called Biased Comment.

"No official records in Illinois ever contained any such statement as Dempsey recommended dismissal of the penitentiary charges.' That is Kelly's biased comment."

"Dempsey's stand on civil liberties entitles him to election as state's attorney," said ex-Ald. Dickerson. "Certainly the minority groups of Chicago, especially the colored people who have been pushed around and given the third degree to compel admissions and confessions of guilt, should be eager for a change and for the election of Dempsey, who is a champion of civil rights.

"Dempsey is free from the domination of a political machine while his opponent is inescapably tied to the Kelly steamroller, grown old and haughty with power."

DELIVERY OF BALLOTS UNDER WAY; TASK TO BE COMPLETED TODAY

The task of delivering ballots and other election supplies to judges of the 4,588 polling places in Cook county got under way yesterday and will be completed today.

At 6 a. m. yesterday, 18 trucks left a garage at 39th st. and Union av. loaded with ballots for the 563 polling places in country towns under the jurisdiction of County Clerk Flynn.

Election regulations provide for delivery of the supplies to one of the precinct judges, who keeps them at home until election morning when they are taken to the polling place. Most of the election officials will be at the polling places at 5:30 a. m. to prepare for opening of the polls at 6 a. m.

At 5 o'clock this morning, 50 trucks were to report at the warehouse at 4917 Broadway and be loaded with from 500 to 1,000 ballots for each of the 4,025 precincts in Chicago and suburbs under the jurisdiction of the board of election commissioners. Stops were to be made at the board's offices in the city hall for other supplies.

A policeman and board employe or deputy clerk accompanied each shipment of supplies and ballots. In addition, there will be a policeman at each polling place on election day.

PASTOR CANCELS POLING SPEECH AS 'POLITICAL'

Bala-Cynwyd, Pa., Nov. 5 (AP).—An address by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, pastor of the Philadelphia Baptist temple and president of the World Christian Endeavor union, before the Christian Endeavor society of the Methodist church here was canceled today by the Rev. Franklin Duncombe, who said:

"As a Christian minister, I don't want to bring politics into my church."

Dr. Poling supported President Roosevelt's candidacy in a radio speech Friday.

Dr. Duncombe said he wrote to Dr. Poling Saturday canceling the address and read the letter to the Philadelphia clergyman over the telephone today.

MEMORIAL HELD FOR 300 HEROES IN HARRISON H. S.

Three hundred gold star heroes were memorialized yesterday at a service in Harrison Technical High school, 2850 W. 24th st. It was a community gathering participated in by representatives of various religious, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, civilian defense and the high school. One hundred of the heroes were former students at Harrison High school. A march of honor, starting at 26th and Keeler av., was composed of a color guard, 230 cadets, the R. O. T. C., and Boy Scouts.

KELLY REPORTED PUTTING BITE ON OWN PARTY AIDS

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Thousands of poll watchers will be on hand tomorrow in the city's election precincts, but leaders of the business men's committee, the joint civic committee on elections, and of the Republican organization said they are desperately in need of more men. Reports, rumors, and the complaints of recent days of intimidation, violence, and the use of money gave rise to the fear expressed yesterday that ballot cheaters will stop at nothing tomorrow.

A story of the raising of a $100,000 slush fund was making the rounds yesterday and a number of Republican chieftains said they knew it to be true. Mayor Kelly was said to have secretly assessed each of the city Democratic ward organizations $2,000, and in addition a number of police captains were said to have been advised they are expected to contribute $500 each.

Recall Aid of Skidmore.

The mayor, who had himself named Democratic committeeman of the 50th ward, altho he lives in the 42d ward, is chairman of the Democratic county central committee, a post previously held for years by the late Pat Nash. It was to this committee that the late William Skidmore, political fixer who died in prison, made his campaign contributions, all politicians agree.

"Mayor Kelly told State's Atty. Courtney he was responsible for the loss of this annual contribution," a prominent Democrat said. "Skidmore used to hand over $200,000 or more at election times out of his collections from the thousand or more handbooks that used to flourish here."

Democrats said that formerly they were allowed $50 a precinct by the Kelly-Nash organization for county elections, and that such a sum is needed in order to get straight votes. The failure of Mayor Kelly to furnish any funds this time in many wards will hurt the Democratic state candidates most, it was explained as Roosevelt followers may vote only for the President.

Speculate on Fund's Use.

What the mayor intends to do with the assessments on the various ward leaders and city officials was a puzzle to the Republicans as well as the Democrats. One report was that he might use it all in the colored district to get the Roosevelt Negroes to vote solidly for his county ticket.

Another politician's guess was that Kelly, too, had been assessed by Robert Hannegan, national chairman of the Democratic party, in conjunction with or without Sidney Hillman of the political action committee, and that the $100,000 would "never see Chicago again."

"We don't know where Kelly will spend the hundred thousand dollars," said George Fisher, Republican county chairman. "But we'll be watchful to combat the use of money in the election.

John T. Dempsey, Republican nominee for state's attorney, said his watchers would be especially vigilant in certain city wards where vote frauds have been notorious in recent years.

"I serve notice now on all election crooks that they will steal at their peril this time," Dempsey said.

LOUISE BOWEN PROMISES VOTE TO REP. DEWEY

Mrs. Louise deKoven Bowen, 1430 Astor st., one of Chicago's most prominent figures in social welfare work, announced yesterday that she is again supporting Charles S. Dewey for reelection as Republican congressman in the 9th district. She said the Democratic candidate, Alexander Resa, was claiming her indorsement.

In a letter to Dewey, Mrs. Bowen said:

"I have reached an age where I am no longer taking any active part in politics, but today I was reliably informed that Mr. Resa or his followers were making the statement that I have indorsed his candidacy for congressional representative.

"I want to say that this statement is not correct in any way. I have always voted for you and expect to do so next week, for I consider that you have been a most admirable representative from your district and that your knowledge of financial affairs and your integrity have made you a most valuable man in congress."

Tenant Charges Landlord Beat Him; Causes Arrest

LaClede Bethards, 38, of 6500 Dorchester av., yesterday complained to police that his landlord, Bert Fisher, 60, punched him, tripped him, then got on top of him and pounded him with his fists and a stick until he begged, "Quit, I've had enough." Bethards said he merely asked his landlord for a new mattress. Fisher, who was arrested, said he only used his closed fist on the tenant.

GREEN PREDICTS DEWEY VICTORY AT NEGRO RALLY

Lyons Forecasts End of 'Nightmares.'

Gov. Green and Richard J. Lyons, nominee for senator, climaxed the Republican campaign in Chicago yesterday by predicting the election of Gov. Dewey as President. They spoke before a large and enthusiastic throng of Negroes at a 2d ward rally in the 8th regiment armory, 35th st. and Giles av.

Calling for a "Republican vote for honest government and honest elections," Gov. Green said the 26 states with Republican governors have brought new vision and energy to American public life and will pile up enough electoral votes to insure victory for the Dewey-Bricker ticket.

G. O. P. Opens Way for Negroes.

Gov. Green pledged that a post-war objective will be a state law prohibiting racial discrimination by employers. He said there is no department of the state government that does not have a Negro employe and that the number of Negroes employed by the state has risen from 300 to 1,000 in his administration.

A Republican vote, the governor asserted, will indorse the American system of enterprise, make way for post-war jobs and prosperity and for establishment of a government under which business will have the confidence to invest in new job creating enterprises and maintain full employment at good wages for workers and steady markets for farm products.

The governor charged that the New Deal candidates "will have to clear their votes and acts with Sidney Hillman or with some other advocate of state socialism or communism." His talk was received with cheers.

"Nightmares Ended," Says Lyons.

Lyons said elimination of the New Deal would "send a breath of fresh air, in the person of Thomas E. Dewey, to Washington."

"After 12 long years of nightmares," Lyons said, "we won't have to listen to Harold Ickes any more, and that fellow Hardship Harry Hopkins will have to go to work for a change."

He told the Negro audience that, if the New Deal wins the election, every important congressional committee will be headed by a southerner.

Poll Tax Denounced.

"Register your protest against the poll tax which prevents your people in the south from voting in Tuesday's election," Raymond J. Peacock, Republican candidate for recorder of deeds, admonished the Negroes. He charged that Roosevelt and the New Deal prevented passage of anti-poll tax legislation and thus "made it impossible for your friends and relatives below the Mason-Dixon line to vote."

"You can vote," he told his listeners, "and, I say to you, it is your duty to vote to free your people; vote the ticket of Abraham Lincoln. Any colored person who falls short of that mark is not loyal to the cause."

Woman Assails Truman.

Miss Willa B. Brown, precinct captain, assailed Harry S. Truman's alleged former membership in the Ku Klux Klan.

"Nothing worse," she said, "could happen to the Negro than to have his fate fall into the hands of a man like Harry S. Truman."

Miss Brown, prominent Negro leader and famous aviatrix, implored the Negroes to vote for William E. King for congress "to rid yourselves of the corrupt leadership of William L. Dawson."

Other Negro rallies were held in the 3d, 5th, and 6th wards.

Tribune Recommendations for Vote Tomorrow

Below is facsimile of the portion of the main ballot for tomorrow's election marked as recommended by The Tribune for the Republican nominees for President, Vice President, United States senator, and governor. Not shown below are the remainder of the Republican and Democratic nominees, the nominees of the Prohibition and Socialist Labor parties, and two Illinois constitutional amendment propositions—revision of the banking act and a proposal to permit sheriffs and county treasurers to succeed themselves. The Tribune recommends a vote for all Republican nominees. The vote can be cast by marking a cross in the circle at the head of the Republican ticket or a cross in the circle and a cross in the square before the name of each Republican candidate.

G. O. P. REFUSAL TO 'PLAY FAIR' GRIEVES LUCAS

Campaign Finale Ends on Unhappy Note.

Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.] closed his re-election drive yesterday. He told Democratic ward meetings that Republicans had specialized in "scandal mongering, vilification, and downright dishonesty," avoiding serious issues.

"Altho we are winning the war, the opposition has avoided discussing the battle front and home front problems," Lucas said. "Instead of emphasizing the winning of the war and peace Republicans have used war time rationing, communism, dictatorship, and bureocracy as campaign tactics to evade the real problems.

Also Appeals for Votes.

"One of the saddest reflections upon the opposition's leadership is the utter failure to have paid a single tribute to the great victories in France, Germany, and the Pacific."

The senator also broadcast an appeal for votes last night. Today he will go to his downstate home in Havana to vote, but he will leave that Republican center before tomorrow's votes are counted. He will hear the returns with Mayor Kelly and other Democrats in headquarters here.

State's Atty. Courtney made a broadcast to Polish voters before starting his last round of ward meetings. Courtney, who is running for governor, closed his campaign as he started it last spring, by reciting a long list of complaints against Gov. Green.

All "Broken Promises."

"The people are keenly aware that the administration of Gov. Green no longer merits respect or confidence," Courtney proclaimed. "They are keenly aware that Gov. Green has neglected the welfare of the people for four years and he has broken every solemn promise for good government that he made in 1940.

"They know that he has broken his promise to take the sales tax off food. The people know that Gov. Green has broken his promise to increase old age pensions. They know he has broken his promise to reduce state expenditures."

The prosecutor expressed confidence that he would lead the entire Democratic ticket to victory.

EARL M'MAHON ASKS SUPPORT FOR LYONS AS LABOR'S FRIEND

Election of Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for senator, was urged in a broadcast last night by Earl McMahon, secretary of the Chicago and Cook County Construction and Building Trades council.

McMahon asserted that the record made by Lyons thru 10 years' service in the Illinois house of representatives deserved the support of all labor groups. He criticized, in contrast, the record of Lyons' Democratic opponent, Sen. Lucas.

"The Illinois State Federation of Labor reported that Dick Lyons voted for seven out of eight bills taken as a test by labor," said McMahon. "During this same period, while Lucas was a member of the national house of representatives, Lucas voted as often against labor measures as he voted for them."

Lucas also was denounced as a "New Deal stooge" who voted for the Smith-Connally anti-strike bill, which the speaker called "one of the most vicious anti-labor measures ever to be put on the federal statute books."

Dewey's Mother Leaves Owosso to Join Son

Owosso, Mich., Nov. 5 (AP).—Mrs. George Dewey, mother of Thomas E. Dewey, Republican Presidential candidate, left here this afternoon to join her son at Albany, N. Y., for election day. She said she was making the trip at her son's request.

BOTTLE TOSSED BY DEWEY FOES PERILS GIRL OF 3

Terrorists who have been smashing windows in which pictures of Gov. Dewey are displayed early yesterday hurled a milk bottle thru a window of the home of Clifford G. Heart, 3640 Diversey av., and narrowly missed injuring his 3 year old daughter, Dorothea.

The child, who had been ill, was asleep on a davenport near the window in which the Dewey picture was hanging. When the bottle smashed the window, she was showered with broken glass but was not injured. Her father, a former state policeman, is employed at the Dodge plant.

Over the window in his home which was smashed by vandals early Saturday, G. Patrick Warner, 6200 Woodlawn av., yesterday hung a sign reading, "This was done by New Deal Communists." He also replaced the picture of Dewey which was torn when a brick was thrown thru the window.

A window in the home of Philip Caruso, 47, a truck driver, at 1313 Grenshaw st., was smashed yesterday by hoodlums who hurled a brick at a portrait of Dewey. A screen prevented the brick from falling into the Caruso living room, where he and relatives were holding a reunion.

Plan 4-Hour Broadcast to Yanks on Election

TRUMAN BONER A LAST MINUTE BLOW TO F. D. R.

President Vainly Tries to Undo Harm.

chagrined to find that Sen. Walsh, Massachusetts' Democratic senator and head of the party in the state, was not on hand to meet him and introduce him to his first audience. Next he learned that the Boston Democratic organization had definitely barred him from speaking in that city.

The reason given privately by the Democratic leaders was that it would do the ticket no good to parade a henchman of the malodorous Pendergast machine of Missouri in a city still groaning from the depredations of the notorious Curley machine.

Whether or not Truman attributed the real reason to Catholic reaction against the charges of his Klan membership he wound up his tour of the state outside of Boston feeling none too friendly toward Sen. Walsh, Massachusetts' foremost Catholic layman, despite the fact that Walsh had finally consented to appear on the same platform with him at Lawrence. He gave vent to his feelings at a press conference in which he said he saw no difference between Sen. Walsh and the "eight isolationist Republican senators" Truman had called on Dewey to repudiate.

Senator Incensed.

"No difference," said Truman, "except that Sen. Walsh has two years to serve and we have a chance to reform him."

That incensed Walsh, who was a leading opponent of intervention in the war before Pearl Harbor.

"I have no apologies to make to Sen. Truman," said Walsh, "or to any one else for my action in seeking, pleading, and urging that Americans be kept out of the war—up to the day of Pearl Harbor—and that America be kept free from sacrifices and the loss of life that came eventually.

"Now and hereafter, according to Sen. Truman's views, if a man wants to be a patriot he must be a war monger. What Sen. Truman says is an invitation to all who worked with might and main, heart, soul, head, and hands, to keep our country out of war and our boys from fighting and dying on foreign battlefields to walk out of the Democratic party.

Walsh Cancels Speech.

"It will be so construed by the 80 per cent of the American people who were opposed to intervention before Pearl Harbor."

Asked for comment on Walsh's resentful utterance Truman said he would wait for "Sen. Walsh's speech Thursday night—that should clear up everything."

Sen. Walsh had been booked for a radio speech last Thursday night. But after Truman's attack he canceled it and declined to do any campaigning for Roosevelt and Truman, tho he said he would vote the ticket.

At Democratic national headquarters this proved one of the most alarming incidents of the campaign. Truman had incurred a blistering repudiation of the Roosevelt candidacy by New England's foremost Democratic senator, chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs, and a public man of such popularity that he ran 110,000 votes ahead of the President in the 1940 election. He had also aroused anew the opposition to the fourth term of Sen. Walsh's great Irish Catholic following, if not of Catholics generally. Concurrently Joseph B. Ely, former Democratic governor of Massachusetts, had declared for Dewey and Bricker in a sizzling radio denunciation of the New Deal and the communist backing of the fourth term.

President's Charm Fails.

It devolved upon the President to turn on his well known charm in an effort to get Sen. Walsh and the Catholics back on the reservation. Mr. Roosevelt telephoned Sen. Walsh, inviting him to meet him on his train en route to Boston for his Saturday night speech. Sen. Walsh regarded the invitation as a command and accepted. He boarded the train at Worcester. There ensued a half hour conference in which the President, aided by Mayor Tobin of Boston, Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, and other Democratic big wigs, strove to induce Walsh to appear with Mr. Roosevelt at the Boston meeting and indorse the ticket.

Sen. Walsh flatly declined to appear at the meeting or to make any other gesture of indorsement of the fourth term. When the train reached Boston he went to his home at Clinton.

Actually, Sen. Truman's "boner," as it was called at Democratic headquarters, while it may have fanned the flames of hostility, was not the cause of the opposition of Sen. Walsh and other Catholics to the fourth term. It was far more deeply seated.

"Again and Again" Pledge.

Only in part does it stem from Mr. Roosevelt's failure to keep his "again and again and again" promise that "your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars," which, given at Boston a few days before the 1940 election, enabled the President, in the opinion of Democratic leaders, to snatch victory from impending defeat. Catholics are not the only ones who blame the President for getting the country into the war and not all Catholics blame him either. Party canvasses in numerous states had disclosed that women particularly were preponderantly opposed to the President on this score.

All thru 1941 when he was occupying Iceland, convoying British arms cargoes, ordering American warships to shoot German submarines on sight and lend-leasing, which one of his foremost supporters, Publisher Sulzberger of the New York Times, frankly called an act of war—all this time Mr. Roosevelt posed as a keeper of his pledge. It was not going to be necessary to send American boys to war. Prime Minister Churchill backed him up with the assurance: "You furnish the tools, we'll finish the job."

Policy Brought War.

At the same time, while appeasing the Japs with oil and scrap iron, the President was pursuing a policy bound to result in war in the Pacific. He could have avoided war by compromising with Japan on China and he did consider such compromise with the Japanese envoys till British Ambassador Halifax and the Chinese ambassador, hearing of it, rushed to the White House and talked him out of it. Then without preparing for defense or even ordering an alert against attack at Pearl Harbor Mr. Roosevelt served on Japan the secret ultimatum of Nov. '26 which Japan promptly answered with war. The American people knew nothing of this ultimatum till after Pearl Harbor, the greatest military disaster in American history.

Pearl Harbor, which Mrs. Roosevelt says came as no surprise at the White House, touched off declarations of war by Hitler and Mussolini, which was no surprise either, for it was so provided in the axis pact. The grand result of the President's policy was the violation not only of his Boston pledge but of the first rule of statecraft: not to involve your country in a war on two fronts at the same time.

Alliance to Reds.

The particular reason for the opposition of the Catholics was the alliance of the Roosevelt administration with the Communists and visions of Browder, whom Mr. Roosevelt freed from the penitentiary, and Hillman, chairman of the communist controled American Labor party, establishing a totalitarian form of government during a fourth term. The Catholics are long standing foes of communism and its atheistic tenets and have long suffered from Communist Russia's warfare on their church.

It had been well known for weeks that Catholic Democrats were antagonistic to the fourth term and the President had been raising heaven and earth to get them back on the party reservation. He sought in every way conceivable to get prominent Catholic laymen and members of the Catholic hierarchy to indorse his candidacy but all in vain. In the course of these efforts he called to the White House Joseph P. Kennedy of Boston, former ambassador to Great Britain and a Catholic of powerful influence. But he also refused to lend a hand in stemming the bolt of the Catholic Democrats.

Dewey Best Man for World Peace Table, Says Rep. Judd

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5 (AP).—President Roosevelt saw the danger of the Japanese situation in 1937 when he made his international quarantine speech in Chicago but "would not risk his political career to drive it home to the people," Rep. Judd [R., Minn.] asserted in a radio address tonight.

The former medical missionary to China spoke in support of the candidacy of Gov. Dewey for President.

Asserting there is a "profound distrust of Mr. Roosevelt in congress, in both parties," Judd said he believed Dewey would stand a "far better chance" of negotiating "with our allies a sound and workable peace."

He Studies Candidate.

He said Dewey was not his first choice for the Republican nomination, but that he had made it his business to find out about the candidate and that his study had convinced him that winning the war, getting the nation's economy on a sound basis after the war, and working out the peace "can be accomplished better and more surely under Mr. Dewey's leadership than under any other leadership that is available to us in this election."

Judd said no one could have better described conditions than President Roosevelt when he said in his quarantine speech in October, 1937, that "lawlessness in international relations was reaching epidemic proportions and that we had but two alternatives:

"Either to stand together with like minded, peace loving peoples and quarantine these lawless elements, or to allow them to spread and let each nation try to quarantine itself with its own armaments."

Found Views Unpopular.

Judd said the President was right, but what he said was politically unpopular.

"People of all parties called him an alarmist. And instead of repeating his warnings again and again while Japan was still relatively unprepared, he did not speak plainly again until three and one-half years later—in March of 1941, after congress already had passed the lend-lease act and the die was cast.

"Some statesmen didn't see. That was bad enough. But Mr. Roosevelt did see. However, because what he saw was unpopular, he would not risk his political career to drive it home to the people."

Judd said that if the President had told the people in 1937 they faced one of the greatest crises in history "he would have risked and perhaps lost his political career, but he might have saved his country."

DEMOCRATS MIX JIVE AND BIBLE IN 1ST WARD RALLY

Open with Boogie-Woogie and Risque Joke.

BY GAYLE WARNOCK.

First ward Democrats, attracted to their headquarters at 2320 Michigan av. by Committeeman Fred M. Morelli, one of the new recognized lights of the Kelly machine, and a floor show provided by a loop night club, held their final rally yesterday—a rally that ended in all the spirit of an old-time revival.

A mixed audience of more than 500 persons crowded the rathskeller, where a Negro trio gave out a pre-meeting program of boogie-woogie that set the tempo for a Sunday afternoon jam session, with Nominees Lucas, for United States senator; Courtney, for governor, and others beating the drums.

Tells Off Color Joke.

The show opened with Eddie Garr, night club mimic, giving his imitation of Roosevelt and of a drunk and telling an off color joke involving Mrs. Dewey. A singer, introduced as "Randolph Street's Frank Sinatra—with Meat," sang two songs and then Morelli was presented to the crowd.

Morelli was introduced as the man to whom citizens of the 1st ward should be grateful for putting "shoes on their feet and food on their tables."

"If you need hospitalization or if you need burial, you have only to ask Fred Morelli for it," said the ward member who presented him.

Morelli introduced Lucas, who warned the voters not to be disheartened by the straw polls taken by the newspapers, said Dewey would have received more votes if he had never made a speech, and asserted he was for peace, "but you'll never get it if my opponent and his ilk go to the United States senate."

Courtney Assails Green.

Courtney, the next speaker, called Gov. Green a "do-nothing governor," and predicted that only 30 per cent of the Illinois service men would vote in tomorrow's election. Nevertheless, he predicted a Roosevelt landslide in Illinois and said, "It will be a great contribution to the allied world to give the President the greatest majority he has ever received."

Judge Mason Sullivan, who followed, promised the audience that "with Courtney as governor, the soldiers will be permitted to vote the next time." Judge Victor Kula and Samuel Heller, and Rep. Dan Flanigan were heard then, but it remained for Judge Edward Luzcak to set the stage for the revival.

"I say to the Lord, the One whom we worship, for heaven's sake don't go over to the other side next Tuesday," said Luzcak.

Calls on Heavenly Powers.

Taking this cue, State Rep. Corneal Davis, Negro, spoke briefly of the rapid strides the Negro had made under the New Deal, told his followers, "They [the Republicans] can't sell us Lincoln—he's dead and we know he's dead," and then reminded the crowd that he always liked to refer to the Bible.

To the shouts of "Amen" and "That's right" and "You said it," Rep. Davis called upon "the heavenly powers to guide the hands holding the pencils tomorrow and make sure they make a cross in the right square."

MAGAZINE PICKS DEWEY TO WIN BY LANDSLIDE

364 Electoral Votes Is Predicted.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—A victory for Gov. Dewey by 364 electoral votes to 167 for President Roosevelt was predicted today by Emil Hurja, associate publisher of Pathfinder magazine, after a study of the nation's 28 counties that have been on the winning side of the last 11 Presidential elections.

Emil Hurja.

In addition to the electoral landslide, Heurja predicted that Dewey will have a minimum majority of 2 million popular votes.

Projecting his findings in the 28 counties to the entire nation, Hurja said the figures indicate a 7.1 per cent increase in the Republican national strength, giving Dewey 52 per cent of the popular vote.

New Voters for Dewey.

Two major factors stand out in the study, Hurja said:

1. Voters who did not vote in the 1940 election are three to one for Dewey.

2. The city trend from Roosevelt to Dewey is far more impressive than political observers have noted.

The 28 counties surveyed are situated in 15 states. Hurja said they have cast a composite vote in the last 11 elections which varies proportionately but little from the national total, their variance amounting to only 92 votes of each 10,000 the counties have cast.

Roosevelt Losing Strength.

Accepting the 28 counties as representative of the nation, Hurja conducted a poll in 20 of them and then applied this sampling to a prospective national vote of 50 million.

He found that 16.7 per cent of the 1940 Roosevelt vote had shifted to Dewey, with only 3.1 per cent of the Willkie vote shifting to Mr. Roosevelt.

Two of the counties studied are in Indiana: Vanderberg, of which Evansville is the seat, and Gibson, of which Princeton is the seat. Other counties in the middle west are Decatur, Jasper, Monona, and Palo Alto, in Iowa; Belmont and Ross, in Ohio; Clark, in Kansas, and Brown in South Dakota.

HIT BY CAR, WALKS TO STATION.

Suffering from a possible skull fracture and face lacerations, Herman Hoppe, 42, of 435 S. Clark st., walked into the Central police station last night to report he had been struck by an automobile at Jackson blvd. and Clark st. He was taken to County hospital.

POLL IS UNABLE TO PREDICT WHO WILL WIN IN N. Y.

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—The New York Daily News Presidential poll is unable to predict the winner in Tuesday's election in New York state. The race is virtually a tie. However, the News said, Thomas E. Dewey will carry the civilian vote by 50.9 per cent to President Roosevelt's 49.1 per cent, according to the final weighted figures of the poll. This forecast does not include the soldier vote. The unsampled war ballots can be the decisive factor.

Dewey's slim margin may give him a civilian state-wide plurality of 100,000—if the same percentage of registered civilians cast ballots Tuesday as did in the 1940 election.

The final weighted estimates indicate Dewey will receive an upstate plurality of 630,000 and Roosevelt a 530,000 plurality in New York City.

ASKS LANDLORDS TO GIVE FIGURES ON 'HARDSHIPS'

Landlords are failing to submit accounting figures for the proper representative period in their petitions for rent increases on the ground of "substantial hardship," and this omission is slowing up consideration of their petitions, Marion W. Isbell, director of the Chicago metropolitan area, office of price administration, said yesterday. Under the provision for granting rent increases to relieve substantial hardship, a landlord is required to show his income and expenses for the three year period immediately preceding the maximum rent date, altho in certain special cases a shorter period may be accepted.

IMMENHAUSEN'S AIDS TELL HOW HE WAS CHEATED

Friends of former Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen, Republican nominee for clerk of the Appellate court, issued an appeal yesterday for votes for him on the ground that reëlection as Municipal judge was stolen from him in 1930. The official returns showed his defeat by 2,160 votes and he asked a recount, they said, but after the count was delayed for two years by Democratic influences he abandoned the contest because he had to make a living. Another Republican judge who contested the election with him fought it thru and after four years was successful, the Immenhausen campaign committee said.

YANKS CAPTURE ANCHOR OF JAP LINE ON LEYTE

Take Coast Town; Drive on Ormoc Valley.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Nov. 6 [Monday]—(AP).—The American 24th division yesterday captured Pinamopoan, strategic town on Leyte Island's northwest coast, and immediately turned southward toward the besieged Ormoc sector, which Yank long range artillery began shelling.

Advance units of the division were reported in contact with patrols of the mechanized Japanese reinforcements, which two days ago moved northward along the Ormoc-Pinamopoan highway, under ceaseless aerial assault.

Pinamopoan is the northern terminus of the vital highway running thru the Ormoc valley from Ormoc to the coast.

Gain 14 Miles.

Elements of the 7th division of the 24th corps punched 14 miles northward along the Baybay-Ormoc coastal highway, reaching a point 12 miles south of the last major Japanese escape port, forming the southern jaw of an American pincers.

As the 24th division moved thru Pinamopoan, 155 mm. artillery was brought up, and Japanese positions came under fire of the "Long Toms" for the first time.

The crucial battle for Leyte appeared imminent. All precautions are being taken, the spokesman said, to prepare against any possible Japanese landing attempts on Carigara bay.

Attempt to Break Out.

Infantrymen who reached Baybay after slicing across the island from Abuyog also pushed southward of that coastal town.

Enemy air activities have dwindled, the bulletin added, and "were light and ineffectual."

Japanese reënforcements during the past three days have been sent northward along the Pinamopoan-Ormoc highway, under constant American aerial strafing.

The 24th was supported in the drive on Pinamopoan by the 1st cavalry division of Maj. Verne D. Mudge. Theirs is the job of pushing the Japanese back on Ormoc while the 7th infantry division of Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold presents its threat from Baybay.

Knock Out 167 Planes.

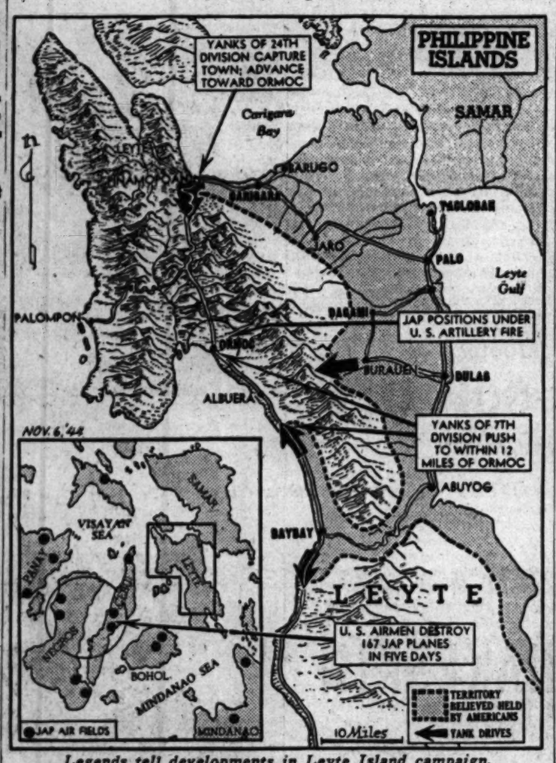
GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Nov. 6 [Monday]—(AP).—American airmen destroyed or damaged 167 planes in five days, blunting the edge of enemy plane attacks on Yank ground troops pressing forward on Leyte Island. They range from Leyte to Cebu and Negros Islands, cratering Japanese air fields and smothering air opposition.

Bomb Jap Transports.

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Nov. 5 (AP).—Liberator bombers on Thursday attacked nine transports and two destroyers at Chichi Island and one large transport at Haha Island, in the Bonin group 600 miles southeast of Tokio, Adm. Nimitz announced today. Results of the raids were not observed.

Yanks Closing Pincers on Japs

(Story in adjoining column.)



Legends tell developments in Leyte Island campaign.

The presence of so many transports—one large, four medium and four small—in Chichi harbor indicates the Japanese are reënforcing their garrison in the heart of the enemy's only remaining sizable outpost in the far western Pacific.

A navy search Liberator and 7th army air force Liberators bombed the Iwo Island air strip Friday, destroying two planes on the ground and probably a third. Six to eight Japanese fighters took the air but did not attack.

Japs Claim U. S. Carrier.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 5.—Tokyo radio reported tonight that Japanese aircraft, attacking two separate American task forces east of the Philippines Saturday, sank one carrier and damaged two. The broadcast, heard by NBC, was unconfirmed from allied sources.

One force, including three carriers and two battleships, was attacked 300 miles east of Lagonoy gulf, southeastern Luzon, in the Philippines, the broadcast reported, asserting that one carrier was sunk and another set afire. Japanese planes hit the second task force northeast of Lagonoy gulf, scoring one hit on a carrier, the report said.

Yank Helps Bomb His Old Home Town in Germany

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—A German born American sergeant went back to his birthplace yesterday, manning the nose gun of a Liberator. Sgt. Walter Cohn had not seen Gelsenkirchen for five years. His father, Siegfried Cohn, escaped from a concentration camp some time ago and went to America, where he lives at 1062 E. 73d pl., Chicago. Young Cohn watched bombs fall on an oil plant he used to pass every day on the way to school. He left Germany in 1929 and became an American citizen.

Nazi 'Scarecrow' Planes Used Against R.A.F. Raid

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—The Germans fired "scarecrow" dummy airplanes that explode with a sheet of flame and dense black smoke, at R. A. F. Lancasters bombing Solingen yesterday, pilots said. "Scarecrows" are intended to give the impression of aircraft blowing up in the air.

ABBOTT HALL TO PHILIPPINES —A LONG TRAIL

BY WALTER SIMMONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD AN LSD EN ROUTE TO THE PHILIPPINES, Nov. 5.—The muscular young men who march to Abbott hall, the United States naval reserve midshipmen's school on the Chicago campus of Northwestern university, are inspiring war time sights to Chicagoans. Month by month they swing along to their classes. When they finish their training and receive their commissions they are seen no more. What happens to them?

Well, consider the case of Ensign Don Bulat, 2033 S. 25th av., Broadview, Ill. Not many months ago he was one of the husky officer candidates. Now he is second to the executive officer of this landing ship, dock. Yes; a new vessel that carries small ships in its belly just as an LST carries tanks.

Sees His Ship Launched.

Bulat finished at Abbott hall last St. Patrick's day and after 10 days' leave he reported to Newport, R. I., for assignment. He was ordered to duty on this LSD and reported at Newport News, Va., on April 11, just in time to see it launched. While the ship was being fitted Bulat attended fire fighters' school, practiced gunnery, and spent some time aboard the training ship Wyoming, which used to be a battlewagon. On June 3 he saw the LSD commissioned.

After a shakedown trip, the ship headed thru the Panama canal toward Pearl Harbor. Its captain was Lt. Comdr. F. E. Strumm, Upper Darby, Pa. The ship called at the Marshalls and the Admiralties, then took part in the first Philippine landing. On Oct. 2 it crossed the equator, and veterans shaved Bulat's head and dunked him in a tank, an old custom.

Vessel on Second Run.

Now the ship is making its second run to the Philippines, carrying numerous smaller craft, hundreds of troops, and more than $5,000,000 in Filipino currency.

Two other Illinois men are among the ship's officers. They are Lt. [j. g.] George H. Ingham, Clinton, and Lt. William R. Davenport, Arthur.

The crew includes 10 Chicagoans: Seamen 1/C Paul Graham, 835 E. 63d pl., and Walter Johnstone, 5202 Carmen av.; W. T. 1/C Frank Cary, 6109 S. California av.; Machinist Mates 2/C Alfred Pulaski, 4151 N. Richmond st., and Joseph Revner, 3509 Melrose st.; M. M. 3/C Charles Holgie, 7933 S. Elizabeth st.; Ph. M. 2/C Charles Kramer, 3750 N. Lowell av.; C. M. 3/C Edward Szmynanski; E. M. 3/C George Ware, 702 Dickens st., and M. S. 2/C George Wolff Jr., 4433 N. Mango av.

Tear Gas Charge Halts South Africa Race Riot

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Nov. 5 (AP).—Policemen charged rioters with tear gas today and many fighters were hospitalized when Europeans and natives clashed in Johannesburg. Policemen said the trouble began when a native was knocked down accidentally. Natives stoned vehicles and the Europeans attacked the office of a native newspaper.

8 CARRIER PILOTS FIGHT 60 JAPS; SHOOT DOWN 26

Save 2 Warships, Lose 1 Plane and Eyebrow.

ABOARD A CARRIER WITH THE 3D FLEET, Oct. 30 [Delayed]—(AP).—Eight American pilots attacked 60 to 75 Japanese planes, saved two crippled American warships during the battle off Formosa early in October, and routed the enemy formation after shooting down 26.

Outnumbered about nine to one, the Americans lost one plane. The pilot, Ensign Robert B. Williams, 20, Los Angeles, was rescued and was found to have suffered only a singed eyebrow. The fight created three new Yank aces, one of them being Ensign Robert Murray, Muncie, Ind., who downed four.

The eight navy pilots, all from this flattop of the 3d fleet's fast carrier line force, saw the enemy planes speeding toward two American medium warships being towed from the scene of the Formosa strike by a light escort.

There were all types of Japanese planes, both fighters and bombers.

Ace Tells of Battle.

One of the new aces, Lt. Alfred Fecke, 26, Duxbury, Mass., a former University of New Hampshire football player, led the attack.

"It was 1:30 p. m. and the two crippled medium American warships were being towed at four knots," he said today.

"Behind them for 40 miles stretched a great oil slick, an easy trail for Japanese planes to follow.

"The Japs were from 8 to 15 miles away and we moved toward them, at about 10,000 feet altitude.

"The Japs were at 8,000 to 10,000 feet, with fighters above and slightly ahead of their bombers.

"Four of us headed for the Jap fighters and four went below to hit the bombers.

Attack Disorganizes Japs.

"The attack was so violent the Japanese became disorganized and some groups scattered. Within two or three minutes our four planes had gone thru the enemy fighters and wheeled around to dive on the bombers from the rear. The bombers, meanwhile, had gone below cloud cover."

Fecke and his three companions came thru the clouds to find a wild melee. Japanese planes were smoking, flaming and dropping into the sea. A group of Americans headed by Lt. Max G. Barnes, Olympia, Wash., had hit the bombers with a vengeance.

The Japanese fighters dived and reengaged the Americans. Two chased a plane into a cloud and lost it. An American torpedo bomber on patrol was on the other side of the cloud. The pilot, Ensign R. J. Maghan, Brainerd, Minn., got behind a Jap plane, followed it 12 minutes, and then sent it down in flames.

Besides the 26 planes the pilots of this carrier shot down, an air group from another carrier was reported to have shot down nine bombers from the same flight.

ITALIANS TELL NAZI TACTICS: FIGHT OR STARVE

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 5TH ARMY IN ITALY, Nov. 5.—Italian prisoners of war captured in the last 24 hours by American infantry patrols told of drastic measures the German high command was employing to strengthen its line facing the 5th army.

Some of the prisoners, clad in motley garb that apparently is a combination of Italian and German uniforms, said that up to a few weeks ago most of them were working in Germany on fortifications or in defense industries as members of labor battalions forcibly organized by the Germans. Other prisoners said they had been confined in German internment camps.

A Swap: Food for Fight.

"We were given no clothing and so little food that we nearly starved," one prisoner said. "Then army officials came to us and explained we would be better fed and clothed if we agreed to return to Italy and fight the Americans."

The Italians said they were rushed south by troop trains, armed but given no training, and then put into position to hold a valley line facing the western sector of the 5th army.

The Italian units were flanked on both sides by German forces and other German units were placed in positions behind them. German soldiers were distributed within the Italian units, too, to enforce discipline.

Germans Aid in Attacks.

The prisoners said that whenever the German command called for an attack upon a 5th army position in front of them, the German units behind them moved into the line to help.

Despite a close watch by the Germans, the Italians are managing to desert in large numbers, the prisoners said.

Salonika's 60,000 Jews Reduced to 200 by Nazis

SALONIKA, Greece, Nov. 5 (AP).—Salonika's 60,000 Jews have vanished almost completely. The number remaining is estimated at less than 200. The Germans used special troops to fight the extermination battle against the Jews.

NEGRO TROOPS IN ITALY FIGHT NAZIS FOR HILL

ROME, Nov. 5 (AP).—Activity on the Italian battle front was confined mainly to patrol operations, allied headquarters said today, altho both American 5th army and British 8th army troops made minor improvements in their positions. The weather over the entire front cleared somewhat after several weeks of heavy rains but mud and flooded streams still hampered operations.

Negro troops of the American 5th army in the central sector moved up on a 1,000 foot hill where the Germans are using a church as a strongpoint.

British troops on the Adriatic sector strengthened their positions, altho forward elements were under constant German artillery fire. The British gained control of the southern end of the Forli air fields in a 500 yard advance.

JAPS CONVERGE ON RAIL CITY IN KWANGSI DRIVE

Move on Liuchow from 3 Directions.

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 5 (AP).—Japanese pressing their south China offensive converged on the Kwangsi province railway city of Liuchow from three directions today with the nearest column only 45 miles away on the southeast.

The Chinese still held the Japanese back at Kweilin, 95 miles to the northeast, where the enemy had fought into the eastern, western and northern suburbs.

With the complete destruction of the big air base near Kweilin that city lost its military importance, but Liuchow was a strategic prize, since it controls all the main railways in Kwangsi province.

Admit Loss of Yungfu.

The Chinese high command admitted that the Japanese stormed into Yungfu, 30 miles southwest of Kweilin, and sent a by-passing column 12 miles farther south along the Hunan-Kwangsi railway to within 53 miles of Luichow.

Japanese forces, seizing Laipo, 75 miles northwest of Liuchow, fought on west to within four miles of Hsiujen, 47 miles from the railway city. Savage fighting was raging on this sector, the Chinese said.

Overrun River Town.

Another Japanese column, advancing 16 miles, fought into the suburbs of the railway town of Mosun, 45 miles southeast of Liuchow.

An independent Japanese drive in southern Kwangsi province, developing along the west river, was intercepted after it had overrun the river port town of Kweinsien, 90 miles southeast of Liuchow.

The Japanese here may be trying to push on 100 miles to the former provincial capital of Nanning and link with forces in Indo-China 80 miles west of Nanning.

NAVY TRIPLETS WIN ATTENTION HERE ON TRIP

Three little blue eyed blondes were the center of attraction yesterday at the La Salle street station. They are the 7 month old triplet daughters of Mrs. John C. Stewart, wife of a navy man, who was traveling across the country with the babies, two suitcases, and 18 bottles. One suitcase contained diapers only, she said.

The family is en route to Portland, Me., from San Diego, Cal., where it will live with Mrs. Stewart's mother while the husband and father is overseas. The father, a machinist's mate 3d class, has not seen his triplet daughters for two months. He was transferred from San Diego to the east coast, but Mrs. Stewart remained until the babies were old enough to travel. The triplets were the first to be born in Navy hospital at San Diego, the mother said.

Mrs. Stewart will be met in Boston by her mother, Mrs. S. M. Stein, 11 Cushman st., Portland, who has never seen her triplet granddaughters, Mary Pamela, and Dale.

Further War Is Useless, Says Pacifist British Duke

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Britain's pacifist duke of Bedford has issued a pamphlet which claims that "any further sacrifices in life which the continuation of the war will entail will be from every point of view utterly and completely useless. At the end of the war the principal victor will be the atheistic totalitarian government of soviet Russia, which in two continents will be endowed with that absolute power which corrupts absolutely." The Communistic London Daily Worker discovered the duke's literary effort.

CHIANG'S OWN STATEMENT ON STILWELL CASE

U. S.-China Prospects 'Now Excellent.'

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, in his first statement for publication on the withdrawal of Gen. Joseph Stilwell from the China-Burma-India theater, said in a message to the Associated Press that the "prospects of effective and close Chinese-American military, political, and economic coöperation are now excellent."

Sent by radio from Chungking, China, and addressed to Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, the generalissimo's message was received at the New York office of the A. P. yesterday. Its text follows:

"Telegram dated Nov. 1 received Nov. 3. Thank you for expression of interest in this situation. According to press reports received here President Roosevelt has already given adequate explanation Gen. Stilwell's transfer to which I have nothing to add. Prospects effective and close Chinese-American military, political, and economic coöperation now excellent."

"Chiang Kai-shek."

Answers Direct Query.

The generalissimo's statement was in response to a direct request for his views on the Stilwell case and other elements of the China situation, following public discussion of the American general's withdrawal and the publication of stories detailing the background of Chinese-American relations.

Chiang's position that President Roosevelt "has already given adequate explanation" of the reasons for Gen. Stilwell's transfer referred to the President's statement that it was due to a clash of personalities between the general and the generalissimo, and that it had no connection with matters of strategy or policy in China. Mr. Roosevelt's comment was made at a White House news conference last Tuesday.

"Additionally," Mr. Cooper's message to Chiang said, "the President referred to stories written by newspaper men serving as correspondents in the China-Burma-India theater, these stories purporting to set forth conditions and arrangements respecting China's part in the war and referring particularly to your government's attitude as respects the organization and activities of Chinese Communists.

Ignores Communist Issue.

"In view of these public statements and stories I ask and earnestly hope that you will give me for publication thru the Associated Press your personal statement on the Stilwell case and any comment you deem desirable on other matters under public discussion, since I believe your views carry the deepest public interest everywhere and will serve to present the situation affecting China in the clearest possible light."

The Generalissimo's personal statement did not refer to the Communist situation, which Foreign Minister T. V. Soong, on Friday told correspondents was an internal problem of China and respected as such by the United States.

YANKS BLOW UP KWEILIN BASE AS JAPS APPROACH

KWEILIN, China, Oct. 28 [Delayed]—(AP).—The principal advanced base for United States air power in the orient blew up tonight in a series of mighty explosions, touched off by Americans pulling out of Kweilin ahead of the oncoming Japanese.

Lt. Irwin J. Hesley.

Brig. Gen. Clinton D. Vincent, commander of the 14th air force's eastern composite wing, gave the order to set the fuses after a fighter pilot reported 2,000 Japanese cavalrymen were bearing down on this city 15 miles to the east.

Except for the last minute delivery of arms to the Chinese at Kweilin, and occasional staging of emergency landings for fighters and bombers, Yangtang air field near Kweilin had been unused since mid-September. Buried in the field were 218 tons of bombs, ready for the demolition work.

Prepared Last Month.

These preparations had been made since the night of Sept. 16, when secondary installations of the base—runways, taxiways, dumps, and buildings at Ehrtang and Lichiachen and the adjacent fighter strip at Yangtang—were destroyed.

The code word "marblehead"—the signal to demolish the field—was received in the communications cave overlooking the Yangtang strip. Vincent had chosen it in casual conversation with Col. Aldon Kenerson, district engineer. It is the name of Kenerson's home town, Marblehead, Mass.

Kenerson and Col. Richard H. Wise, Princeton, N. J., sector commander in the air service command, were in charge of the destruction.

The last transport plane to leave Yangtang carried Capt. Gerald James McAllister, wing public relations officer, Washington, D. C.; John W. Randolph, Birmingham, Ala., OWI correspondent; Tech. Sgt. Harold E. Geer, White Plains, N. Y., combat cameraman; Sgt. Selig Soidlir, Jamaica, N. Y., combat cameraman, and Clyde A. Farnsworth, Associated Press correspondent.

Take to Jeeps.

The plane was piloted by Lt. Irwin J. Hesley of Riverside, Ill., and Tech. Sgt. James Totten, Olney, Ill., was its engineer.

The most pressing concern of the "bitter enders," as they called themselves, was to destroy the place without destroying themselves. Since there was no chance of aerial rescue with the field blown, they had to hit the road in jeeps. Each jeep had three men armed with rifles, carbines, brenguns, tommy-guns, and pistols.

The bombs let go one after another over a space of 10 minutes.

NAVIGATED MISSISSIPPI.

Lt. Hesley's adventurous spirit revealed itself five years ago when he, his younger brother, Robert, and another youth, Allen Jones, journeyed down the Mississippi river to New Orleans in a 17 foot cabin cruiser which they built themselves. The flyer's father, Irwin Sr., said yesterday the boat, which was shipped back from Louisiana, is stored at the Hesley home, awaiting its owners' return. Robert, a seaman 1st class in the Coast Guard, is in the Southwest Pacific.

HISTORIC FIFTH FIELD ARTILLERY IS AMONG FIRST INTO GERMANY

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY IN GERMANY, Nov. 5.—Tracing its history back as far as any United States army unit, the 5th field artillery battalion was revealed today to have been one of the first American units to see action inside Germany. The battalion's story goes back to Mar. 1, 1776, when a young colonial captain named Alexander Hamilton formed Battery D, 5th field artillery.

It fired its guns in defense of United States soil for the first time on July 12, 1776, from Fort George, New York, now the Battery. At the end of the revolution the battery was stationed at West Point and for a time was the only fighting force the infant republic had under arms.

In the last war the same unit participated in the Cantigny offensive as well as Soissons and the Meuse-Argonne. Its guns also blasted away in the Indian campaigns, the War of 1812, the Mexican war, and the Civil war.

Meet the Roosevelts IN THE NOVEMBER Ladies' Home JOURNAL HOW AMERICA LIVES

Meet the Deweys IN THE NOVEMBER Ladies' Home JOURNAL HOW AMERICA LIVES

AUTHORITIES predict that women will cast 65% of the votes on November 7th. Many will go to the polls as women like to go, feeling that they not only know the abstract platforms and issues involved but that they actually know their candidates as intimately and personally as they know their next-door neighbors. Reason — the November Journal, out October 27th, sets one more important precedent: It features the nation's two spotlighted families as the subjects of HOW AMERICA LIVES.

How the Roosevelts and Deweys live their personal lives — what gives them a bang — and where the shoe pinches. What the President likes for dinner — which of the Deweys made more money when they started housekeeping. Who writes letters for the Roosevelt family — who puts the Dewey boys to bed when the Governor's entertaining. How Mrs. Roosevelt really feels about the Eleanor jokes and criticism.

Only in America could this same warm familiar HOW AMERICA LIVES technique be applied to our first families as to any other. And only in the Journal can women find the understanding of their minds and needs and interests that makes such constant, creative innovations possible.

TANKS, PLANES JOIN FIGHT FOR GERMAN VILLAGE

Doughboys Given Aid by 40 Dive Bombers.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

WITH THE U. S. 1ST ARMY IN GERMANY, Nov. 5.—The seesaw battle for the German town of Schmidt continued today. Lt. Gen. Hodges' tanks and tank destroyers joined the battle to support 1st army infantry. The doughboys were forced to withdraw from the village yesterday morning in the face of German counter-attacks after holding it thru the preceding night.

Clear weather brought 40 American dive bombers attacking numerous targets in the Schmidt area, including German tanks and armored vehicles as well as Nazi rail and highway communications along the front west of the Rhine river. Lightnings and Thunderbolts poured bombs upon Schmidt and adjacent villages, leaving them flaming, with columns of smoke rearing against the sky.

Use Crack Panzer Troops.

Other 1st army troops fighting eastward thru the Hurtgen forest held firm or made small advances as the main battle around Schmidt neared a climax. The Nazis are using crack panzer [armored force] troops in an attempt to stave off the American advance toward the town.

Americans swinging toward German positions south of Germeter succeeded partially in enveloping a small pocket of Germans northwest of Schmidt, but some of these managed to battle their way out of the trap. The full day's advance in this sector was 300 yards against pillboxes, mines, barbed wire, and machine gun emplacements.

Farther north near Hurtgen other units held their ground despite several small scale enemy counterblows. German tanks were seen gathering for an assault and dive bombers already en route to Schmidt were redirected to bomb and strafe this column.

Get Help from Engineers.

The movement of American armor and mobile artillery, including tank destroyers, over the narrow winding forest roads, slippery and rutted from recent rains, is a tribute to 1st army engineers. It was apparent after the enemy moved tanks into Schmidt that the support of American armor was essential to infantry in retaking the town.

In the area southwest of the town, near Streckenborn, dive bombers surprised about a dozen German tanks, which were bombed and strafed. The town of Kommerscheidt, northeast of Schmidt, also was bombed and pilots reported a dozen armored vehicles east of the battle area, 10 of which were destroyed along with 16 armored trucks headed south toward Schmidt.

NEW ACTION IN ARNHEM

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—Field Marshal Bernard L. Montgomery launched a new assault today near Arnhem—scene of the British air borne division's stand—and dropped "sabotage parachutists" behind the vital Arnhem bridge, Berlin radio said tonight.

This unconfirmed report came as two allied armies pushed up to the Maas [Meuse] river to the southwest on a 40 mile front, reaching the river at two points, and virtually ending the battle to clear Antwerp harbor.

Only two isolated pockets of Nazis remained on Walcheren Island, and all big guns there were silenced. Except for minesweeping, the water route to Antwerp had been opened.

Polish vanguards of the Canadian 1st army struck to the river taking Geertruidenberg, a main crossing point. Fifteen miles to the east, a British army advance behind flamethrowing tanks had crushed the last strong German pocket, and drove to the Maas at Heusden, taking that river town.

Menace Moerdijk Bridge.

Seizing village after village, Canadian, American, and British troops under Canadian army command were slogging up to the Maas on a 25 mile sector from Geertruidenberg westward to Moerdijk and Willemstad and beyond. Allied troops were reported within half a mile or less of Moerdijk, a main crossing which was seized by German parachutists in the lowlands invasion of 1940.

On Walcheren Island the allies had completely won Vlissingen [Flushing]. Scots drew a net tighter on one last German pocket at the city of Middelburg, reaching its outskirts. Other allied forces closed in on Germans isolated northeast of Domberg.

Supreme headquarters disclosed that the British marine landing at Westkapelle on Walcheren had been one of the costliest attacks on the western front, with severe losses in personnel, landing craft, and support craft due to pointblank fire of big German coastal batteries.

Tholen Island, northeast of Walcheren, has been in Canadian hands for four days, a field dispatch disclosed.

Push Close to Meijel.

In the southeastern corner of Holland, British-American troops edged closer to the enemy fortress town of Meijel, 12 miles from the important German-Dutch border city of Venlo.

To the south in France, 7th army troops made slight gains in the Luneville sector northeast of Manonviller. Berlin said Americans had increased pressure west of St. Die, 45 miles southeast of Nancy, with heavy fighting in progress.

R. A. F. fighters and fighter-bombers struck hard at the German holdout garrison at Dunkerque, hitting ammunition dumps, farm houses, and slit trenches with 1,000 pound bombs.

Under Heavy Air Support.

Berlin said Montgomery's forces attacked the Germans' Arnhem bridgehead under heavy aerial support. The broadcast claimed that all the parachutists that dropped to disrupt German communications had been killed or captured.

The United States 3d army, lashing out on a long dormant sector 100 miles south of Aachen, knocked the Germans from Berg, 8 miles northeast of Thionville, and near the juncture of the French, German, and Luxemburg borders.

New developments reported yesterday in war in western Europe.

5 INDUSTRIAL CITIES IN GERMANY BOMBED BY ALLIED AIR FLEETS

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—Five German industrial cities were bombed today by 2,500 United States and British heavies whose fighter escort found the enemy refusing combat for the second straight day. However, anti-aircraft fire was heavy and 30 bombers and 23 fighters were missing. Some of them may have landed on friendly soil.

Frankfurt, Ludwigshaven, and Karlsruhe, with their railway yards and supply depots feeding the southern sector of the Siegfried line facing the United States 3d army, were attacked with 3,500 tons of bombs by 1,200 Liberators and Fortresses.

R. A. F. Lancasters hammered the industrial city of Solingen, south of the Ruhr, for the second day, while 900 United States heavyweights from Italy struck military targets of Vienna.

Another force of R. A. F. planes blew to bits a torpedo factory at Utrecht, coming over after the Dutch workers had gone off duty.

Bochum, coal and iron center in the Ruhr, was hit by 1,000 planes, whose bombs last night left raging fires visible for more than 50 miles.

FRENCH TO GIVE PLAN FOR RUHR AND RHINELAND

(By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, Nov. 5.—The French plan for the Rhineland and the Ruhr is military occupation to be followed by international ownership and control of industries in that key coal, steel, and chemical producing region, it was explained authoritatively here today.

It was thought that this plan might be discussed during the forthcoming visit to Paris of British Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. It is reported the conversations will touch upon the project to form a western European group of nations linked by economic and military agreements.

The French scheme, already submitted to the British who are said to have shown a disposition to favor it, involves distribution of stocks and bonds of these key German industries among nationals of the allied nations in the form of a consortium. It is assumed here that Washington would not look with an unfriendly eye upon the French plan.

YANK FLYERS SMASH ANOTHER DAM IN GERMANY

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Nov. 5 (AP).—American fighter bombers which made their debut as dam busters less than one month ago, cracked down on another of Germany's artificial lakes today by destroying the hydro-electric dam at Ederstau lake near Fritzlar, 16 miles southeast of Kassel.

The job was done by Lightnings in a group commanded by Col. Howard F. Nichols of Grand Rapids, Mich., which were scheduled to hit another target. That assignment was obscured by clouds. The pilots then saw barrage balloons protecting the dam. They shot down the balloons and scored 10 hits on the dam and a powerhouse with 1,000 pound bombs.

COLOGNE 80 PCT. RAZED BY BOMBS GERMAN SAYS

SOMEWHERE IN HOLLAND, Nov. 5 (AP).—A German traveler who left Cologne two weeks ago said today he believed the Rhine industrial city had been about 80 per cent destroyed by allied bombs. An army air corps officer said 11,500 more tons of bombs had been dumped on the city since the German was there. The traveler said that about half of the city's normal population of more than 700,000 had been evacuated and that most persons remaining were foreign workers forced to remain on the job.

BRITONS CHEER AS GUNS DOWN FLYING BOMBS

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—London had a flying bomb alert last night, the first since early last Tuesday when two warnings were sounded. Residents of one east coast town gathered in the streets and cheered and counted as gunners knocked flying bombs into the sea. A fighter plane shot down another robot caught in the glare of searchlight batteries. One bomb exploded in southern England and damaged several houses.

LOST BATTALION SURVIVORS TELL OF 7 DAY BATTLE

Trees Felled with Pocket Knives for Cover.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

WITH A U. S. INFANTRY DIVISION, in the Vosges Mountains, Nov. 1 [Delayed].—Survivors today told more details of the fight of the "lost battalion" which was rescued yesterday after it had been cut off from other American forces for more than seven days and without food for five days.

Doughboys who fought thru the German encirclement ring saved 270 of the battalion, which was caught on a hill at noon on Oct. 23.

[A dispatch from headquarters of the 9th United States army air force in France said the incident took place in the Demanaile de Champ forest, seven miles southeast of St. Die and that the troops were isolated at a distance of more than 2,000 yards from the main 7th army force.]

Halted by Road Block.

The Germans had established a powerful road block. Lt. Martin J. Higgins, who was in command on the hill, sent out patrols, but they could not penetrate the block. Some men were lost to anti-personnel mines.

On Oct. 25 the men had been without food for 36 hours. The only water available was from a mud puddle and there were not enough halazone [chemical] tablets to purify it for drinking.

That day Higgins sent a 48 man combat patrol against the enemy and also to contact an American force trying to bring in rations.

A few Americans were killed and wounded in small arms battles which were going on day and night. Eight American tanks tried to crack the road block, but could not make it.

Only Five of Patrol Returns.

Of the 48 man patrol, only five returned on Oct. 26, reporting that the others had been killed or captured. Higgins was directed by radio to move to the west for contact with an American battalion trying to get thru. But the attempt was unsuccessful, because enemy infantry and minefields blocked the Americans in every direction.

Higgins returned to his original position and the men dug in deeper in an area 500 yards in diameter. Enemy shells were hitting the trees and the Yanks didn't have enough foxholes or top cover. The trees therefore had to be felled for added cover. Axes could not be used to fell the trees, because that would give away the Yanks' exact positions. So the men used pocket knives to cut down the pines.

Trunks Lowered Carefully.

Fortunately the pines were only about six inches in diameter and not too tough. After the trees were cut, the trunks had to be lowered carefully and silently. Lt. Gordon Nelson of Dedham, Mass., wrapped part of a trunk in a blanket before letting it drop.

"We did some job on those pines," Higgins chuckled. "If we had been on the hill another week it would have looked as bare as a pool table."

Lt. Erwin Blonder, Cleveland, O., the battalion artillery observer, operated his radio on batteries that were only supposed to last two days. He reported that the batteries were almost played out and that he would be able to transmit only a few minutes every two hours.

On Oct. 27 the enemy shelling continued and German infantry deployed in ever widening circles in an effort to locate and smash the Americans. Yank patrols went out and some of the men did not get back. There were losses on both sides in small arms fights.

The Yanks had not eaten for some 84 hours and the water situation was critical. Trench foot and arthritis cases developed. The wounded further restricted movement of the battalion. Medical supplies were insufficient and ammunition was depleted.

Blonder radioed frantically for supplies and was told that fighter planes would try to drop the stuff. The men laid out bits of underwear and maps in a ground design to make the position apparent from the air.

The weather was bad. Thunderbolts of the 12th tactical air command could not spot the target. One plane hit the trees, and then made a crash landing.

On Oct. 28 the first supplies came in packed in 105 millimeter shells. The base plugs and some of the explosive load of the shells had been removed and a hole 3 inches in diameter and 11 inches long was filled with D ration chocolate or an assortment of morphine, bandages, tape, tourniquets, sulfa tablets, and powder, iodine, aspirin, and halazone purifier.

Planes Add Some Supplies.

The base plugs had been replaced and the shells adjusted for smoke and time fuse. They were fired so that the plug and supply contents were ejected at tree level over the target, with the rest of the shell plowing into the ground. The range was established after experiment, and the shells were able to deliver.

Thunderbolts dropped belly tanks which contained fresh water and parachuted packages of food, cigarets, ammunition, and radio batteries from their wing bomb racks.

"I never was so glad to see anything in my life as I was those planes," Pvt. Myron Dabhert, 5426 Horton av., Chicago, related.

[Another dispatch said two planes and one pilot were lost by the Thunderbolt group which dropped supplies to the men. Among the men who carried the supplies was Capt. Lloyd Wheeler, 129 Akin av., Joliet, Ill.]

Crawl Out Under Fire.

Some of the air freight fell several hundred yards from the hill and infantry men crawled forward under German fire to snatch the precious provisions. Other air freight dropped right in the target area.

"The Joes were just as excited as kids at a Christmas party," Higgins said. "They brought the stuff to the distributing point. Hungry as they were they did not nibble at anything until all of it was assembled. After getting those rations we felt that we could lick the world and knew damn well the entire army was behind us."

The fresh water was kept for the wounded and ill and other soldiers treated the mud puddle with halazone purifier.

Three Americans killed by artillery fire were buried on the hillside with a ceremony and prayers.

On Oct. 29 there were more air deliveries, including blood plasma. To signal more accurately to the pilots, the doughboys attached grenades to the upper tree branches, pulling back the tree and then releasing it so that the grenade shot out with a smoke stream.

Pull Down Red Markers.

Swaths of two red parachutes dropped the day before had caught in the top branches of a tree and it was feared the bright color might give away the location to the Germans. The men had been too weak to climb the pines up to that time, but now, after eating, Pvt. Peter Bondar of Utica, N. Y., and Sgt. James Comstock of Nescopak, Pa., scaled more than 100 feet of the tree's height, retrieved the chutes, and ripped them into small bits for distribution as souvenirs.

There were more shells coming in and more small arms fights.

Some of the enemy tried to prevent American tanks from reaching the mud puddle and other Germans charged to within 30 yards of the defense line.

Lt. Higgins was composing a letter to his wife when the attack opened. "Time out for a while, Marge," he wrote. "I've got work to do."

Ordered to Try Break Out.

In fierce machine gun fire exchanges, one American was killed and others wounded and some 20 Germans were believed to have been killed.

The division commander ordered Higgins to prepare to attack in a break out attempt. Higgins radioed back, "I am not trying to beg off, but the situation here gets worse. We have litter casualties and need bearers. Our efficiency is low. The enemy is active."

At 3:55 p. m. Sgt. Edward Guy of New York City spied the first of the rescue party coming thru the woods and let out a yell of joy. The arrival was from the advance guard which had broken thru the road block from the northwest.

Acclaimed by Division.

American artillery pounded at the German position the rest of the afternoon and thru the night. On the morning of Oct. 31, thru the hole in the road block, the regiment's litter bearers came in and took the wounded down the mountains. Higgins and his other men trudged wearily behind, grinning a little as they received acclaim from the rest of the division.

Higgins, who is 28 years old, was an accountant in civil life. He is proud of the black beard he raised while on the hill and also proud of his men.

"I know you don't care a hoot if the boss knows how you're going to vote. But can't you just keep away from him till this election thing blows over?"

MOSCOW PAPER SEES VICTORY FOR ROOSEVELT

MOSCOW, Nov. 5 (AP).—Izvestia, soviet government newspaper, in an article headlined, "The election of President Roosevelt is guaranteed," said today there was a rumor that Republican interests were plotting a fake assassination attempt against Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to sway American voters.

"One should not forget that history includes a number of such insolent, crude provocations, beginning with a faked document ascribed to Communists, which appear on the eve of parliamentary elections in some democratic countries up to the burning of the Reichstag in Germany," said Izvestia.

Big Vote Indicated.

In an unsigned article two columns long at the top of its third page, the paper declared: "Never before in the history of the United States have observers on the eve of a Presidential election been so sure of the results as they are now because so clear is the composition of forces supporting each of the two candidates. . . . The chances of the second candidate, Dewey, have been melting before one's eyes."

Izvestia said Republican hopes were dashed when preliminary data indicated the number of voters this year would at least equal the 50,000,000 in 1940.

Cites Newspaper Opposition.

"The Hearst newspapers and the publications of McCormick, Patterson, and Gannett carried on a campaign for Dewey and simultaneously this campaign was converted into a defeatist, even a pro-Hitlerite agitation," Izvestia asserted. "The support of these newspapers betrayed Dewey. Obviously his shattered position induced Dewey to resort to the old method of uttermost reaction—'Scare people with the Communist danger.'"

"This hopeless attempt by the Republican party is made to cover with scarecrow rags their own political nakedness and lack of a positive program to attract voters," the paper continued. "The investment of millions of dollars by Republican headquarters will not bring any political or economic interest."

"Ridiculous," Says Gannett.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP).—Frank Gannett, publisher of the Gannett newspapers, tonight described as "ridiculous and absurd" the political article carried by the soviet newspaper Izvestia.

"Not one of the 21 Gannett newspapers by any stretch of the imagination can be characterized as isolationist," he said. "We who are supporting Gov. Dewey do not need to resort to any such communist conceived plot to sway voters. The fact that the communists of Russia are so deeply interested in his defeat is in itself a powerful argument in his favor."

French Paper for F. D. R.

PARIS, Nov. 5 (AP).—France's leading conservative newspaper, Figaro, said today it favored the election of President Roosevelt and gave as its reason its fear that isolation otherwise might creep back into American policy.

It was the first important French daily to express an opinion altho the French press has given the campaign much attention.

Prices in Non-Rationed Russian Stores Reduced

MOSCOW, Nov. 5 (AP).—Russian commercial stores, whose entire stocks are excluded from rationing controls, reduced prices of all articles 30 per cent today, as the nation prepared to celebrate the 27th anniversary of the Red revolution on Nov. 7. The stores first opened early in 1944, selling commodities at many times the price of those obtained with ration cards.

PERSONAL LOANS NOW AT Low BANK Rates

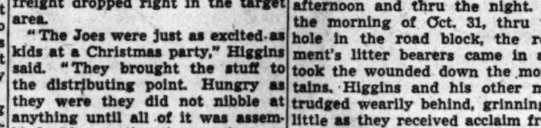
Why pay two to three times Merchandise Bank's low charges?

• Savings shown apply to "signature only" loans repaid in 12 monthly installments, cost to be deducted in advance. You can save even more if you borrow with one co-maker. In either case, you save at least half of usual and lawful Small Loan Charges.

For a 12 mo. $100 LOAN
At Usual Small Loan Rate, You Pay $20.84
At Merchandise Bank You Pay Only 8.00
YOU SAVE $12.84

For a 12 mo. $200 LOAN
At Usual Small Loan Rate, You Pay $39.52
At Merchandise Bank You Pay Only 16.00
YOU SAVE $23.52

Why Pay More THAN THIS LOW COST?



AT USUAL small loan rates—on a loan of $100—you have to make 12 payments of about $10.07 each. Figure it out—that's $120.84—or $20.84 more than you borrowed!

At Merchandise Bank a similar loan will cost you only $5.50 (if you use the popular One Co-Maker Plan), saving you $15.34 on $100 for 1 year. (Can't you use that fifteen dollars?) Or—if you borrow on your signature only, the cost is only $8—and you still save $12.84. In either case the saving amounts to nearly as much as two payments. And you save proportionately on any amount you borrow at Merchandise Bank.

RUSSIANS 2 MI. FROM BUDAPEST HEART, NAZIS SAY

Smash Into City on Two Sides Reported.

LONDON, Nov. 6 [Monday] (AP).—The German radio said today that Russian tank spearheads had crashed thru Budapest's suburbs and reached the southern metropolitan limits, only two miles from the heart of the Hungarian capital.

A broadcast from Bucharest, Romania, said that other soviet troops, racing around the eastern side of the city, had smashed into the capital from the north and also penetrated 12 miles beyond.

Axis Masses in Buda.

Bucharest attributed part of its information to the Hungarian radio. It said German and Hungarian troops were concentrating most of their forces in Buda, the hilly part of Budapest on the western side of the Danube.

[An Associated Press dispatch from Bern, Switzerland, said the Budapest radio had ordered all truck owners to proceed to assigned places, indicating total evacuation of the capital was near.]

Bucharest said the soviet smash into Budapest on the north resulted in the capture of Ujpest rail junction, two miles north of the city limits. Without giving the source of its information, it said the Russians had raced 12 miles beyond Ujpest, apparently striking to within a few miles of the town of Vac.

Hear Natives Turn On Nazis.

Reports by way of Turkey said many Hungarian troops had turned on the Germans inside the city and that three premature explosions on Saturday had destroyed St. Margaret's bridge across the Danube, hurling refugee packed street cars, automobiles and pedestrians into the river.

The Russian army newspaper Red Star said the occupation of Budapest was a foregone conclusion and that the Russian soldier's slogan now was "On to Berlin."

Moscow's bulletin announced only the capture of nine more localities on the approaches to Budapest, including Vosad, Ullo, and Taskony.

Tells of Flight in City.

Telling of chaos in Budapest, the Ankara, Turkey, radio said:

"Hungarians are fleeing in haste and it becomes clear the Hungarian army and people wish to cut away from the Germans. The Germans have been talking of attacks on Germans by Hungarian troops. This situation has compelled the Germans to disarm some Hungarians. Only four divisions have remained faithful."

Moscow's bulletin reported for the third straight day the repulse of large German infantry and tank attacks north and south of Goldap, in German East Prussia. A German broadcast said the Nazis had broken into Goldap and were wiping out the Russians.

The Germans said the Russians had breached Nazi lines north of Vainode, 32 miles east of the Baltic port of Liepaja, Latvia, but that tough fighting localized the breaches.

UNION CALLS OFF STRIKE OF 11,500 IN WAR PLANTS

Toledo, O., Nov. 5 (AP).—Mechanics Educational Society of America officials today ordered all idle members of the independent union to return to their jobs at war plants in Detroit and Toledo and to "restore full production as soon as possible."

George White, MESA national president, and Matthew Smith, national secretary, urged the 4,500 idle unionists in Toledo and the 7,000 to 10,000 striking workers in Detroit to return to work Monday.

The statement was issued after Smith and Earl Streeter, local MESA secretary, had conferred with Maj. Daniel L. Bolin, army labor adviser here.

The strike began Oct. 24 in the Electric Auto-Lite company plant and led to army seizure of eight Toledo concerns yesterday.

Fifty-two plants in the Detroit and Toledo area were affected by the strike called in sympathy with 350 Auto-Lite workers who protested discharge of six fellow unionists.

Leading Mediterranean Ace Is Awarded D.S.C.

ROME, Nov. 5 (AP).—Lt. Col. Herschel Green of Mayfield, Ky., the leading American fighter pilot ace in the Mediterranean, with 18 victories, was awarded the distinguished service cross today for extraordinary heroism during a strafing attack on the Hajdu Boszormeny air field in Hungary Aug. 21. The Legion of Merit was awarded to Sgt. Paul L. Crosson of Templeton, Ind.

JOE E. BROWN'S DAUGHTER INJURED.

Santa Monica, Cal., Nov. 5 (AP).—Mary Brown, 14, daughter of Comedian Joe E. Brown, was reported in critical condition but showing slight improvement today after an automobile accident last night in which she suffered a basal skull fracture. The car in which she rode collided with one driven by Freddie Bartholomew.

IRAN AGITATION SPREADING, SAYS MOSCOW PAPER

MOSCOW, Nov. 5 (AP).—The soviet news agency, Tass, in a dispatch from Tehran, today said agitation was continuing in northern Iran for the ouster of Premier Mohammed Saed. One person was killed and another wounded, it reported, when Iran soldiers fired upon a "peaceful demonstration" against the government at Tabriz last week.

The dispatch was published in all soviet newspapers but there was no further reference in the Russian press to the presence of United States troops in Iran.

Yanks' Rights Questioned.

Izvestia, the official soviet government newspaper, declared yesterday United States troops were in the country without any agreement with Iran.

[Russia has criticised the Saed regime since it announced on Oct. 19 that discussion of oil concessions to the Soviet Union, the United States, and Great Britain would be postponed until after the war. American troops went to Iran to help in furnishing Russia with war supplies by way of the Persian gulf route.]

Tass asserted 30,000 demonstrators at Geshed, near the Caspian sea, demanded Saed's replacement and the "establishment of genuine friendly relations with the soviet union." Similar resolutions were reported adopted at Resht, Pahlevi, and other towns in the Caspian zone.

Iranians to Visit Moscow.

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—A soviet news agency dispatch from Teheran quoted by Reuter, said today that Iran's premier would send a delegation to Moscow next week to discuss the oil dispute. Gen. Yazdan Panah Zand and Homayun Ja, deputy minister for foreign affairs, were named on the delegation, the dispatch said.

GEN. STILWELL WINS PRAISE OF BRITISH JOURNAL

CALCUTTA, India, Nov. 5 (AP).—The British army newspaper Seac today paid high tribute to Gen. Joseph Stilwell, who was recalled to Washington from the China-Burma-India theater, and said Adm. Mountbatten, head of the Southwest Asia command, was the "sorriest man" in the territory to see Stilwell leave.

"All admired Stilwell and many loved that caustic, craggy, tough old bird," the newspaper said.

"Stilwell scorned all who scoffed at talk of a road back to Burma over the mountains beyond Ledo, and history will decide the value of that road, for without it the Japanese still would hold Mogaung and Myitkyina."

Driven from Home

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Rose Mary Dvorak at New City police station yesterday.

Rose Mary Dvorak, 11, of 4509 S. Talman av., shivering from the cold, reported to the police early today that her mother, Mary, had driven her from her home with instructions to find her father, John, 38, an express company employe.

The girl said her father left home about midnight after he had quarreled with her mother.

Policeman William Berglind accompanied the girl home two hours later, and he reported Mrs. Dvorak refused to open the door to them. An hour later the policeman again rapped on Mrs. Dvorak's door and was "told to go away."

The girl was taken to the Juvenile home where she will be cared for until the police determine what action might be taken against Mrs. Dvorak. The child said she did not know why her parents had quarreled.

THE POLICY OF GIVING AWAY AMERICA.

The apprehension expressed in these columns the other day that American interests were likely to be sacrificed at the international air conference was based upon knowledge of Mr. Roosevelt's diplomatic record.

At the Atlantic City conference he had deliberately arranged to have America put up most of the money for European relief while reserving to America only one vote among 43 on the distribution of the fund by UNRRA. At the Bretton Woods conference he had put forward plans for an international bank and an international currency stabilization fund to which the United States would contribute most of the sound money while the borrowers would retain control of the operations. At the Dumbarton Oaks conference he had favored transferring from congress to an international agency the power to declare America at war.

We didn't know the other day just what American rights, privileges, or advantages Mr. Roosevelt was planning to give away at the Chicago conference, but now we do, at least in part. A dispatch published in THE TRIBUNE on Saturday shows they fall under three heads:

At present, one American air line, Pan-American, has concluded arrangements in 60 countries for landing facilities. These arrangements impose no obligations on the United States. The nations concerned have not failed to recognize that the service itself is a great benefit to them. Under Mr. Roosevelt's program for the conference, we should have to give up this advantage, earned by American initiative, and share it with countries which have done nothing to earn it. America is going to provide 80 per cent of the world's air commerce after the war; Mr. Roosevelt proposes that we have a much smaller share of the carrying trade.

A second great advantage at present enjoyed by America in air commerce is our leadership in the design and manufacture of transport planes. Mr. Roosevelt proposes to sacrifice this, too, by the offer to sell our commercial planes at advantageous prices to foreign operators while withholding a comparable offer from Americans.

Finally, America has developed technical apparatus, much of it still secret, for the operation of planes and landing fields. Mr. Roosevelt desires to give away this leadership also, to all comers. To our operators his proposals mean the loss of the competitive advantage of greater safety in American planes. To the army and navy, his proposals mean the giving away to foreign governments of military secrets of great value.

No wonder, then, that there is dissension within the American delegation, and alarm in our army and navy. There is, however, no occasion for astonishment at the course Mr. Roosevelt is following in this matter. It is precisely what was to be expected of him. The only answer he has to any problem of foreign relations is to take something from America and give it away. That is all there is to his Good Neighbor policy; President Wilson got as much out of Latin America in the last war, without scattering hundreds of millions of dollars about, as Mr. Roosevelt got in this one at stupendous cost. It is all there is to his program at the Atlantic City, Bretton Woods, Dumbarton Oaks, and Chicago conferences.

Mr. Roosevelt is promising jobs by the millions to returning soldiers and sailors and displaced war workers, but he wants to give away our leadership in an industry in which many war workers and veterans could find employment. He proposes to keep America at peace by means of an unconstitutional scheme which would make it easier for foreign nations to get our country into war; at the same time, he proposes to give away the great advantage we now enjoy in the manufacture and operation of airplanes, an advantage that would be of inestimable value to us in discouraging any foreign nation from making war upon us or in fighting a war against us.

This is the Roosevelt diplomacy, the diplomacy to give away. For him it means prestige where he values it most, among foreigners, and especially the European aristocracies. He gladly sacrifices American wealth, strength, and independence to buy himself adulation abroad.

It is for this reason, if no other, that Americans who love their country will vote for Mr. Dewey.

ILLINOIS' VETERANS.

When this war is over and the veterans come home to Illinois they will find that their state was not only among the first in her contributions to their support on the battlefields but that it has been farsighted in its preparations for their repatriation and reestablishment in civilian life. Many of the state's 750,000 service men and women already have set their feet on the long road back. They have reason to know that their state has tangible benefits for them as well as counsel that they may need.

Gov. Green anticipated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's Los Angeles declaration that the states and local communities must provide the returned veteran with "prompt and expert counsel as to his rights and opportunities." The state administration already had called the collective intelligence of an unusually able group of men and women to the problem of formulating an effective program of rehabilitation, reemployment, and fair distribution of veterans' benefits. There is now a functioning system of veterans' service offices where the man or woman home from war can be advised about his rights and opportunities.

A booklet issued thru the governor's committee on veterans' rehabilitation and employment gives the veteran clear and intelligible counsel on the complexities of federal service insurance, educational opportunities for discharged men and women, hospitalization, reemployment, pensions, and loans for home, farm, or business, and directs him to the agencies that will be helpful in setting a straight course for him after he has received his certificate of honorable discharge.

"The benefits and services that have been set up for you," the veteran is told, "are yours by right. They are not a gift. They are meant to help take up the slack in your life that was caused by your going to war. You may not need them and if you don't need them, of course, you won't want them." But the veteran is assured that they are there if they are needed and that his state will help him obtain them.

YOUR JOB TOMORROW.

By this morning virtually every voter has decided how he will vote tomorrow. These words, therefore, are addressed to those who have chosen the Republican side.

Vote the straight Republican ticket. Vote it early. That alone is not enough. If you love your country, if you value your rights as an American citizen, if you cherish your religion, whatever it may be, help to get other Republican voters to the polls.

All the forecasts are that this election is going to be the closest one in more than a quarter of a century. Perhaps 30 of the 48 states can be classed as doubtful. Every vote will count, and it is the duty of every supporter of the Republican ticket to see that every vote on his side is cast and counted.

Every ounce of power of the federal machine, the corrupt Democratic metropolitan machines, and the Communists' PAC machine is being used to get the fourth term vote out. The candidate himself has promised to pay war workers, out of the public treasury, for the time they spend going to the polls. Illinois law, and the laws of other industrial states, provide that any employe may take two hours from his job to vote. Mr. Roosevelt apparently believes that that won't be enough to get some of his supporters to the polls. He is offering bribes, from public funds, as usual.

The PAC is offering its followers $15 and 10 gallons of gasoline to work at the polls. Local rationing officials say the gasoline offer is unauthorized and illegal, but that is no reason why Sidney may not get the coupons anyway. Republicans also have gas coupons, the regular "A" coupons, legally issued for civilian use. Use one of them to help win the election. Take your neighbors to the polls. If they have small children, find some one to sit with the children while their mothers vote. Ask your precinct Republican workers for prospects.

This election represents more than a fight to replace a tired, quarrelsome, incompetent national administration with men who are young, capable, and American. It represents more than a fight to free American industry from harassment so it can make post-war jobs, and to save the returning fighters from the vindictive treatment that this administration accorded the veterans of the last war. This election is a crusade to preserve the right of every American to worship God according to his own lights.

Mr. Roosevelt is the political prisoner of the PAC, which is dominated by Communists. If he is reelected, he will owe his reelection to them, and they will collect, at the cost of American freedom. Earl Browder himself says, "We Communists do not distinguish between good and bad religions, because we think they are all bad for the masses." Browder's masters in Russia, in the long course of their religious persecutions, defiled and burned churches and synagogs and murdered rabbis and priests with bestial impartiality as between faiths.

No religion has anything to fear from a Republican administration, pledged to govern under the Constitution which protects religious freedom. Every religion and every religious citizen must look with apprehension upon an administration which even before it was placed in pawn to the Communists devoted 12 years to the attempt to destroy the Constitution and its guarantees of civil and religious rights.

In Chicago and other industrial cities the slot machine Democrats and the PAC have teamed up in a campaign to intimidate voters. The Kelly machine has sent city employes to harass citizens who display Republican posters and work for the Republican ticket. The PAC has assiduously spread the report in factories that it will find out how citizens vote, and that any one who fails to support the fourth term will have trouble with his union. This is a lie.

No one can find out how you vote unless you want to tell him. When you go into a voting booth, you are alone with your conscience, and you should vote as it directs. No one can look at your ballot, or watch you while you mark it, or mark it for you.

There are several legal penalties protecting the secrecy of the ballot. If any one tries to interfere with the secrecy of your ballot, he belongs in jail. Find the Republican representative in your precinct, or report the matter to Republican headquarters in your ward. The Republican party, as well as a number of nonpartisan groups, will have thousands of workers busy tomorrow to see that you can vote as you wish, secretly and without interference by any one.

DIPLOMACY IN DARKNESS.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

So now the United States and Great Britain are resuming diplomatic relations with Italy. In this instance, one can only suspect it means relations in secrecy. When the terms of the Italian armistice are still known only to a few top officials, how could it be otherwise? Why is the armistice secret after all this time? It is hard to conceive how any consideration of military security could enforce such a policy. If not military security, then what is it?

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Ber. U. S. Pat. Office

SLANG OF DOWN UNDER.

[Gleaned from Southwest Pacific, a magazine published by the Australian government.]

"Wouldn't it . . . ?": An all-embracing expression of disgust, which was originally a complete sentence ending in a few unprintable words which the American imagination can easily supply, since it is widely used as a vulgarism in this country. An expert Australian slangster can convey, in this contraction, the complete low-life vocabulary of the English language. To be spoken quietly.

"Cobber": It covers the same range of meaning as the American "buddy."

"Well, it's Sydney or the bush now": Used in any emergency or time of momentous decision that will make or break the speaker. It originated in the times when Sydney was almost the only civilized spot on the Australian map.

"I'm stiff as a crutch": The speaker is dead broke.

"Ringer": Originally a champion sheep shearer. Now applied to any champion.

"Rough as bags": It may mean anything from a crude and unmannerly person to sharp practice in business deals.

"On the wallaby": Tramp or migratory workman in the back country. It has the same implication as the better known expression, "Waltzing Matilda."

Rhyming slang: A sophisticated jargon in vogue among Australian wisecrackers and sporting characters, who inherited it from London cockneys. It has had a vogue among American followers of prize ring and turf, especially in San Francisco. An example: "Last night me china plate left his tit for tat at the rubbedy-dub, and his trouble and strife belted him with a Ginger Mick." Translation: "Last night my mate left his hat at a pub, and his wife hit him with a stick."

NOVEMBER COMES.

November comes in a russet gown
With a yellow scarf and a scarlet snood;
Wherever she sets her light foot down,
Leaves glow crimson in dale and wood.

Fir cones and acorns in her hands,
Her lips are stained with the tangy grape;
Under a bare white ash she stands,
Then smoke-wisps circle her fleeing shape.

Late blooms she tore from October's brow
And tossed them full in her sister's face;
White-furred December pursues her now:
She laughs and pants in her hour of grace.

A moment poised on a windy hill,
The echoes answer her wild halloo;
Then all the woodland boughs grow still:
Pointing the way, they whisper, "Go!"

Fala Asks for Straw Votes.

Fala was growling as usual when I pedaled up on my bicycle for my regular visit to his headquarters.

"Hey, you!" he barked. "Why don't you get on the ball and take a straw vote?" He elevated his nose and sniffed suspiciously at the breeze. "I think there's something in the wind," he declared.

And that's how we are today able to give the results of the first all-dog straw poll taken in the United States.

The first five dogs interviewed were asked, "Do you know Choppy?" They answered "No," so five votes were awarded Fala on the assumption that they wouldn't vote for some one they didn't know.

The next dog interviewed—a Mexican hairless—said because of his size he could cast only a half vote for Fala. The next two voted unanimously for Choppy, but changed their votes later when they found out I asked, "How do you like Choppy?" instead of "Do you like chops?"

Four others declared viciously they wouldn't vote for that Fala in the White House under any circumstances and Choppy got his first support. Three other dogs were just about to cast their ballots when they spotted a cat, and by that time your reporter was dog tired from Gallup-ing around anyway and gave the whole thing up.

THE OBTUSE OWL.

(A Brookfield Ballad.)

The owl has been considered wise
By those who sentimentalize,
But when he swoops upon his prey
And luncheon seems not far away,
He lets out with a joyful cry
Which only serves to notify
The victims he would fain devour,
So they seek foxholes for an hour.
The moral hereunto attached?
Don't count your chicken till it's hatched,
For fate hides many startling tricks
In war, and love, and politics!

W. S. writes: "My husband was killed in action two months ago. I have never received a widow's insurance form, but my father-in-law stated that he is the beneficiary. After my husband went overseas, he sent me a will. In this will I was named beneficiary of the government insurance policy, and his father was named beneficiary of two other policies. The father-in-law, a prosperous business man who has a corporation lawyer back of him, says he doesn't have to share the insurance with me and intends to keep it all. Doesn't the will have any effect on the payment of proceeds of this insurance?"

Beneficiaries named in a will such as you indicate would not take precedence over a beneficiary designated by the service man in his original application. To be effective, a change of beneficiary must be accomplished by the service man [or woman] by notice in writing to the veterans' administration or on the regular blanks prescribed by the veterans' administration. On the basis of your husband's will, however, a civil suit against your father-in-law might result in the division of proceeds of the insurance in accordance with your husband's wishes. If a certified copy of the will is sent to the veterans' administration they might pay the proceeds of the policy to a court and let the heirs of the will fight it out.

TULAREMIA FROM DISEASED BUNNIES.

DISEASES which afflict mankind because of our association with animals are just beginning to be understood. It required years before glanders in horses was proved to be infectious to human beings. In like fashion, undulant fever—which comes from contaminated cows or goats—can be spread not only via milk but thru the handling of meat.

Deer fly, or rabbit fever, will present itself particularly with the opening of the hunting season, when Nimrods will prepare game for the table with unprotected hands. In consequence, a hangnail or a very slight unobserved scratch may come into contact with blood from the bunny.

The disorder was given the name tularemia because it was first recognized in 1911 in Tulare county, California. A year later, the causative germ was discovered. This microbe is transmitted readily from animal to animal by bloodsucking insects—lice, ticks, and probably fleas. Many varieties of wild species may become victims, for example, ground squirrels, rabbits, woodchucks, coyotes, gophers, chipmunks, quail, grouse, etc.

Human infection is characterized by the sudden appearance of headache, vomiting, and chilly sensations. In fact, a sharp attack of influenza may be suspected. Within a day or two, however, the patient will complain of pain in the region of the lymph glands about the site of inoculation. The structures will enlarge and, in many instances, pus will form.

In one type, the first sign of trouble will be observed in one or both eyes. This inflammation runs a regular course and, if good care is available, permanent injury to vision will not ensue. Now and then the ailment will imitate a typical bout of typhoid, with the victim seriously ill. Fever is always present and continues from two to three weeks. In the meantime, weight is lost, chills recur, and prostration is marked.

As a rule, convalescence is slow and precautions must be taken against an occasional complication. Fortunately, we have accurate methods for diagnosis and sometimes the organism will be found in the blood.

The important thing is to prevent the malady rather than be obliged to fight off a seizure. All rabbits are not afflicted. In fact, few if any illnesses follow the use of tame hares for food. But those living in their native habitat are likely to be infected. The presence of the disease may be suspected should hunters encounter dead animals which seem to have died from natural causes.

No serious results need follow the eating of even a tainted cottontail—if cooking is thoro. The hazard exists, however, in dressing the carcass and rubber gloves or some suitable protection should be worn. Furthermore, we may avoid touching the flesh to the bare skin anywhere. This is essential from the standpoint of shunning tularemia, which may bring on a long drawn out period of helplessness. Even tho life may not be in jeopardy, fatalities are not unknown. It is possible to resort to antitoxin if the patient is not making satisfactory progress.

EAR OPERATION.

M. O. writes: Will you give more information on the fenestration operation in otosclerosis, which you mentioned recently.

REPLY.

Immediately following the procedure, hearing is improved greatly. As a rule, however, the gain is not sustained. Sound perception is likely to fall away as the months go by. About 20 per cent of those who submit to this rather formidable type of surgery are benefited markedly.

FIRST COME . . .

V. P. writes: In the case of twins, I would like to know which is older, the one born first or the second?

REPLY.

The one who first breathes the atmosphere in which we live. The difference in age may be only a few minutes. On the other hand, it may be an hour or two.

NERVOUSNESS.

Mrs. F. B. writes: When a person is referred to as "neurotic" does this mean that he is highly nervous or slightly off balance?

REPLY.

Not related to disturbed intelligence. The term "neurotic" usually refers to upset nerves or emotions.

Elephant Year.

Not long ago an old lady approached a Trave'ers Aid worker at Champaign [Ill.] and commented on the large number of babies in the waiting room. In the breathless tones of the person who knows the answer all along, she asked the worker if she knew why there were so many babies this year. The worker did not. At that the old lady said proudly, "Because it's elephant year!" She then delved into her hoard of folklore to explain that elephants have babies only every 15 years and that this is the year. During that year all crops are good, including the baby crop. As the press chronicles multiple birth after multiple birth, the worker is beginning to think her informer had something. She is even wondering if it doesn't bode well for the Republicans tomorrow.

Man Survives Curse.

Reginald Denny, playwright and co-author of "Wallflower" which opens here Nov. 12, is hale, hearty, and undaunted despite the imprecations hurled on him by G. B. Shaw some years ago. At that time Denny was directing the playhouse at Oxford, England, and opened with Shaw's "Heartbreak House." Mr. Shaw came for the first performance. The undergraduates got one peek at him and cheered and yelled with laughter thruout the show. At the end Shaw, in a towering rage, mounted the stage. "I was under the impression I had written a tragedy in the Russian manner," he roared. "The performance teaches me I have written a rip-roaring farce-comedy. On the players, and particularly on Mr. Denham, I bestow my heartiest curse."

More on No Cigarets.

One of our esteemed afternoon contemporaries came out with an explanation of the civilian cigaret shortage the other day. He stated that the army is buying five cartons a week for every man in uniform. None of this jibes with letters from overseas, in which men say, "All I want for Christmas is cigarets. Can you send me 10 cartons?" or "We are given five cigarets a day. Can you send some?" A little simple arithmetic, moreover, shows that it does not jibe at all with cigaret production figures. If 1,000 cigarets [five cartons] a week are put aside for each of the 12 million members of the fighting forces, this is 12 billion cigarets a week, or 624 billion a year. Yet the cigaret manufacturers only claim to be making 290 billion, the largest output in history.

MacDOUGALL'S MASQUERADE.

Winnetka, Ill., Nov. 1.—Curtis MacDougall, the Democratic candidate for congress in the 10th district, has been pictured as a liberal professor at Northwestern university, and it has even been intimated that the university supports him. However, a group of prominent members of the faculty at Northwestern has issued a statement making it clear that this is not so.

MacDougall is at best an in-and-out professor at the university. By his own published statement, he has held five different jobs in the last seven years. Moreover, he is not an authority on government and economics, as has been intimated, but is a teacher in the school of journalism. He gives courses in newspaper reporting.

It so happens that MacDougall worked with me for a year, a few years ago. In that time I got to know him pretty well. And I have followed his career since that time. He fits perfectly the definition of a "parlor pink." I recall that Sterling North classified the present candidate as a Red when in another newspaper he reviewed MacDougall's work as director of the Illinois writers' project of the WPA. A number of witnesses before the congressional committee on un-American activities testified that the writers' project was dominated by Communists who inserted soviet propaganda into the literary output of WPA.

MacDougall may have changed his mind [possibly for political reasons] but in 1939 he was for socialized medicine, for more government control of business and for tax free federal housing, and he condoned labor racketeering and sit-down strikes as justified if they accomplished the ultimate control of industry by government. In fact, I gathered from my many conversations with him that the Russian system was quite superior to our decadent democracy.

I am not campaigning for Ralph Church or any one else, but I do think that it would be incongruous to have MacDougall represent the conservative 10th district in congress and that the truth is worth knowing for truth's sake.

Do you remember how the President promised us never to send our boys to fight on foreign soil? And at the moment some were on their way to Iceland, and the President knew in his heart that his words were not true. TAMPERING WITH SOLDIERS' VOTES.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—When election commissioners contrive to have secret sessions with soldiers' ballot boxes; when our mayor openly urges the removal of an election official just because of being a Republican who cannot be "managed," it's certainly time that the families of soldiers so robbed of their votes take a hand in the election, to see that there is such a huge straight Republican vote as to overcome the thieving tactics being so openly practiced. Soldiers are not voting for this administration, or there wouldn't be so much activity about their ballots being investigated ahead of election day. Back up the soldiers' votes with those at home, with straight Republican votes.

ONLY ONE CO-OWNER SIGNED.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—I signed a contract with a real estate agent to sell my home, which is jointly owned by my brother and me. He refused to sign the agreement. 2. The agent has sold the house and threatens a law suit. 3. Can he collect his commission and [4] can the party buying collect any damages if the deal is not closed?

F. P.

1. We need hardly say that you should not have signed such a contract without consulting the co-owner. We see no reason why your contract should not be binding upon you as to your one-half and as to damages. Of course it is not binding upon your co-owner.
2. We assume that what you mean is that he has found a purchaser who is willing to buy on your terms.
3. Yes, on these facts.
4. The mere fact that you have signed a contract with an agent would not be enough to bind you to a prospective purchaser. You do not make clear how far the deal has gone. We suggest that you employ an attorney.

TRADITION OF FINE COFFEE KEPT SECURE

Wartime conditions have not lowered coffee standards

Americans have always taken great pride in their reputation for serving the world's finest coffee. Despite wartime conditions, the quality of coffee in the United States remains at its high, pre-war standards.

Hills Bros. Coffee, Inc., has made important contributions to the maintenance of these high standards. Ever since they started in business, over 65 years ago, they have chosen only the finest coffees obtainable for their blend. In 1900, they originated Vacuum Packing to preserve the freshness of coffee. They also developed Controlled Roasting—an exclusive Hills Bros. process that insures uniform goodness in every pound.

In this method of roasting, the speed of operation and degree of heat are automatically controlled. Thus, every berry is roasted to absolute perfection, and the chance of flavor variation is eliminated.

Any type of coffee-maker can be used with equally successful results by following the directions printed on the label.

LATIN AMERICA REBELS AGAINST U. S. AIR TACTICS

19 Nations Attack Plan of New Deal at Parley.

international body, and that the remaining six seats shall be divided among the 'riff raff' of smaller nations. We are not riff raff."

The Latin American nations held meetings last Friday, Saturday, and yesterday, at which the question of the interim council proposal, offered by Adolf A. Berle Jr., New Deal assistant secretary of state and chairman of the United States delegation here, was discussed.

Out of these meetings came a statement by Luis Machado, a technical adviser to the Cuban delegation, stating the protest and declaring that the Latin Americans plan to submit a counter proposal stating that the interim council shall be formed so that "every nation shall have its seat and equal voting power."

The Berle Proposal.

Machado's statement also declared that the interim council should have the "sole function" of a "technical, consultative, and advisory" body. The Berle proposal would give the council powers to coordinate and supervise work of interim committees on air transport problems, and on an international regulatory body, which British empire nations hope to clothe with broad and sweeping powers over transoceanic flying.

All of the 19 Latin American countries were said to have agreed on the Machado statement, and will offer their counter-proposal today. The only other nations in the Pan American union are Argentina, which is not represented here, and the United States, whose plan was under attack.

The Latin American flareup was the second major crisis in the conference of 51 allied and neutral nations on the problem of post-war global flying since it convened here last Wednesday. Dissension between members of the American delegation over what is said to be a New Deal plot to "sell out" America's commercial flying rights developed earlier.

Reflected in Dispatch.

It was reflected in a dispatch from Washington, D. C., published in THE TRIBUNE, in which Washington spokesmen charged Berle with pledging this country to grant foreign nations rights never accorded before, offering them American planes without making the same offer to American companies, and attempting to deliver the navigational and flying aids developed by the army and navy to foreign powers gratis.

The air conference here was almost completely organized last week, according to Berle, and ready to start its heavy work today, altho nobody expected much to be done before election day.

The difference between the Latin American nations and the United States over policy, however, promised to enliven today's sessions, and may prevent some United States delegates who had planned to go home to vote tomorrow from leaving.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY MARYON ZYLSTRA

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. Ethel Haasis, 7841 Elmgrove dr., Elmwood Park.]

THE QUESTION.

Of all the things we have today, what do you think people 50 years from now will laugh at the most?

WHERE ASKED.

Railway Exchange Bldg., Jackson blvd. and Michigan av.

THE ANSWERS.

Bert Wales, restaurant owner, 5040 Marine dr.—I have given that subject a lot of thought. I have the idea that scientists will have the dining out situation down to a point where you'll drop a coin in a vending machine and a complete meal will come out in the form of a capsule that will take one swallow.

Mildred Niemann, reservation clerk, 1502 Bryn Mawr av.—I think they probably will laugh at all the cosmetics the women use today. If women use cosmetics then, they probably will be in the form of a dye, and will be applied as a "permanent" treatment that, like a permanent wave now, will have to be renewed.

A. O. Tapper, attorney, 2456 E. 78th st.—Men's clothing is perhaps the most stupid, most uncomfortable and impractical item that intelligent people permit to exist. I hope that in 50 years some of our best minds will have freed men from their present day garb so that they will be at least as comfortable as women.

R. C. Emmett, civil engineer, 1052 Rosemont av.—The buildings we have now will appear bunglesome and amusing. Houses will be full of modern conveniences that are unknown now. Walls will be movable and the occupants of a house will be able to change its appearance and layout as they please.

Shirley Sima, clerk, 907 Pleasant st., Oak Park—When you see an old time automobile sputtering across the screen in a movie it's always amusing. I imagine that in 50 years a present day automobile will appear even more humorous because there will be many changes. What we think is de luxe will be a jalopy.

Edith Stone, reservation clerk, 4911 Glenwood av.—We'll have transportation then that will get us to work in five minutes. The elevated, bus, and trolley will have vanished. Just as we laugh now about the "fast" service of the pony express, they'll laugh at us then as they talk in terms of seconds, not minutes.

BRITISH FIRMS PLAN TO MEET U. S. AIR THREAT

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Following on the heels of reports printed here today that the United States is trying to push the British empire into a back seat in the world airways battle by allocating it only two seats on the executive council of the international control body, British firms, tonight, were said to be meeting what they consider a challenge to their air prestige thru a possible unified empire air line network.

A powerful coöperative scheme among the empire air services thruout the world was reported being worked out quietly behind the scenes. The plan under draft by the British Overseas Airways corporation [BOAC] and individual air lines was seen as aimed to give Britain what is called a "much more powerful voice in the international arena."

Give Point to Forecast.

Only last night the BOAC chief proclaimed that Britain will beat the United States in civil aviation, and Sir Frederick Handley Page, leading aircraft manufacturer, today assured the British they can produce the planes needed for the battle with America for world civil air supremacy, both of which developments give point to tonight's forecast of an empire air union.

Regarding the alleged plan to freeze out the empire thru manipulation of the executive council of the world air planning conference—where Britain's representation would equal to that of the United States — heavy publicity has been given the Chicago Tribune story on the "betrayal" of America at the air parley.

Unwilling to Do It.

Tonight's British press stories indicate the empire is unwilling to accept any such fate for its airlines which, under the outlined new plan, would participate in a pool from which equipment and cooperative units might be drawn.

The proposal is believed also to provide for sharing revenue which is aimed to help smaller empire lines survive against foreign competition, while BOAC would play the big brother role by sharing routes with empire operators, "providing there are no political objections.".

Book Mother on Charge She Left Crippled Son, 6

Frances Norvells, 22, also known as Frances Jones, 127 S. Oakley blvd., was booked yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor because she allegedly abandoned her son, Edward, 6, a paralytic cripple, on Oct. 4 at the home of an aunt, Mrs. Daisy Hawkins, 1007 S. Racine av. The child was taken to the Juvenile home.

BRITAIN TO GIVE EX-CAPTIVES NO QUICK RELEASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—British soldiers captured by the Germans on the western front will not be given priority in demobilization but will be treated as other service men, James Grigg, war secretary, told the house of commons. He said that the time spent in captivity would be reckoned as service and that soldiers in top release groups would be demobilized thru the normal machinery. Those in the lower priorities will be posted for further service and will be released in their turn. Grigg stressed that repatriated prisoners would have no right to immediate release until after the defeat of Japan.

FRENCH TO TRY AIR GENERAL ON TREASON COUNT

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 5.—With radical resistance elements demanding that death sentences handed down during the last couple of weeks be carried out without further delay—so far no one has been shot— the Paris court of justice tomorrow will try Brig. Gen. Rene Pinsard, French air corps officer who is charged with having gone over to the Germans.

Pinsard began the war against the Germans but in 1943, it is charged, he changed his politics and became a member of the central committee of the French legion of volunteers to fight with German armies against the Bolsheviks. He is charged with treason. Robert Brasillach, editor of the Paris collaboration newspaper, Je Suis Partout, also will be tried this week on a charge of treason and intelligence with the enemy.

Trials in the provinces are continuing with greater speed and more death penalties than in Paris.

The Marseille court has passed 17 death sentences on collaborators since Sept. 11. Seven sentences have been carried out.

Russia Decorates Stalin for Changing War's Tide

LONDON, Nov. 5 (AP).—The Moscow radio said tonight that President Michael Kalinin had decorated Premier-Marshal Stalin with the Order of Victory for organizing and executing operations that changed the war in favor of the Russian army. It added that Stalin also was invested with the Order of the Red Banner for long service with the Red army.

Molly Pitcher, 1944

Molly Pitcher, Revolutionary heroine, symbolizes the spirit of America's women who take over the work of men at war.

Women are doing a big job on the Pennsylvania Railroad

More than 49,000 experienced Pennsylvania Railroad men have entered our armed forces. Yet, wartime's unusual needs for railroad service are being met . . . thanks in great part to approximately 23,000 women who have rallied to the emergency. From colleges, high schools and homes, these women—after intensive training—are winning the wholehearted applause of the traveling public.

You see them working as trainmen, in ticket and station masters' offices and information bureaus, as platform ushers and train passenger representatives, in dining car service. Yes, even in baggage rooms, train dispatchers' offices, in shops and yards and as section hands. The Pennsylvania Railroad proudly salutes these "Molly Pitchers" who so gallantly fill the breach left by their fighting brothers-in-arms.

SCHENLEY DISTILLERS CORP., NEW YORK

Get Ready, Get Set...!

We are getting ready here—getting organized—for the Sixth War Loan Drive. It will start November 20th—Thanksgiving season. Appropriate time, isn't it?

And we're following through on all of the boys and girls here who joined our "Hold Your War Bonds" Club. If you have been a regular reader of this towerlet of type for some months, you will perhaps remember that we reached 100% membership in a voluntary group—a "Hold Your War Bonds" Club. Every member received a card and a button reading, "I buy 'em and hold 'em!" Really, it wasn't very hard to do here—to start this club—because some fifteen hundred of our employees in our affiliate companies, are in the armed services and the folks who didn't or couldn't go, want to hold up their end—on the home front.

At any rate, this seems to be a good time to say again that we ought to hold our bonds, except in cases of dire necessity, because if one person buys one and another sells one, of the same denomination, there is really no sale. The sale of one nullifies the purchase of the other. It seems to me that since our million of young men and women have given their services to the armed forces for the "duration", we ought to hold our war bonds for at least a like period. Let's not "call" our loan to our Government.

Maybe you'd like to have some more information about this "Hold Your War Bonds" Club, which originated here in Schenley. Maybe you'd like to start one where you work. We'd be glad to give you samples of our forms—they're very simple and are yours for the asking.

BATTLE HONORS ACCORDED 2 MEN KILLED IN ACTION

Chicagoan Saved Lives of Troops in His Patrol.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY ON THE MOSELLE RIVER, France, Nov. 5.—Two midwesterners have been given posthumous award of the silver star for gallantry in action by order of Maj. Gen. John S. Wood, commanding the 4th armored division.

Pvt. John A. Heffermen, 20, Indianapolis, Ind., and a member of the 21st armored infantry battalion, was checking a broken communications line under enemy mortar fire. He found the break on a hilltop exposed to enemy machine gun fire and continued his work mending the vital link until killed.

Patrols Far Behind Lines.

Lt. Peter C. Welling, 29, son of Mrs. Mary Welling, 1847 W. 107th st., Chicago, a platoon leader of the 25th cavalry reconnaissance squadron, was ordered to make a patrol deep into enemy territory in the vicinity of Blainville for the purpose of investigating Meurthe river crossings.

On the outskirts of Blainville they met heavy machine gun and small arms fire. Wellington maneuvered his platoon into the most favorable position but in so doing he necessarily exposed himself above the turret of his armored car and was killed by small arms fire.

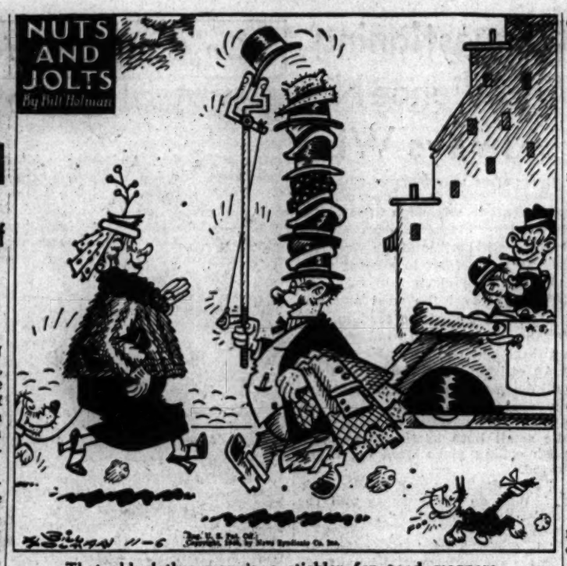
The citation said, "Lt. Welling proved himself a true leader on the field of battle. His sacrifice was supreme but thru his sacrifice doubtless the lives of the men in his troop were saved."

Award Bronze Stars.

Bronze stars for valor in combat have been awarded to Corp. John H. Eggert, 30, Mechanicsville, Ia., and Sgt. George Tomich Jr., 26, route 8, Saginaw, Mich.

Eggert was decorated for assisting in extricating an armored vehicle from a mud filled ditch under artillery fire at a time when the vehicle was urgently needed.

Tomich directed armored column traffic at a crossroads under fire of enemy attack guns in such a manner that the vehicles were able to cross an urban intersection when the guns were not firing. Tomich remained at his post altho shells were bursting within 50 feet and two French civilians were killed 70 yards from him.



That old clothes man is a stickler for good manners.

The cigaret shortage suffered a setback yesterday at the annual benefit of the Woman's board of Misericordia hospital and infants' home in the Stevens hotel. Dozens of packages, purchased by the board before the shortage became acute, were sold by pretty cigaret girls. The girls reported their sales were brisk. The cigaret girls, daughters and friends of board members, were in charge of Miss Julia Hursen. Proceeds of the sale will go to the maintenance fund of the hospital, which is conducted by the Sisters of Mercy.

BULKELEY'S PT STEWARD BACK ON HIS OLD JOB

AT AN ADVANCED P-T BASE, Leyte Island, Nov. 4 [Delayed]—(AP).—An unobstrusive little Filipino clambered up the rope ladder of a P-T tender.

"Alfredo Sarmo, officer's steward second class, reporting for duty, sir," he announced to Lt. Lloyd Howard, San Marino, Cal. "P-T service, squadron three, sir."

"Why, that's Bulkeley's old squadron," the officer noted. [Lt. Comdr. John D. Bulkeley evacuated Gen. MacArthur from Corregidor.] Sarmo was aboard Lt. Henry Branningham's boat when it fired its last torpedo into a convoy of enemy transports in a battle off Negros Island. Enemy planes sank the boat. The Filipino swam ashore and joined a guerrilla organization. When he heard the Americans had returned to the Philippines he made haste to report.

Reds Hit Romania Delay in Returning War Loot

MOSCOW, Nov. 5 (AP).—The Russian news agency Tass declared today that the Romanian government appeared to be in no hurry to fulfill armistice terms under which "all property stolen from the U. S. S. R. would be returned without delay." Its dispatch from the Romanian capital, Bucharest, also complained that the present government had failed to intern German and Hungarian nationals and freeze their assets.

SPANISH EXILES VOTE TO FORM LIBERATION UNIT

PARIS, Nov. 5 (AP).—The refugee Spanish republican national union voted today to form an enlarged national liberation committee which delegates hoped would be recognized by the allied powers in the same manner in which the French national committee in Algiers was recognized before the liberation of France.

As the union's three day congress closed at Toulouse, the union offered a committee seat to each political party and another seat for Spanish refugees in France under the presidency of Gen. Jose Riquelme. Such a committee would be the executive board for the "junta suprema," underground republican headquarters reported operating in Madrid.

Spanish republicans in Paris interpreted this as a step toward establishment of a government in exile in opposition to the Franco regime.

COLLISION OF 2 PLANES KILLS 15 ARMY FLYERS

Kingman, Ariz., Nov. 5 (AP).—All 15 occupants of an army bomber and a pursuit plane that collided near here Friday were killed, it was announced today. Nine had been identified previously as dead. Additions to the death list included Corp. Robert J. Baribeau, 25, son of Charles Baribeau, 631 Park av., Wausau, Wis.

24 Die in T. W. A. Crash.

Hanford, Cal., Nov. 5 (AP).—The crash of the Transcontinental and Western Air passenger plane Sky Chief, in which 24 persons were killed here last night, remained unexplained today. The big silver ship appeared to go to pieces in midair during an electrical storm, scattering bodies and wreckage over a wide area.

T. W. A. officials announced that there was one civilian passenger on the plane—Dr. B. D. Saklatwalla, Pittsburgh, Pa., a consulting engineer in metallurgy; 20 members of the military services whose names were not released, and three crew members.

Officials of the civil aeronautics authority, the army, and the navy, as well as of the air company, were investigating.

BRITISH TO SEND FRENCH 40 TONS OF CLOTHING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Forty tons of clothing contributed by benevolent societies in Britain will be distributed among inhabitants of the devastated areas of France as soon as transport is available, Commandant Boury, a representative of the French mutual aid organization, disclosed in London. He said blankets and warm clothes were desperately needed, coal was unobtainable and in some places the French could not even get wood. A. F. M. Monchen, chaplain general of the Dutch forces, said that in liberated areas of Holland the situation was tragic.

WOMAN STABBED, DIES.

Mrs. Anna Ray, 22, Negro, of 557 E. 43d st., died yesterday in Provident hospital of stab wounds which an aunt, Mrs. Letha Ray, 50, of the same address, told police were inflicted by the dead woman's husband, Henry, a steel worker.

Mother Seeks Stove for Her Unheated Flat

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Mrs. M., who works to provide for her five small children since her husband's desertion, is living in an unheated flat above an empty store. Her salary is not sufficient to provide for all their needs. She would be very grateful for a coal heating stove. The address is on the near west side.

The B. family is in need of a day-bed for a 13 year old boy for whom they have been unable to purchase a bed. The father is ill and can work only part time, and the family income provides only food and shelter.

If any readers have old woolens, such as bathrobes, or woolen shirts, Mrs. X., on the south side, would be glad to have them. She makes warm clothing for many of the children of the needy families in the district. She has recently run out of material. This is an excellent way to make use of clothing which is still at least partially durable. We will provide the name and address to any reader interested in mailing such items.

Plan to Attract War Workers Back to Kitchen

Things are going to be different for the cooks, nursemaids, and other household employes who walked out of the kitchen and into war plants. They are going to be coaxed back into household jobs by Chicago housewives who realize there will have to be some changes made if war workers in any large numbers return to their former jobs.

One hundred Chicago women are going to organize a Household Employers league which will make a brand new approach to the problem. Its members will be pledged to take in their own households the steps necessary to make domestic service the dignified, attractive job it deserves to be, the kind of job which will attract skilled young women. The members will meet Nov. 10 at the loop center Y. W. C. A., 59 E. Monroe st., at 10:30 a. m. to organize the league, according to Mrs. James Luther Adams, chairman of the Y. W. C. A. household employment committee.

The league will propose a maximum 54 hour week, vacations with pay, wages comparable to those paid in other occupations requiring a similar degree of skill, and comfortable living quarters. All Chicago women interested in this project will be welcome at the meeting.

Post-War Furnishings Topic for Tech Women

Furnishings of the post-war home will be discussed by Miss Frances Welch, interior decorator, when she speaks at 1:30 p. m. on Wednesday before the Illinois Institute of Technology Women's club. The meeting and tea afterward are to be held in the institute. Hostesses will include Mrs. L. H. Donnel, Mrs. Leslie R. Hedrick, Mrs. Charles W. Leigh, Mrs. Charles E. Martin, Mrs. M. B. Reed, Mrs. Charles R. Swineford, Mrs. L. R. Wilcox, and Mrs. Stanton E. Winston.

Child's Frock

Rickrack braid, bows, and contrasting collar, cuffs, and pocket tops are the simple expedients which set this girl's frock above the average. Make it in cotton, crepe, or woolen. Style No. 3880 is designed for sizes 4 to 12. Size 8 requires 2¼ yards of 35 inch fabric with ⅝ yard contrasting, 2⅜ yards of rickrack, and ¾ yard ribbon.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents plus 2 cents for mailing. The winter pattern book is 15 cents at Public Service offices, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Unquestioning Obedience Not Always Wise

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It was one afternoon in late winter during black-out days on the eastern seaboard, and we were visiting a sick soldier in a great army hospital. The clock said 6:30, but the room faced the west and was still bright enough to read in, and for the boys near the windows to be writing their endless letters home.

An orderly entered and began to pull down the shades. Knowing from my past evening visits there, the gloom that pervaded the place when the small bulb in the dimout-purplish ceiling globe went on, I protested.

"Why don't you wait till it's darker? Why do you have to pull the shades down so early?" I asked the orderly.

"I don't know," he answered. "Those are my orders. I have to do it now. I don't know why. I used to ask questions, and I got 'slapped down.' Now I don't ask any more. I just obey orders."

That is military obedience. And military obedience must, of necessity, be unquestioning. A man in the service can see, many times, the reason for orders; many times he can not. But whether he does or not, he must obey them and at once. Army discipline is not, cannot be, in its essence democratic,—partly, I suppose, because war is a ruthless procedure, outside the pale of normal living, and army life is a life quite apart from that of everyday existence.

So, instant, unquestioning obedience is not our ideal for children in the family. The family in America must be an experience in democratic living, with children learning to give, take, and share, and to respect and obey their parents—who must make themselves in every way worthy.

While most certainly the rendering of obedience is part of the whole home picture, it cannot be on every occasion and every count, an instant, unquestioning military type of obedience. It must be rather an obedience based on a combination of faith in the wisdom and fairness of mother and father, with intelligently given reasons and explanations when the occasion calls for them, but unquestioning and instant obedience when it is demanded in an emergency.

Latin American Program Planned by Cordon Club

The Cordon club's first program meeting of the year will have a Latin American flavor, for tonight's program will consist of a showing of colored slides of Guatemala and a lecture on that country by Mrs. M. Burris Swanstrom. Examples of Guatemalan textiles and handicraft will be on exhibition. Miss Marie Hamer will present music by composers of Guatemala, Ecuador and Brazil.

Goren on Bridge

By Charles H. Goren

ANSWERS TO SATURDAY'S QUIZ.

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠ A K 8 ♥ 7 5 2 ♦ 10 4 3 ♣ A K J 2
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—One no trump. While you have four plus honor tricks there is no need to get excited until you find out whether partner has a good hand. If partner speaks again of course you will take further action. If he passes you will not have missed a game.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠ Q 6 3 ♥ A K 10 7 2 ♦ K 10 ♣ Q 8 2
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	2 clubs

What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. While there are several bids available the most desirable is the single raise of partner's suit, which when made as a free bid shows a good hand. This is preferable to rebidding hearts.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠ A K Q 10 9 5 2 ♥ A Q 4 3 ♦ 7 6 ♣ —
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 club	1 diamond	?

What do you bid?

A.—One spade. This hand has unknown, but unlimited possibilities. Investigation will be required. The best bet is to make a bid which partner definitely will not pass. The objection to bidding two spades is that partner might develop some strange idea that you are bidding to the score and may pass. Of course he should not, but he might. You can do your vigorous bidding on the next round when you find out more about the hand.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠ A Q 9 5 ♥ 10 4 ♦ Q 9 4 ♣ Q 10 6 3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Three no trump. Partner's last bid of two no trump shows a good hand. His first rebid of one no trump might indicate a minimum, but when he refused to pass two clubs he must have a very sound hand, and you have values that will be of definite assistance at no trump.

Q. 5—Partner opens with one spade. You hold:
♠ 7 5 3 ♥ A 3 ♦ A 10 4 2 ♣ A 10 5 3
What do you bid?

A.—Two diamonds. While you have the high card requirements for a jump to two no trump this is not the type of hand calling for such response. A temporary bid is recommended, reserving your final judgment of the hand until the next round.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ J 7 6 5 4 2 ♥ J 9 7 6 4 ♦ 3 ♣ 7
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Double	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Two hearts. Do not leave in the double. Despite your great length in spades you can take very few tricks against a spade contract. Furthermore, you probably have just the suit partner is looking for.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠ Q 7 5 3 ♥ A 6 4 ♦ A J 9 7 6 4 ♣ —
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two hearts. Despite the fact that you have a shaded opening in high cards you should raise in preference to signing off with two diamonds. The hand has improved since you picked it up.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠ 10 9 8 7 6 ♥ 5 ♦ Q 5 ♣ K Q 10 7 5
What do you bid?

A.—Four spades. This is just the type of hand for a pre-emptive raise. You have great playing strength, but no defense. A temporary bid of two clubs would be poor strategy because it allows the opponents to come in cheaply and perhaps push you beyond your level.

Q. 9—You are South, have 60 part score and hold:
♠ A K Q 10 9 5 2 ♥ A Q 4 3 ♦ 7 6 ♣ —
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 club	1 diamond	?

What do you bid?

A.—One spade. This hand has unknown, but unlimited possibilities. Investigation will be required. The best bet is to make a bid which partner definitely will not pass. The objection to bidding two spades is that partner might develop some strange idea that you are bidding to the score and may pass. Of course he should not, but he might. You can do your vigorous bidding on the next round when you find out more about the hand.

Thru the Looking Glass

Sometimes, in reading the word "synthetic" we have thought the product to which it is applied could not be very good. But we had another lesson to prove to us that this is often mere prejudice when we tried a new shampoo a few days ago. The printed information that accompanied the product to our desk told us it was a special synthetic cleanser well removed from the ordinary soap shampoos.

After trying it we can report that it is really most satisfactory. More than that, it does some awfully nice things for the hair, bringing out all its true color and imparting a most becoming luster. A lack of sheen and a residue of soapy film on the hair shafts is one drawback many women find objectionable with some shampoos. They complain that, rinse as they will, they can't seem to get the soap out completely. That problem is avoided with this shampoo because it is formulated without soap. The hair is left free of any residue and feels and looks clean and shiny as a new penny.

Even if the shampoo didn't cleanse and polish the hair so effectively we'd be tempted to like it because it's so wonderfully easy to use. It's in solid, or more specifically, cream form and packed in pink prettiness in a jar.

After soaking the locks with tepid water you simply scoop out about a thimbleful of the cream, rub it between the palms, and start shampooing. After a few seconds, splash a little more water over the hair and continue washing. You'll work up an abundant lather that fairly whisks the soil from the scalp. Rinse well and your shampooing is done. The hair dries a little more quickly when it has been washed with this shampoo, because we're told really clean hair is bound to dry rapidly.

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

What this show needs is George Abbott. That brisk master of the rough and tumble farce might throw away its first act, do some general writing and recasting, and pace "Sleep No More" into a freak hit on the order of "Room Service," which never had the vitality of "Three Men On a Horse," but managed to keep most audiences in such a hubbub they forgot to be bored. But the way the new play at the Civic looked opening night it isn't likely to make booking trouble for Eddie Dowling, who still wants the theater for a Christmas week opening of "The Glass Menagerie," in which he will appear with Laurette Taylor and Julie Haydon.

The only hope for a farce like "Sleep No More" is to move so fast you can't see the holes. It has some amusing situations and a few lines that could explode with proper timing, but they get lost in a meandering maze of pointless writing and inept direction.

The Wallingford idea of the likable promoter always on the thin edge of the law is twisted here to make Taylor Holmes the plausible backer of inventions into which he blithely puts other people's money. He almost hits the jackpot with a pill to eliminate sleep, a project which provokes, among other eruptive items, a visit from the infuriated manufacturer of Timmons' beds. High finance reigns in the barber shop where the impecunious Holmes makes his headquarters, until his prize exhibit, the sleepless inventor, starts to doze. The whole thing has possibilities, but they have to be exploited before "Sleep No More" can keep an audience awake for all three acts.

Mr. Holmes is acting Mr. Holmes in his usual style, with the love story rewritten so he can bow out of pretty Miss Moore's life, where even in a farce he never belonged in the first place. Mr. Ruggles looks like relief on the leading man situation, and one or two other are worth noting, including Mr. Sullivan as the eruptive Mr. Timmons who can't sell those beds, and Mr. Miller as a glum, apparently toothless mortal who wasn't always a barber, not by 30 years in the clink.

Mrs. Dora A., Evansville, Ind.—To revive a lizard skin or alligator bag which looks worn, add a few drops of glycerin to a little vaseline and rub this into leather. Then wipe dry and polish with a clean cloth.

Mrs. George A., Logansport, Ind.—Here are two methods I have used to remove printing from cloth sacks, after which I dye them and use them for children's shirts, shorts, etc.; I soak them in kerosene for 24 to 30 hours, then wash them in strong soap and boil in lye water. If paint has been used for the printing, I soak them in turpentine instead of kerosene.

Art Institute Plans Allied Nations' Show

BY JUDITH CASS.

"THE president and trustees of the Art Institute of Chicago invite you to attend the opening reception of Art of the United Nations, Wednesday evening, Nov. 15, 1944, from 8 until 10 o'clock," read the dubonnet and blue printed cards heralding the show which the institute considers its most spectacular affair of the new season.

For more than a year the institute has been making plans for the exhibition, which is the first of its kind ever held and which will include one outstanding work of art from each of the 37 allied countries. These range from Gilbert Stuart's portrait of Mrs. Richard Yates, lent by the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C., to represent the United States, to a contemporary Guatemalan costume from the collection of Miss Florence Dibell Bartlett. Original settings designed for the show by Gyorgy Kepes, who is using curved walls, special lighting, and growing gardens, will provide the background for the treasures on display.

All consuls or consuls general of collaborating nations who are stationed in Chicago and their wives are being invited to have coffee with the institute's trustees before the opening and to take part in the festivities of the evening, which will include music of the 37 countries.

Among the trustees and their wives who are being asked to assist Chauncey McCormick, president of the board, and Mrs. McCormick, are the Walter S. Brewsters, the Charles B. Goodspeeds, the Charles F. Glores, the Alfred E. Hamills, the John A. Holabirds, Russell Tyson, the Walter B. Smiths, the Percy B. Eckharts, Thomas E. Donnelley, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Worcester. Mr. Worcester is honorary president of the institution.

For the first time during an evening reception, all of the galleries will be lighted to accommodate the crowds expected, and the Michigan av. entrance will be open at 7:30 p. m.

On the Calendar.

Mrs. William H. Bush will open her Lake Shore dr. home at 4 p. m. on Wednesday to the American Friends of China, who will meet to hear a talk by H. G. W. Woodhead, for years editor of the Peking-Tientsin Times and the China Yearbook. Mr. Woodhead, who has just arrived in this count.y after a long imprisonment by the Japanese, will speak on "What Do Four Hundred and Sixty Million Think?"

Members of the Harvard club of Chicago will gather for luncheon at 12:15 p. m. today at the University club for the organization's annual business meeting and a talk on foreign affairs by Carroll Binder. Dr. Nathan S. Davis heads the club. Some of those who will attend the meeting and vote for new officers are Clarence B. Randall, Edward I. Cudahy, Walter T. Fisher, Joseph L. Valentine, Hubbard Carpenter, and Thomas H. Beacom Jr.

Wedding News.

The marriage of Miss Diane Elizabeth Sabath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sabath of Flossmoor and Miami Beach, Fla., to Milton Lewis will take place at 3 p. m., Nov. 12, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Rogers of 900 N. Michigan av. Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers are friends of the bride's parents. Mr. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Lewis of the Shoreland hotel, will take his bride to the west coast on a wedding trip before they return to Chicago to live.

The marriage of Miss Virginia Ruth Wallgren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Wallgren of Wilmette, to Ensign Paul M. Lund of the naval reserve, son of Dr. Nils W. Lund of Bernard av., took place on Aug. 12 in the North Park Covenant church. At present Ensign Lund and his bride are in Los Angeles, Cal. Both Ensign Lund and his bride were graduated from North Park college, where his father is dean of the seminary. He also was graduated from the Central Michigan College of Education and from the naval reserve midshipman's school in New York.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mary Alice Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Burke of Allston and Green Hill, Mass., to Lt. Richard P. Draine of the naval reserve on Oct. 8 in St. Anthony's church in Allston. Lt. Draine lived in St. Lawrence av. before he entered the navy. Both he and the bride are twins. The bride's twin brother, Robert Emmett Burke, was best man, and another brother, John J. Burke Jr., was among the ushers. Lt. Draine's twin, Lt. Thomas P. Draine of the naval reserve, and another brother, Lt. Edwin Draine of the naval reserve, are serving overseas, but Miss Lucinda, Miss Catherine, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Draine traveled east for the wedding. The bridegroom was graduated from the Chicago Teachers' college and the University of Chicago.

Engagements Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams Nash of Wilmette announce the engagement and approaching marriage on Nov. 18 of their daughter, Sonia, to Sgt. John Henry Allworth of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Allworth of Evanston. The wedding will take place in the home of the bride's parents with a reception at the Georgian hotel following. Sgt. Allworth and his bride will live in Savannah, Ga., where he is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Smith of Berteau av., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage on Saturday of their daughter, Charlotte Marie, to Ralph McKinley Emmons, son of Mrs. Elmer Emmons of Allegan, Mich. The wedding will take place in the Mayfair Methodist church. Miss Smith is the granddaughter of James Smith, one of Chicago's early settlers. Mr. Emmons and his bride will live in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Despite Cold Wind, 500 See Sports Event

BY NANNETTE McCARTHY.

More than 500 hunters and dog fanciers, including 100 servicemen and women, gathered in the prairie just west of Lake Bluff yesterday and Saturday for one of the most unusual sporting events on the fall calendar, the annual field trial of the English Springer Spaniel Field Trial club of Illinois. The winner of the amateur shooting dog stake finals, which were held yesterday morning, was Pennowin's Judy owned by Harold D. Hoffman. Noranby Flatcatcher owned by Capt. James Simpson Jr., the club's president, Don of Mondota owned by John Romadka, and L. L. Polhemus' Busy Blondie of Valley View, were other winners who received prizes of war bonds.

For the first time in the history of the club's trials, an admission fee was charged, and proceeds, which amounted to more than $500, were given to the American Red Cross, which did a land office business selling hot coffee and doughnuts from a mobile unit to spectators braving the cold November winds. The service spectators included many brought by Red Cross station wagons and navy buses from Great Lakes hospital.

Watching the open all-age stake Sunday afternoon were numerous Lake Foresters, including Mrs. William H. Mitchell Jr. and Mrs. Howard Linn in their trim Red Cross uniforms, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Mandel, the Thomas Taylors, Mr. and Mrs. C. Benson Dushane Jr., Mrs. Conway Olmsted, and Herbert McLaughlin and his two young sons.

Musarts' Program.

The Musarts Club of Chicago will meet for a musical program by members at 1 p. m. on Wednesday in the Woman's City clubrooms of the Fine Arts building.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

At home in Chicago on a 30 day furlough from WAC duties in the Mediterranean theater of operations, Sgt. Harriet S. Simon, 7749 Kingston av., reports that Italy looks a great deal different now from what it did in 1939, when she toured it as a civilian. "There are modern ruins now," she said, "in addition to the ancient ones all the travelers used to go to see."

A member of the army for two years, Sgt. Simon was a WAC when the women's army corps was still an auxiliary. She trained at Fort Des Moines, Ia., and Daytona Beach, Fla. She is a secretary.

When an army private from "out west," whom she met in North Africa and whose unit moved to Italy as hers did, comes home on furlough within a couple of months, Sgt. Simon will be married to him. She will report at the end of this month to Fort Sheridan for reassignment, which, she expects, will be in the United States.

Miss Simon was a librarian for 16 years in the Chicago Public library, Michigan av. and Randolph st. She was graduated from Hyde Park High school.

The Great Lakes unit of JANGO [junior army-navy guild organization] will meet at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Officers' club at the training center. Mrs. L. L. Swan will direct discussion of the unit's plans for a benefit Christmas show and tea to be held at 5 p. m. in the club on Nov. 17.

Members of the unit met for tea Saturday afternoon in the residence of Commodore R. R. M. Emmet, commandant of the center, as guests of Mrs. Emmet Hall, sister of Commodore Emmet. Special guest at the party was Mrs. Ralph Bard, wife of the undersecretary of the navy and founder of JANGO in Washington, D. C.

Fritz Kreisler Displays His Ageless Magic

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

For almost half a century Fritz Kreisler has been playing in Chicago, and the huge Civic Opera house is still the right size for his audience, which must put a reassuring dent in the theory that the public is fickle. Yesterday afternoon the beloved violinist, with the veteran Carl Lamson again at the piano, displayed all his old magic in magnetism and almost all of it in performance. The unaccompanied Bach that opened the recital, the Partita No. 1 in B minor, was clear and rich and ripely authoritative, and Mozart's Concerto in G had the heady Viennese bouquet which sets Kreisler apart from all other violinists—indeed, you might say from all other musicians.

This is largely a quality of tone, which here was at its most glowing, and of phrasing, which spoke directly from Mozart to the audience thru musicianship that had ageless sweep and style. The cadenza in the first movement was magnificently played, with a kind of shadowy flutter like the beating of musical wings, and the statement of the theme that opens the slow movement had a limpid serenity likely to linger in the remembering ear.

After intermission Mr. Kreisler seemed a little tired, tho there were recurrent flashes of great virtuosity, especially in the Spanish dances of Arbos and De Falla. Some of those dark phrases, honey sweet in Iberian rhythms, spilled from his bow with a curving vitality rarely encountered in contemporary concert halls.

Martial Singher, the brilliant Basque baritone here to sing Pelléas in Wednesday evening's revival of "Pelléas and Mélisande," appeared at the Arts club last night in his first, but I hope not his last Chicago recital. Mr. Singher's singing verges on the mesmeric, because while his voice is uncommonly beautiful and his technique is as supple as it is subtle, these things are to him but the keys with which he unlocks the kingdom of song.

His variety is extraordinary. He has the big, resonant style for a Lully aria from "Alceste," the peculiarly Gallic flair to recreate the song of Roland from fragments found by Lazare Saminsky in the Washington library, of all places. He has the faintly sardonic wit for Rameau's way with an Inca hymn to the sun god, the diabolic jesting for Berlioz's Mephisto. He can sing a Gounod serenade with such curving delicacy and tenderness that the audience demands an encore, and go straight into the heart of two of Duparc's most elusive and lovely songs. He can hold an audience hypnotized by Faure's "L'Horizon Chimérique," a thing of shifting moods, can toss off an 18th century tambourin with a fluent gesture, and tell you all about the reminiscent requiem of a merry monk in "Ballade de Frère Panuce," written for him by Yvonne Desportes.

What Chicago needs is Mr. Singher in a downtown recital open to the public. With the irreplaceable Paul Ulanowsky at the piano, please.

Two holiday performances of Humperdinck's fairy opera, "Hansel and Gretel," are promised for the Civic Opera house on Dec. 24 and 25, at 3 o'clock. The cast will be announced soon.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Aunt Mary.

"She is the only teacher who ever flunked me, but I love Aunt Mary more than all the rest," a business man remarked of Mary Zimmerman, voicing the affection of her pupils thru 40 years of Chicago public school teaching.

Forty years—a long period to recall during these quiet days of her retirement.

"Do you object if I tell your age?" I asked. She is 75 and her pupils, faithful tho scattered, are gathering for a birthday jubilee. Aunt Mary thought the question funny. "Of course not," she said in a voice buoyant as a girl's, "I always tell it," indicating plainly no grudge against the years of her useful, satisfying life.

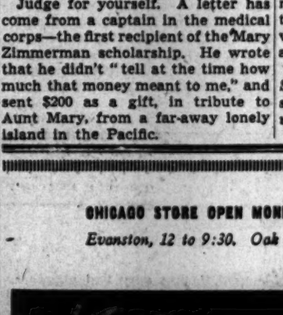
She was 3 years old when she came to this country from Hungary and went to live in Cairo, Ill. Way back in grammar school she knew what she wanted to do and told her classmates—she intended to teach Latin and mathematics in a big city high school.

The Beginning of Wisdom.

After two years at the University of Michigan she began to teach in Menominee, Mich. She was no more than a schoolgirl herself, but she had the beginning of wisdom; she knew how to inspire and build confidence. Witness a letter which came not long ago from the head of the engineering department of a large mid-western university, recalling to her mind [as tho anything slips it!] that she had encouraged a young pupil in that first schoolroom to go to college and to go to the university, where he now directs so important a department.

After her first venture she came to Chicago to pour Latin into the pupils of John Marshall High school for 40 years. She was a natural in her profession. They used to say of her, "She couldn't pass a child on the street without wanting to instruct him."

"What are the requisites for a good teacher?" I asked, and her answer was prompt: "You must love children and you must love your subject."



From the Pacific.

She fulfilled both of these requirements so beautifully it makes one wish for a Mary Zimmerman in every schoolroom. Nothing was hidden from her; she lived that close to her pupils. She knew which boy liked which girl and maneuvered a little to throw the young people together [tho she'd deny it not too convincingly!]. She saw threadbare clothing that other eyes missed; pocketbooks too flat for lunch money; pockets too empty for carfare. She started the student aid fund and was the instigator of the Mary Zimmerman scholarship fund for those whose needs, ability, and personality made them eligible.

Was it worth while—this living day by day with other people's problems, I asked.

Judge for yourself. A letter has come from a captain in the medical corps—the first recipient of the Mary Zimmerman scholarship. He wrote that he didn't "tell at the time how much that money meant to me," and sent $200 as a gift, in tribute to Aunt Mary, from a far-away lonely island in the Pacific.

1st District Clubs of Federation Will Hold Open Meeting

With Mrs. David C. Slagle presiding, first district of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs will hold its first fall open meeting and luncheon today at the Hotel Sherman. At the morning session, beginning at 10 o'clock, work of the Braille musical club, an affiliated group where membership is comprised of persons with impaired sight, will be discussed. A skit will be presented under Mrs. Harvey Martling's direction depicting district activities. Mrs. Walter M. Rennie, president of the state federation, will speak in the afternoon.

Invited as special guests are Mrs. Rennie, Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, Mrs. Fred R. Lufkin, Mrs. O. A. Rosborough, Miss Dorothy Dohrman, Mrs. John H. Jennings, and J. Bradley Griffin, instructor of the district's public speaking class. Hostess groups include the Bohemian Woman's Civic club, Chicago Woman's Ideal club, Half Century Civic club, "I Will" club, Prairie State club and the Protestant Woman's Protectorate. Mrs. Robert L. Holmes arranged the luncheon.

Party Dresses Again Flashing with Sequins

BY REA SEEGER.

Sequined party dresses, short and slim, are not new—nor are they old if they're of this year's vintage. Wearing them for all informal occasions, especially dinners and parties with an escort in uniform, is good strategy. They're ideal for theater clothes, and for Sunday night suppers and many are wide enough of skirt to double for dancing dates. Shimmering and glinting in the artificial lights, very simple of silhouette, short of sleeve, and sometimes softened with airy bows of tulle or net, these are siren models for every personality.

You'll find the collections at peak interest now. The wicked looking all blacks take definite precedence over colors, with dark brown and deep old gold and scarlet following in that order of shopping popularity. Sequins, paillettes, and bugle bead embroidery must be worked with skilled and knowing fingers, otherwise the results invariably are circus spangled costumes. Made by experienced needlewomen, these flickering dresses become models of distinction and good taste. Many are sequined in front panels. In a few models the entire dress is alive with thousands of flashing tiny sequins or paillettes, but there are dozens of beautifully made costumes with discreet contrast of these sequin lights as in bands, sleeves, yokes, and peplums.

Rather less ornate are the dress-up clothes, made of dull crepe, and then contrasted with lace motifs, the pattern of lace outlined with embroidery of sequin or bugle beads. The lace is used for deep vee yokes, flattering large bows, and flared simulated peplums. If you crave the flashing flicker of sequined dresses, now is the time to choose the particular dress that best suits your wardrobe or use of clothes allowance.

'Strange Affair' Just One More Comic Mystery

"STRANGE AFFAIR."

A Columbia picture, directed by Alfred E. Green, with Allyn Joslyn, Evelyn Keyes, Marguerite Chapman, Edgar Buchanan, and presented at the Oriental.

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

If, some Wednesday or Friday night, you chance to miss "Mr. and Mrs. North" or "The Thin Man" on the radio, just chase out to the corner movie and see "Strange Affair." It's the same difference.

In this one the Sherlock minded husband is a comic strip artist [Allyn Joslyn], creator of "Ace Dean, Super-Detective." His hare-brained wife [Evelyn Keyes] is interested in a function to raise money for refugees. After lengthy preliminary shenanigans designed to produce laughter—maybe I'm deaf—the banquet comes off, and, in the midst of the festivities, the guest of honor keels over, dead as a doornail. You know how it goes after that.

The nosy artist snoops, his wife gets under everybody's feet, the police pooh-pooh everything that isn't as plain as the nose on your face, and the causa mortis turns out to be copper thiacide, which, as far as this department is concerned, you will have to take on faith.

"BOWERY CHAMPS."

A Monogram picture, directed by William Beaudine, with the East Side Kids (Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall, Gabriel Dell, Billy Benedict, and Bobby Jordan), Jim Strand, and Ann Shirley, and presented at the Grand.

Murder, a wronged woman, the East Side Kids, horseplay, a cub reporter descended from Mrs. Malaprop, a newspaper office unlike any [maybe they are like that in New York], a city editor out of this world, abysmal comedy, a wild pursuit thru heavy traffic—these are the ingredients of this concoction. And if our Mary Meade ever put out a recipe like that they would call her Lucrezia Borgia.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., Nov. 5.—Did David Selznick, William Goetz and Ed Raftery go all the way to Santa Barbara just to look at the scenery? I reported some time ago that they'd get together for a merger to take over United Artists. This sounds like that merger. It may take a couple of months to smooth everything out and settle a couple of lawsuits with Charles Chaplin, but eventually Selznick, Goetz, and Raftery will be under one banner. And it can't happen too soon for Goetz. . . . Ruth Hussey does "Bedside Manner" for Andrew Stone. . . . Alexander Korda arrives in New York the end of November. Then we'll see what we shall see. . . . Wonder why Judy Garland is so upset about Lucille Bremer's star-billing in "Ziegfeld Follies"? Sure, Lucille is surrounded by lots of top stars—she's good, too. But it will be a long time before anybody equals Judy's performance and quality in "Meet Me in St. Louis." . . . Gasoline Alley, comic strip, may see the screen via radio.

Newcomer in Filmy Things.

It's Adele Jergens in "A Thousand and One Nights" and not Maria Montez, as some one else reported. I'm told Adele looks mighty tasty in those diaphanous things. . . . Allyn Joslyn was all set to play Capt. Purvis in "A Bell for Adano," but he wrenched his back and will be laid up. Young Frank Dunne is set to do it. He's the son of James Dunne of the Abbey Players. . . . It could only happen here. Our No. 1 screen gangster, Edward G. Robinson, has turned Wisconsin farmer to play the father of Margaret O'Brien in "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes." . . . No one can deny Sylvia Sydney's a swell actress. She's proving it daily with James Cagney in "Blood on the Sun." . . . I hope Harry Cohn signs Fanny Ward for a picture. I think she'd surprise with the number of fans and friends who'd like to see her again. . . .

Why Be Afraid?

I ran an item the other day about doing a picture about the Jews. It seems that the same boys who did "Humoresque" and "The Jazz Singer" are now afraid to put a Jewish story on the screen. Paramount owns one of the greatest stories ever written. It's "Yonder Lies Jericho," and it could be the "Going My Way" of the Jewish religion. It's about a human being who happens to be a Jew, who came to this country at the turn of the century, went to Oklahoma, opened a store there, and thru that character you get everything that happens in that community. . . . Mrs. Robert Hutton is recovering from an appendectomy in New York. . . . Bertha Case joined husband Frank [Algonquin] Case at Doctor's hospital. . . . James McHugh has a friend who planted an Australian victory garden. Everything stayed down under.

Plushy Era Lives Again.

Greer Garson is superb as old Mrs. Parkington. The picture will clean up. Performances I particularly went for were those by Cecil Kellaway, Agnes Moorehead, Selena Royle, and Walter Pidgeon. But the best of the lot was Gladys Cooper. . . . Edward Sutherland and Hal Wallis are huddling over the "Life of Wilson Mizner." 'Twould make a fabulous picture. . . . John Johnston, no longer under contract to Paramount, can do many things well, but modesty is not his charm. John introduced "Black Magic" in "Star Spangled Rhythm." Bing Crosby also sang a ditty in that, but Johnny knew his song was good. Commiserating with Bing he said, "Sorry, but they gave me that song to sing." Said Bing, "You did it mighty well, too. But don't worry about me. I do pretty well on the radio."

It's Still a Free Country.

Bill and Frank, who own that market which I wrote up the other day because they were campaigning for Dewey, had their Dewey-Bricker banner pulled down and all their pictures swiped. But has it stopped the boys? Huh-uh. They just talk louder and longer. . . . George Jessel, producing "Dolly Sisters," will act in it, too. If you can keep Jessel from acting you're a better man than either Zanuck or Schenck. . . . Monty Banks, Gracie Field's husband, gets another acting job in "A Bell for Adano." . . . Laura Wilck sold a first play by Effie Young called "Never Say Never." She is a young newspaper woman from Jersey [pardon me — New Jersey]. Richard Kollmer will produce it in New York, and part of the backing comes from Metro. The leading part is perfect for Margaret O'Brien, and she will no doubt do it on the screen. . . . Judd McMichael of the Merry Macs claims that when an actor has a birthday he takes a day off, but an actress takes a year off.

'The Key' . . . . . By Patricia Wentworth

INSTALMENT XLIII.

ONE SUSPECT ELIMINATED.

Miss Silver looked serious.

"Mr. Madoc's temper is regrettable, and he has very bad manners, but fundamentally, he is, I believe, an acutely sensitive person who is afraid of being hurt. His temper and his rudeness are a kind of protective armor."

Frank Abbott looked astonished. Then he laughed.

"And you dug him out of his armor like a winkle out of its shell! Well, what about those papers? Where are they?"

"I may say that Mr. Madoc displayed a good deal of intelligence. When not clouded by passion, his reasoning powers are excellent. Like Janice Meade, he was unable to believe that Mr. Harsch had committed suicide. If he had been murdered, the motive which immediately sprang to mind was the possession of the notes and formula of harschite. He collected everything that he could find and went into Marbury by an early train on Wednesday morning. He was not sure what powers the war office might have. He wanted to see a solicitor, and he wanted time to consider his position—as a pacifist, as a government employe, and as Mr. Harsch's executor."

"What did he do?"

"He visited a local solicitor, Mr. Merevale, after which he proceeded to the Marbury branch of Lloyds bank, where he handed in a large sealed envelope for safe custody."

"Then the papers are at Lloyds?"

"The envelope contained nothing but blank foolscap but on his way home he called at the general post-office and registered a second envelope addressed to the head office of the bank in London—a very intelligent move. The papers are there."

"Has any one told you that there was an attempt to burgle the Marbury branch on Saturday night?"

Miss Silver said, "Dear me!" And then, "I am not surprised. How providential that the papers, thanks to Mr. Madoc's foresight, were in London."

"How strange that you should ask me that. We had time for quite a nice long chat whilst we were waiting for you, and he informed me quite of his own accord that he had come to the conclusion that as Mr. Harsch's agent he was bound to act as Mr. Harsch himself would have acted, quite irrespective of his own convictions."

"And you had nothing to do with it, I suppose! It's a fascinating subject, but we mustn't dally. I want to talk about Madoc's statement. I haven't had time to think it out yet, but if he's right about the distances, then Bush is out of the running as far as Harsch is concerned. And Madoc being out of the running for Ezra Pincott, that leaves us with the person who left the church yard on the green side with Ezra hot in pursuit.

"That is so."

"Well then, where do we go from there?"

"With the chief inspector's approval, I would suggest a further interrogation of Gladys and Sam. They went for a walk around the green, probably entering the church yard at some time after 10 minutes to 10. Gladys says she did not take any notice of whether there was a shot or not, which points to their being at some distance from the church at the time. They must have got there after Bush, as they did not see him enter the church. Now I would like very much to know whether they started out for their walk by the road which passes the houses, or whether they took the round in reverse and came back that way. If this was the case, I think it possible that they may have met the person Mr. Madoc did not recognize."

"Wouldn't they have said?"

"Anything very familiar may easily be disregarded. I think it is possible that Gladys and Samuel might have encountered some one whom it would be quite natural to see at that time and in that place without really noticing them at all. There is a pillar box just opposite the rectory gate. If, let us say, Mrs. Mottram, Dr. Edwards, Miss Doncaster, Mr. Everton, or the rector, were observed either coming or going between his or her own house and this pillar box, what would be the natural conclusion?"

Frank looked dubious.

"I should have thought they would have mentioned seeing some one."

"Have you found that village people are at all apt to volunteer information? That is not my experience. They may, or may not, answer a direct question, but they rarely volunteer anything. We have to deal with good natured, artless young people, and I think a direct question or two might elicit the facts."

"It shall be done. Now what about these times? They run pretty fine. I'd like to go over them with you." He got out his notebook. "I've roughed it out here from the statements. Some of the less important times are guess work.

"8:50—Cyril gets out of the window.

"9:20—Cyril to cut [approximate].

"9:30—Medora Brown to cut.

"9:31—Madoc to cut. Row between them. Organ still playing. No evidence that it was heard after this.

"9:34—Exit Medora to house, and Madoc with key.

"9:35—Cyril to bed.

"Now this is where Madoc's statement comes in."

He wrote upon the opposite page, and then read out what he had written:

"9:43 approx.—Madoc reënters cut. Ezra already there.

"9:45—Harsch is shot, on the second chime of the quarter."

He looked up.

"Madoc says he stood where he was until the third chime had gone. Says he didn't see Ezra till after that. He thinks they both of them waited as long again before they moved. Then he saw Ezra run, and come to the door and open it. Now how long would that take? Say 20 seconds before either of them moves, and 20 seconds for Ezra to reach the door and get it open. Well, there he is, looking in—and it's 40 seconds since the shot was fired. What has the murderer to do in that 40 seconds? He has fired the shot, and Harsch is dead. He's got to wipe the pistol, get Harsch's finger prints on it, let it drop, and scoot back the way he came. None of that would take more than 40 seconds, would it? Ezra might have seen him coming out of the church. But he doesn't see Ezra—he wouldn't have come out of the church if he had. He runs for the gate onto the green. He hears Ezra running, but he gets to the gate and slams it. But Ezra has recognized him, and presently he tries a spot of blackmail and gets bumped off. So now we don't know who the murderer was. I don't think it was Madoc, because—A—it would be absolutely pointless for him to incriminate himself by saying he came back if all the rest of it was a string of lies; and—B—he certainly didn't kill Ezra, because he was under lock and key in Marbury jail." He looked up and grinned. "Nice to have something you can feel sure about, isn't it?"

*No previous rating this season.
Program replaced by political speech.
†Rating includes 6 minutes of a speech by President Roosevelt.

Ratings are based on 2500 telephone calls per hour made from 6 PM to 10:30 PM in 32 cities. National ratings computed for programs heard in certain areas after 10:30 PM local time.

Dinah For Two

The show was over, and radio's sultry songstress, Dinah Shore, returned to her Brittany battlefield tent to relax.

It was then she overheard two GI's bemoaning the fact that they had jeeped 60 miles only to miss the show.

FM for 100,000,000

Far More listening pleasure will be coming your way after the war through FM (Frequency Modulation) broadcasting. Approximately 50 FM stations are now in operation, and requests are on file for 210 more—requests from all parts of the country. When these 210 applications become FM stations and they join forces with those already in existence, FM broadcasting will be available to more than 100,000,000 people.

And if you're to get the fullest measure of enjoyment from FM radio, be sure you choose Majestic. For into Majestic will go the skill of engineers who have had years of experience in building good radios, together with the best in new radio features that have come out of the war—many of which are the result of Majestic's own war research.

Enjoy the full, rich tones, the refreshing newness, the greater range and depth of FM's static-free reception through Majestic—the name that means radio at its best.

The top five in October daytime Hooperatings are: 1st, When a Girl Marries; 2nd, Kate Smith Speaks; 3rd, Our Gal Sunday; 4th, Big Sister; and 5th, Romance of Helen Trent.

Radio Gets a New Star

Remember the bashful fellow with the tortoise-shell eye-glasses who got into more funny situations than a playful puppy? Sure, Harold Lloyd! Well, Harold made his radio debut Sunday, Oct. 29, and will be heard every week in a new radio show called, Comedy Theatre of the Air. Radio adaptations of famous screen and stage farces will be presented with Lloyd as producer and narrator.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

I am unalterably opposed to mirrors in the kitchen. If there's a mirror there, you'll look into it. And probably you'll see that your nose is shiny and your hair needs smoothing. Heaven forbid that you make up your face or comb your hair anywhere in the vicinity of food—but if there's a mirror, you're tempted!

Hair in the food is a homemaker's horror. Many women work in the kitchen with their hair in nets or tied or pinned back firmly, but too many of them do not. That accounts for many a stray hair in the gravy.

In very few home kitchens are the rules of sanitation as rigid as they should be, but I'm inclined to think that the real offenders in sanitation these days are restaurants. In two popular and reputable eating places last week I had unhappy experiences. In one there was a hair in the fish casserole; in the other a child in the party was given milk in a lipstick-rimmed glass.

There is something to be said from the restaurant's point of view. Help is scarce, and in many cases inexperienced. More people are eating out in these rationed days. Establishments are crowded with hungry, impatient diners; food supplies and waitress' tempers run out. Yet none of this is excuse for lack of sanitation.

We are getting used to standing in line for tables, and to waiting for service in restaurants. We don't mind taking substitutes when the food runs out. We'll do without butter and sugar, too, and give up our places promptly to others when we're finished, but if the silver has dried food upon it, or the glass is stained with lipstick, or if somebody's loosened hair has fallen into the stew—then we have a right to be indignant.

Too many waitresses run about with long, loose, bushy hair, and too many cooks and food servers do not restrain their locks. There is inefficient dishwashing and, I suspect, lack of proper sterilization of dishes in many eating places.

I've heard many business persons complain recently about rudeness on the part of waiters and waitresses in restaurants which before the war were pleasant places to eat. Rudeness may in some instances be the result of an unavoidably large load being carried by one worker. It takes the disposition of an angel to wait on a dozen impatient persons at once without getting snappish.

But is there any excuse at all for that hair in the food?

Apple, Carrot, and Celery Salad
Whole Wheat Bread
Vanilla Pudding with Jam Centers
Milk Coffee or Tea

*Braised Pork Chops with Prunes—Rub four 1 inch pork chops well with a mixture of 3 tablespoons catsup, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, and ½ teaspoon salt. Brown slowly in hot lard about 15 minutes. Simmer ¼ pound prunes with ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, 3 whole cloves, ½ tablespoon vinegar, ½ cup water, and 3 tablespoons honey about 15 minutes. Pour over chops, cover pan, and simmer gently until pork is well done, about 45 minutes.

Review by Prof. Sweet.

William Warren Sweet, author and professor in the divinity school of the University of Chicago, will review his new book, "Revivalism in America" at the 12:15 p. m. book hour on Thursday in the Chicago Public library.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE.

Scrambled Oysters.
[Serves four to six.]

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup small oysters
6 eggs, slightly beaten
6 tablespoons top milk
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup cooked celery
2 tablespoons chili sauce
4 to 6 slices toast
Crisp Bacon

Cook oysters in butter until edges curl up, about 3 minutes. Meanwhile combine eggs, top milk, salt, and celery. Add to oysters in pan and cook as for scrambled eggs. Add chili sauce just before removing from heat. Serve on toast with garnish of bacon.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

If a Rip Van Winkle football fan had been fortunate enough to crowd in among the 45,553 mad spectators in Wrigley field yesterday he would have muttered in the delirious setting, "Same old Bears. . . . Looks like they've got another title. . . ."

As long as they were on the muddy field they were the same old Bears for the 53d performance in their 24 year old gridiron feud with the Green Bay Packers—but how was Rip to know that the 21 to 0 defeat only slowed up the north men's dash to the National Football league's western championship?

Bears Relish Spoilers Role.

The Bears knew they were too far back in the race to block the Packers' rush to their first western crown since 1939, but never did a team more enjoy its spoiler's role. The Packers had played 66 consecutive league games without suffering a shutout and their peerless end and scorer, Don Hutson, had picked up points in 41 straight contests. Into the Green Bay wreckage went coach Curly Lambeau's hope for his team's first undefeated, untied campaign. The Packers had won six straight, and No. 2 in the series was their 42 to 28 crusher over the Bears in Green Bay last September.

Sid Luckman's crafty engineering job, plus two touchdown passes, put the Bears in second place with three victories, two defeats and a tie. The Packers, with the New York Giants, Cleveland Rams, and Card-Pitts on their calling list, must win two of those three to clinch the title if the Bears take their remaining four contests.

There was the normal amount of mayhem which these battles bring. Al Grygo, Rudy Smeja, and Tony Canadeo were assisted from the field with injuries. Near the finish, Gary Famiglietti and Canadeo squared off in front of the Bears' bench and aimed a few harmless swings before being separated. The Bears won in the penalty department, too, with 15 for 109 to the Packers' 10 for 102. This really made them kings for the day.

Bears Keep Hutson Covered.

The Bears, as tho they knew a victory was foreordained, tore into their opponents at the start. They kept them off balance most of the way, intercepting four of 22 passes, and had the right answers when big Ted Fritsch and his supporting cast of runners tried to power and sift thru the line. Hutson speared a few throws, but in the main he was the victim of a fine covering job, with rookie Bob Margarita especially brilliant in knocking down the pitches of Tony Canadeo and Irving Comp.

Green Bay's air attack profited by only three yards. Canadeo and Comp tried 22 passes, of which only eight were completed for 97 yards. The four passes snatched by Bears were run back for 94 yards. On the ground, the befuddled visitors were able to muster only 49 yards. The Bears' ledger showed 129 yards by rushing and 182 by passing on Luckman's 11 successes in 23 pitches. This gave the upsetters a yardage superiority of 311 to 146.

Fordham Starts Bears on Way.

Taking the kickoff, the Bears quickly moved into Packer territory, with Jim Fordham, a surprise nominee at full back over Gary Famiglietti, striking for 16 yards on the first play. He wound up as the hottest man on the field with the ball, getting 74 yards in 11 carrying jobs. This first rally was eliminated when the Packers recovered the first of three Bear fumbles, this one by Johnny Long.

Next the Bears started out on their 29 when Fritsch punted out of bounds. The finish of this 71 yard scoring raid, which came exactly at the 10 minute mark, was Luckman's one yard plunge at center. It was the 13th play of the series, the smashing attack being interrupted only by two successful passes. One was a daring play on fourth down with the ball on the Packer 37—a screen pass to Capt. George Wilson

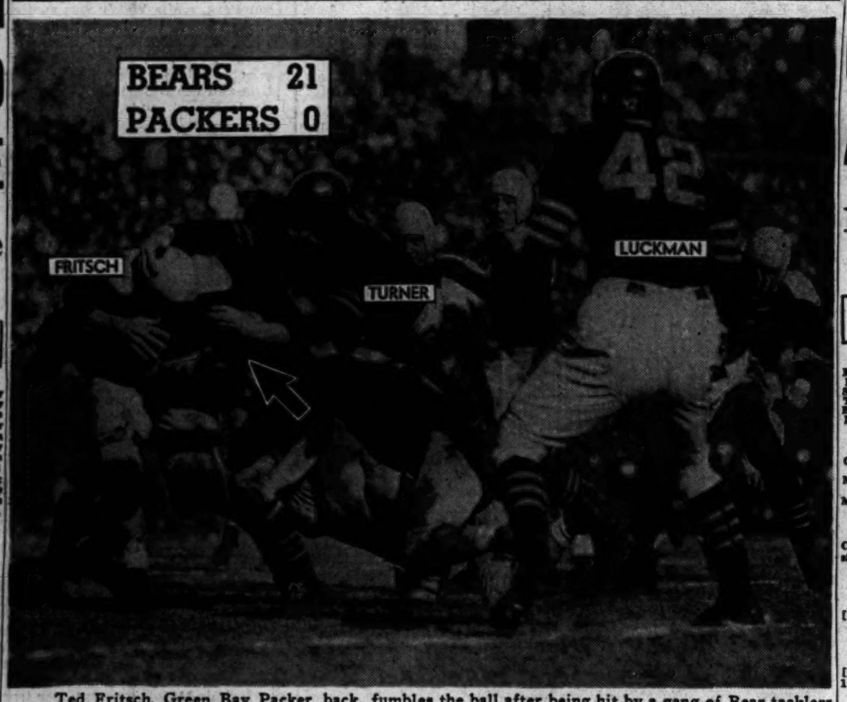
FRITSCH FUMBLES AT LINE OF SCRIMMAGE



Ted Fritsch, Green Bay Packer back, fumbles the ball after being hit by a gang of Bear tacklers on reaching line of scrimmage during yesterday's National Football league game in Wrigley field. The Bears won, 21 to 0, the Packers suffering their first league defeat of the season. A crowd of 45,553 saw the game. [Acme Photo.]

REDSKINS CHECK RAM RALLY FOR 14 TO 10 TRIUMPH

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—The Washington Redskins beat off a last minute rally by the Cleveland Rams today to defeat the Rams, 14 to 10, before a capacity crowd of 35,540.

Frankie Filchock flipped two second period passes for Washington's scores. The first, to End Less Dye, was good for 61 yards. End Joe Aguirre took a 25 yard toss in the end zone for the other Redskin touchdown.

Cleveland scored first on Lou Zontinini's 23 yard field goal in the opening period, and again in the fourth quarter when Harvey Jones dodged around Washington's right end on a 36 yard gallop into the end zone.

EAGLES WIN, 21-7.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP).—Steve Van Buren, the football moving van who played in the Louisiana State back field a year ago, gave a display of broken field running today as he and his Philadelphia Eagle mates defeated the Brooklyn Tigers, 21 to 7, in a National Football league game.

Van Buren cut to his right before reversing his field and sprinting 44 yards for the Eagles' first touchdown in the opening quarter. A few minutes later the identical formation was good for 71 yards and another touchdown. The Eagles struck for their third touchdown in the second period on a pass and run play that went 54 yards, Roy Zimmerman flipping 33 yards to Mel Bleeker who then galloped 21 yards.

CARD-PITTS LOSE, 27-6.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 5 (AP).—The Detroit Lions, paced by Frankie Sinkwich, Bob Westfall, and Art Van Tone, won their second National Football league contest today, defeating the Pittsburgh Steeler-Chicago Cardinal combination, 27 to 6.

Detroit counted three touchdowns in the first 9 minutes of the game, played in a driving snowstorm. After that, it was a fairly even battle, the Card-Pitts avoiding a shutout by scoring at the start of the last period on an 8 yard pass from Grigas to End Tony Bova.

GIANTS ROUT YANKS, 31-0.

New York, Nov. 5 (AP).—The New York Giants powered their way on the ground for three touchdowns, added another thru the air and put in a field goal for good measure today to overwhelm the Boston Yanks, 31 to 0, in a National Football league game at the Polo Grounds.

Jim Fordham Shows 'Em—for Georgia!

Jim Fordham.

Jim Fordham, 27, five years out of football, a drawling son of the south, was the Bears' big hero in a post-mortem of their 21 to 0 rout of the Packers yesterday in Wrigley field.

Al Grygo, a synthetic southerner, started the buildup Friday night after a squad meeting.

"They never did play good football in Georgia," Al told big Jim, a 220 pounder who had three varsity campaigns with the University of Georgia. Grygo was talking as a South Carolinian with Pennsylvania, and this apparently made an impersion on Jim.

Driscoll Rates It Best Full Back Job Since '41.

This was to be a big day for Gary Famiglietti, the Bears' 230 pound full back, who had notched almost 100 yards the previous Sunday against the Cleveland Rams. But the Bears seldom start Gary and yesterday's strategy called for Fordham to go in there and take the early bumps. But the Georgian, whose home town is Savannah, was so devastating that Famiglietti spent most of the day on the bench.

"He gave us the best full back job since the days of Norm Standlee in 1941," was Back Field Coach Paddy Driscoll's comment. "I lost track of the tackles he made in backing up the line. And I really felt sorry for those Packers as the big fellow blasted thru the line."

One Italian Invites Another Out of Bounds.

When Famiglietti finally did get in at full back it led to the game's most ludicrous incident.

It was late in the battle and during a mixup on a Bear blast into the line, Famiglietti and Tony Canadeo, two lads of Italian extraction, had a verbal tete-a-tete. All of a sudden they were making wild swing at each other.

In explanation, Gary said: "No one can call me a dumb dago, least of all a guy named Canadeo, and that's what I told him."

To avoid further rancor, the Bears immediately removed Gary, but only after he had invited Tony, an army sergeant on furlough, to step out of bounds.

"If we get out here, they can't fine us," said Gary in explaining his challenge.

THIRD AIR FORCE BEATS GEORGIA PRE-FLIGHT, 34-12

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 5 (AP). — Charley Trippi spearheaded the Third Air Force Gremlins to a 34 to 12 victory over Georgia Pre-Flight in a spectacular football battle today. Trippi whirled thru a host of tacklers in the first period for a 33 yard score and in the second quarter he hurled a 13 yard scoring pass to End Henry Piro.

Georgia Pre-Flight scored its first touchdown in the second period, and a 20 yard pass from Trippi to Ernie Bonelli gave the Gremlins their third touchdown in the third period.

A pass by Frank Granitz to Ted Cook produced the Gremlins' fourth touchdown, and a lateral, Frank Gnup to Bob Kennedy, resulted in their fifth score.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5 [Special].—The Great Lakes football powerhouse had little trouble in racking up its sixth victory of the season today, rolling over an outmanned Marquette university eleven, 45 to 7, before 12,000 fans in the Hilltop stadium.

Two identical 65 yard touchdown drives in the first quarter gave Great Lakes an early 13 to 0 lead. In each march Half Back Eddie Saenz and Full Back Jim Mello provided the midfield yardage, and each time Quarter Back Jim Youel sent a long pass to Half Back Chuck Avery on the 1 yard line. Then, to make the pattern perfect, Avery scored both touchdowns on second down tries.

Mello Intercepts Pass.

Marquette thereupon attempted passes from its own territory and one of them, rifled by Jerry Benka toward Frank Kosikowsi, was intercepted by Mello who galloped 30 yards to the end zone and the sailors led at the end of the first quarter, 19 to 0.

The second quarter was only minutes old when Half Back Don Mangold of Great Lakes intercepted another of Benka's passes to set up a 67 yard scoring parade. A pass, Al Vogt to Mangold, took Great Lakes to the Marquette 28 and from there Gene Delaney, formerly of Mount Carmel, Chicago, scored around left end.

Telk Scores for Marquette.

Half Back Paul Copoulos of Marquette returned the ensuing kick-off 64 yards to the Great Lakes 20. Benka added a first down on the 6, and Full Back Bob Telk scored.

Delaney's 3 yard plunge climaxed a 60 yard Bluejacket drive near the end of the half, and Earl Teixeira and Paul Crosby added Great Lakes' touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Boston Bruins, previously slapped down in Montreal, Detroit, and Toronto last night found Chicago contrastingly hospitable. The Bruins had to exert themselves only mildly to beat the Blackhawks, 6 to 3, for the first Boston success of the National Hockey league season.

Another big Sunday night Stadium crowd, 16,707, appeared to be grievously disappointed at this second failure of our boys, tho only a dozen or so of the old time hoodlums demonstrated inability to take it. The hoodlums, perhaps fretting for President Bill Tobin's annual jail house party, showered the rink with pennies, a practice good fans, even tho they may be crazy about paper airplanes, deem not only assinine but highly dangerous to the players.

The game was in charge of a referee new to Chicago, George Gravel. He seemed to know his stuff and several of his riot provoking decisions clearly were supported by the rules. Poor George had quite a time of it, and held his poise in good shape.

Old Timers Come Thru.

Boston, like the Hawks, have some players who are not ready for major league hockey even in its war time false face. But they depended last night on old timers like Herb Cain and Bill Cowley, who know all the answers in any hockey company.

Cain, who set the National league all-time record for scoring last season with 36-46-82, scored three goals last night. Cowley, rated one of the greatest playmakers in hockey history, made two goals and three assists.

Defensively the Bruins relied on a neophyte—and a good one. Harvey Bennett, a tall kid not long out of junior hockey ranks, played a fine game at goal. Unlike Goalie Mike Karakas, he had adequate protection during most threats. Karakas, in a sort of solo defense performance, was spectacular at times.

Play Champions Thursday.

The Hawks scored once in each period. In the first period Lude Check tallied on assists from Harvey Fraser and Fido Purpur to tie the score at 1-all. Purpur, assisted by Fraser, tallied in the second period to set the score at Boston, 3; Chicago, 2. Thirty seconds before the game ended, Fraser scored the third Hawk goal, assisted by Check and Red Mitchell.

The Hawks will play their first road game of the season Thursday night, meeting the world champion Canadiens in Montreal. O, goodness gracious!

Is This God's World?

When I have fears the world has gone awry
And ponder o'er the state of man's affairs;
When "kill and kill" becomes the battle cry
I bow my head in silent, fervent prayers.
Is this the world God labor'd to create—
A world engulfed with seas of crimson hue?
I think of wars and wonder if too late
Will grass be moist with only morning dew.
And yet in strife emerges love and hope—
And sacrifice and faith and comradeship.
These things for which we foolish mortals grope
Are here at last within our very grip.
O, God, I pray we hold these virtues fast,
So peace on earth will be mankind's at last! —Arnold Kirschen.

The start of intellectual decline
Is never quite apparent in our looks,
Perhaps the first distinguishable sign
Is when we lose all interest in books;
Books keep our minds alert. Thru reading we
May meet the greatest thinkers of our day
And even spend weeks in their company
Whetting our intellect for mental fray.
Or we may travel o'er the seven seas
And satisfy our wanderlust desire,
Visiting distant places as we please
The while we sit in comfort by the fire;
But when at last all reading we disdain
Our mental life is clearly on the wane. T. E. B.

6 DAY CHARITY EVENT OPENS AT SPORTSMAN'S

Tribune to Sponsor Final Turf Meet.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Thorobred racing in Chicago, artistically and financially the most successful in the long history of the sport, enters its final week today at Sportsman's Park. There will be six days of competition sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., the organization which, with the cooperation of all five Chicago tracks, raised $400,800.04 for distribution to service and welfare funds during the summer meeting at Washington Park.

All indications point to continuance of the record parimutuel handles marking the Cicero half mile track's fall meeting which ended Saturday, according to John L. Keeshin, president of the National Jockey club, agents for the charity session. The weather will be a factor, of course, but Keeshin expects good crowds thruout the week in view of the public's strong support of charity programs in the past.

Precedent Set in 1943.

In the spring of 1943 the Chicago Tribune Charities sponsored a week of racing at Sportsman's Park and the net proceeds amounted to $82,780.05 despite particularly bad weather. President Keeshin closed the 1943 season with a week for charitable endeavors and $185,321.97 was realized. Then came the banner offering this year at Washington Park as Sportsman's Park, Arlington Park, Washington Park, Lincoln Fields, and Hawthorne each gave up one of its regular dates to provide five days of racing for THE TRIBUNE'S meeting.

Besides these contributions, the Chicago tracks this year have turned over the net proceeds of designated holidays so that the area's aid to charity by the time this week's meeting closes will be well over $800,000 and may reach $900,000.

Betting Hits Record Total.

Two days of racing at Sportsman's Park last week also were devoted to charity. The track acted as agents Friday and Saturday for the National Jockey Welfare fund, which is to divide the net proceeds from these two days among designated Chicago charities. The track handle Friday, during an incessant rain, was $555,829. Saturday, altho the weather was chilly, 13,213 patrons poured $814,970 into the mutuel windows.

Saturday's handle of $814,970 brought the total betting for the 1944 regular fall meeting to $11,763,324, which toppled all records for the popular Cicero half miler.

Two Handicap Races Listed.

Racing Secretary Pat Galliger has arranged the same brand of racing for this week that marked the cards during the 16 day regular meeting. The minimum purse will be $1,200, allowances races mark each day's card, while two handicap races—$2,500 and $3,000 events—will mark next Saturday's card.

The $2,000 war bond race for jockey honors, which still finds the Chicago youngster, Bruno Pucci, out in front, will continue thru this week, while $50 war bonds will be awarded to trainers who send out winners in races of a mile or longer.

AL ZARILLA OF BROWNS REPORTS FOR ARMY DUTY

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 5 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns reported today that three of their players, including one member of the 1944 squad, have been inducted into the services since the end of the season.

They are Al Zarilla, alternate left fielder; Paul Dean, who pitched this season for Little Rock, and Bill Seinsoth, a pitcher recalled from Toledo just before the season ended.

for 14 yards. Fordham moved it to the 8 on a split buck over left guard. Grygo got up to the 5, and Fordham put it on the 1 where Luckman decided the simplest play of all was his own quarterback sneak. Pete Gudauskas, who added all the extra points, kicked the first of two footballs over the bleachers to the screaming accompaniment of the spectators.

Bears Take Five Penalties.

That was all the scoring in the first half, but just before the opening quarter ended, the Bears took five successive penalties in a grim attempt to retain possession until the period closed, so that they might escape punting into the brisk north wind. But in the end they had to punt and Doug McEnulty's kick rolled out on the Chicago 33.

The major play in a scoreless second quarter was Luckman's 63 yard quick kick which rolled out on Green Bay's 7. This followed two big delays in the Bears' attack. Grygo, trapped on a sweep, had the presence of mind to throw a pass which Wilson caught on Green Bay's 31, but it was nullified because the Bears had an ineligible man down field.

Interception Balks Threat.

Twice in the period the Packers moved down to the Bears' 31. From that point, the Packers first moved menacingly, bent on tying up the game. Comp hurled passes to Hutson for 16 and 10 yards, which set the Bears back on their 43. Then Canadeo took Comp's pitch for 12. This dangerous situation ended with the first of the Bears' two man interceptions. Margarita deflected a pass intended for Hutson, and Ray McLean, back of the pair, caught it on his 8 and sped up the west sidelines to his 44.

The Bears were moving when Charley Brock recovered Fordham's fumble on the Packer 47. A holding penalty hurt the Packers and McLean returned a punt 19 yards to the Chicago 43. When Joe Laws fumbled Luckman's punt, Rudy Smeja fell on it on the Packers' 26. This was nullified when Comp intercepted Luckman's pass and raced 43 yards to the Bears' 43. Green Bay drove to the 31, but this second tying effort ended when Margarita speared Comp's pass on the Chicago 8, the Bears holding the ball until the half ended.

McLean Catches Scoring Pass.

Penalties forced both teams to kick in the early stages of the third quarter and after a punt exchange the Packers started from their 20. Canadeo's return kick was taken by Grygo, who ran 11 yards to the Chicago 46.

At this juncture, with a lull in penalties, the Bears drove for a first down on the Green Bay 41, with Fordham and Margarita running. Luckman missed on a pass to Wilson, but hit Connie Berry for 10 yards. On the next play, Sid arched a pass toward the goal posts. McLean, dashing between the poles, made an astounding catch over the goal while three Packers, Canadeo, Charley Brock, and Hutson frantically tried to bat down the ball. The time on this one was 11:44.

Another Double Interception.

After the kick-off the Bears pulled another double interception. Comp sailed a long one down the field, which Margarita deflected away from Hutson. This time Grygo was Johnny-on-the-spot, snatching the ball and dashing 22 yards to the Green Bay 44.

Famiglietti drove for 4 and the Bears got an additional 5 when the Packers were offside. Luckman warmed up with an 11 yard heave to Margarita, who stepped out on the 24. On second down, Sid hurled again. This time Wilson made a one hand catch on the 14. Twice he shook himself loose from tacklers, and went over standing up with only 12 seconds of the period remaining.

Fritsch Shaken Up on Play.

It was in the fourth period that the intense feeling among the rivals flared into the open. Fritsch was shaken up on a play after the Packers had made their initial first down on the half. A 14 yard pitch from Canadeo to Hutson carried to the Chicago 34.

Laws smashed to the 30 and this was the deepest penetration of the game for the Packers. Then came three unsuccessful passes. The Bears, still hungry for more points, reached Green Bay territory in three plays—a 9 yard buck by Fordham, a 7 yard gain by Luckman, which certainly was rubbing it in, and Grygo's 9 yard bolt off right tackle to the 44. A holding penalty interrupted the drive, but Grygo caught a pass on the next play and ran to the Green Bay 43. This is where Al was hurt. The fourth touchdown looked awfully close when Berry snared Luckman's pass on the 24. At the 12 he was tackled and fumbled, Bob Flowers recovering. Bulldog Turner smashed Don Perkins on the 8, picked up his fumble, and trotted over, but the ball was dead and the score disallowed.

Laws Thwarts Final Scoring Bid.

Later, when Long was held for no gain, the Bears thought the Packers were guilty of piling on the ball carrier. This is where Famiglietti and Canadeo squared off and started swinging. Laws stopped the Bears' final touchdown bid by intercepting Luckman's pass on the goal line and running back to his 22. Statistics:

NECAXA LOSES 4 TO 3 OVERTIME SOCCER BATTLE

BY OFFSIDE.

The Swedish-Americans defeated Necaxa, 4 to 3, and the Sparta and Hokoah-Centers teams battled to a 3 to 3 tie in Sparta stadium yesterday in semi-final round games in the B division of the National Soccer league's cup competition.

Each game was tied at the finish of the regulation 90 minutes of playing time. The Swedish-Americans and Necaxa were able to break a 2 to 2 deadlock in an extra period of 30 minutes, but darkness interrupted the overtime battling by the Hakoah-Centers and Sparta, with a 3 to 3 tie still unbroken. The latter game probably will be replayed next Sunday in Sparta stadium.

Swedish-Americans Extended.

Altho strengthened thru the addition to their lineup of five members of the disbanded Milwaukee Falk team—John Petek, Frank Trimmel, John Reega, Harold Anderson, and Walter Schroeder, the Swedish-Americans had no power to spare in defeating Necaxa. Goals by Harold Anderson in the first period and by Al Waldron, after 3 minutes of play in the second period, sent the Swedish-Americans into a 2 to 0 lead. Henry Bellagamba then came thru with two Necaxa goals which forced the game into overtime.

Goals by Frank Trimmell and Tommy Reilly gave the Swedish-Americans a wide lead early in the 30 minute extra period, but Emanuel Sanabre scored for Necaxa when 7 minutes of playing time still remained, and the Swedish-Americans were extended to protect their one goal edge until the finish.

Sparta Rallies to Gain Tie.

Hakoah dominated the early play against Sparta and first Joe Senders then Maxie Pearlman scored to fashion a two goal lead after 28 minutes of action. A Sparta goal by Jimmy Wolf made the score: Hakoahs, 2; Sparta, 1, 5 minutes before the close of the first period but Eric Klaber scored only four minutes later to put Hakoah two goals up again.

Sparta put on a great rally in the second half, and Wolf's second goal and one by Joe Silovsky, home on a navy furlough, produced a deadlock which has yet to be broken.

STUHLDREHER TO HEAD WAILING WALL MEETING

Harry Stuhldreher, head coach at the University of Wisconsin, will review highlights of Saturday's Purdue-Wisconsin contest and serve as commentator for the game's movies in the weekly session of the Wailing Wall at noon today in the La Salle hotel.

Stuhldreher also will give his views on the Big Nine football race from the angle of a coach that has met Purdue, Northwestern, and Ohio State in conference battle and Notre Dame and Great Lakes in nonleague games.

Jimmy Conzelman, former college and professional football coach and now public relations director for the St. Louis Browns, will address members of the Quarter Back club in the noon meeting today in the Morrison hotel. Other speakers include: Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National league, and Charley Bachman, coach of Michigan State's Spartans. Outstanding plays of the Notre Dame-Illinois game will be shown in the football action movie feature.

TEANEY, SPENCER HEAD TONIGHT'S MARIGOLD CARD

Gene Spencer, South Chicago lightweight, who dealt the gifted Johnny Bratton his first professional defeat last September, will see what he can do about spoiling Harry Teaney's future plans when they meet in an eight round bout tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace st.

Teaney, who is matched to face Maxie Shapiro of New York in an important encounter in Milwaukee late this month, will be making his first Chicago appearance since beating Alvin Gomez a year ago.

Montreal Ice Six Defeats Detroit, 3 to 2

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 5 (AP).—Murph Chamberlain's easy shot that slid past Goalie Connie Dion with only a minute and seven seconds left to play gave Montreal a hard earned 3 to 2 National Hockey league triumph over the Detroit Red Wings tonight before a crowd of 13,379 fans.

Les Canadiens, who won from the Red Wings last night at Montreal by an identical score, had to come from behind to get tonight's decision after Detroit had taken a 2 to 0 lead in the first period.

ALEXIS CARREL, 'ROBOT' HEART INVENTOR, DIES

Scientist, 71, Won Nobel Prize in Medicine.

PARIS, Nov. 5 (AP).—Dr. Alexis Carrel, 71, surgeon and biologist who won international fame for his medical findings, and invention of a mechanical heart in research with Charles A. Lindbergh, died early today.

Dr. Alexis Carrel.

His Paris office said Dr. Carrel, Nobel prize winner and author of the widely published "Man the Unknown," had been ill with a heart ailment for some months.

Two months ago Mrs. Carrel denied published reports, attributed to French government agencies, that Carrel had been suspended from his post as director of the Carrel Foundation for the Study of Human Problems, and said he was at home, seriously ill. J. [illegible] Boucher, director of the cabinet for the prefect of police, had declared the Carrel Foundation was established with Vichy government funds in 1941.

Create Mechanical Heart.

From 1906 to 1939, Dr. Carrel was a staff member of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York.

In 1935, Dr. Carrel and Lindbergh announced development of a mechanical heart, in which the heart, kidney or glands from an animal could be kept alive for study in glass chambers, supplied by circulation of artificial blood. An artificial lung supplied a mixture of oxygen, carbon dioxide, and nitrogen.

With Lindbergh, Dr. Carrel wrote "The Culture of Organs" in 1938.

He won the Nobel prize in medicine in 1912 for his discovery of a technique for suturing blood vessels, a method that made transfusions commonplace, and for his success in transplantation of organs. In the same year he dissected a fragment of chicken heart, and kept it alive and growing for years.

Helped Develop Antiseptic.

During the first World war, he helped develop the Carrel-Dakin antiseptic solution, credited with saving the lives of countless wounded soldiers, and avoiding thousands of amputations. Thrice during the war, his hospital in France was the target of German explosives.

Born at Sainte-Foy-les-Lyon, France, on June 28, 1873, Dr. Carrel came to the United States in 1905, and engaged in research at the University of Chicago for a year. He was appointed to the staff of the Rockefeller Institute in 1906, was made a fellow in 1909, and a full member in 1912. He was the winner of the Newman Foundation award of the University of Illinois in 1937.

TWO NAZIS SLAIN, 5 WOUNDED IN FLAREUP AT FORT

Fort Knox, Ky., Nov. 5 (AP).—Two German prisoners of war were killed at Fort Knox today and five were wounded when a guard fired at them during a disturbance in the compound, Fort Knox authorities announced tonight.

The public relations office said about 20 men climbed the fence around the stockade and refused to return to ranks. Then a guard ordered them to leave the fence.

Post Comdr. Col. N. B. Briscoe said the shots were fired by Pvt. Dewie Merritt, another guard, who tried unsuccessfully to persuade the prisoners to leave the fence.

He said order was restored after Merritt fired at the men. Merritt was taken into military custody pending an investigation of the incident.

BUTLER PLANS REFINANCING OF SENIOR SHARES

Would Lift Common Stock Value.

Butler Brothers, wholesale distributor of general merchandise, announced yesterday a proposal to refinance the company's preferred stock, provide additional capital for post-war expansion, and increase the par value of the common stock from $10 to $15 a share. The plan will be submitted to shareholders Dec. 8.

T. B. Freeman.

The contemplated refinancing provides for the authorization of 150,000 new shares of $100 par value cumulative preferred stock, issuable in series. About Jan. 1 the company would issue 100,000 shares or 10 million dollars par value of the new stock with a dividend rate of 4½ per cent.

Group to Handle Sale.

Marketing would be handled by an investment banker group headed by Harriman Ripley & Co., T. B. Freeman, Butler president, said. Proceeds would be used to retire $8,127,360 par value of outstanding 5 per cent convertible preferred stock, and increase working capital for use in post-war expansion.

The plan also calls for an increase of $5,831,430 in stated capital. This would be effected by raising the par value of the common from $10 to $15 a share thru transfer to stated capital of existing paid in surplus plus any needed balance from earned surplus. Outstanding are 1,166,286 shares of common stock.

If the proposed program is completed, the company estimated its net worth will be represented by 10 million dollars in 4½ per cent cumulative preferred stock, $17,494,290 in common stock and approximately 8½ million dollars in earned surplus. The unissued 50,000 shares of new preferred would be available for additional working capital, if needed.

Lower Sales Volume Expected.

Butler Brothers sales increased from $81,400,000 in 1940 to $121,600,000 in 1943, but 1944 volume is expected to be lower because of the scarcity of desirable merchandise, company officials said.

A banking group headed by Paul H. Davis & Co. will offer today 40,000 shares of Trailmobile company common stock at $7. A similar number of shares is being offered by the company to stockholders at the same price. Proceeds will be used to increase working capital and for other corporate purposes.

Union Securities corporation and W. C. Langley & Co. head a group offering $2,800,360 of Goodall-Sanford 3½ per cent debentures, due 1958, at 103 and accrued interest, and 226,566 2-12 shares of common stock at $22.75 a share. Goodall-Sanford is a continuation by merger of the business of Sanford Mills and Goodall Worsted company.

KEYSTONE STEEL.

How are the post-war prospects of Keystone Steel and Wire company regarded? What has been its war time earnings record?—S. R.

Keystone's customary products were of such a character that they were available for war production without essential change. In the management's view, reconversion will present no major problems, except for possible excess capacity for making certain wire products to satisfy war needs.

Under government directives, the company was permitted to manufacture a substantial quantity of farm fencing, netting, and other products for agricultural use in the fiscal year ended June 30, but inasmuch as limitations have been placed on such products since Pearl Harbor there seems a possibility of some accumulation of demand. If farm purchasing power is reasonably well sustained, prospects would appear good for at least a normal volume of business in such products.

The company's operating costs, however, have increased, and the price outlook is not well defined. In the 1944 fiscal year profit, including larger dividends from subsidiaries, increased to $1.94 a share on the 757,632 shares, from $1.44 a share in 1943. The 1942 profit was $2.37; 1941, $2.14, and 1940, $1.87. The average profit of the four pre-war years was $1.39 a share.

Keystone's income account does not include its equity in undistributed earnings of its two subsidiaries. In the case of National Lock company, this equity in the last fiscal year approximated $190,560.

ASK PRIORITIES GO TO PRIVATE BUILDERS ONLY

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP).—A demand that all priorities for construction of houses under the newly authorized building program be given private builders was made today by the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the National Association of Home Builders.

In a letter to John B. Blandford Jr., national housing administrator, the organizations asked that "no funds or priorities of any kind be used for permanent public housing during the war" and "that you [Blandford] help keep the private home building industry alive so that as soon as the war ends it can take its place as the nation's number one job producer."

"We ask that at this time of bitter man power shortage you refrain from adding to the growing hoard of public payrollers for an unnecessary purpose, since private industry can produce better housing at less cost without adding to the public pay rolls," the letter concluded.

Raise Crude Oil Ceilings for 33 Pools in 4 States

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—The OPA today announced price ceiling increases of 11 to 20 cents a barrel for crude oil from 33 pools in Louisiana, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas, to "bring prices into line with those for comparable oil" in the same areas. They will be absorbed by purchasers of crude and result in no increase in the price of petroleum products, OPA said.

STEEL DEMANDS REDUCED BY CUT IN SHIPBUILDING

Cleveland, O., Nov. 5 (AP).—"Shipbuilding requirements constitute the main factor in war requirements shrinkage, with other needs holding close to peak, including heavy projectiles, land transport and aircraft," the magazine Steel said today.

Reduced need for steel plates follows the decline in ship work "which until recently was the principal factor in record-breaking plate output," the publication continued.

"The merchant ship program has been tapering at an accelerated pace, with probability that by the end of the first quarter it will be relatively negligible. Navy requirements, altho likely to be better sustained than the merchant program, also have been easing as a result of cutbacks during recent weeks.

"Decline in ship tonnage is bringing relief to the general market because it frees more raw steel for other products. Effect on sheets and other light flat-rolled products is expected to be greatest as it also releases more finishing capacity of that product."

PEACE MILITARY TRAINING URGED BY TRADE GROUP

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—Peace time compulsory military training is favored by a majority of its members, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reported today.

Substantial majorities favored these three points of policy, the chamber said:

The United States should adopt a policy of universal military training for young men in peace time.

The schedule should be flexible enough to assure minimum dislocation in the educational and business life of young men.

Upon the completion of training, trainees who do not enlist in the regular military organization shall be enrolled in reserve components.

British Firms Warned to Be More Efficient

BY JAMES SLOAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 5.—British industry was warned tonight that inefficient units will face "drastic measures" if they do not put their houses in order after the war. The challenge was made to manufacturers by Aircraft Production Minister Stafford Cripps, who only yesterday told private enterprise it would get a major opportunity to take charge of peace time reconversion, subject to some controls.

Today, however, in a speech in Manchester, Cripps said harsh steps might be necessary to produce more efficient industrial organization because reconstruction of civilian industries on a modern basis must be a matter of national concern.

Urges National Viewpoint.

With the goal of raising the British standard of living by expanding production for internal consumption while battling for vastly increased export markets, Cripps warned:

"We must look at our productive industry not from a point of view of individual profits, but from the national interest.

"The economic structure of certain of our industries is not conducive to maximum efficiency. We realize this very fully in war time and exactly the same will be true after the war. If necessary we must reconsider the structure of our industrial organizations and take even the most drastic steps to bring about an efficient reorganization.

Hints Continued Rationing.

"We may well have to regulate the amount of goods for home consumption as it will be of no use to raise internal standards if we cannot maintain them because we do not get the imports we need."

Cripps, who is reportedly on the way back into the arms of the Labor party from which he was expelled several years ago because of unorthodox aims, warned that if there is difficulty regarding trade unions regulations a new approach to the relationship between employer and employe will be necessary.

MEN'S AND BOYS' APPAREL SHOW TO OPEN TODAY

Midwest buyers of men's and boys' wear will attend a three day market showing of winter, spring, and summer lines opening in Chicago today. The sponsors, the Chicago Men's and Boys' Wear group and the Illinois Men's Apparel club, expect attendance to exceed 1,000.

More than 500 lines will be shown in the Merchandise Mart, the Palmer House, and in exhibitors' own showrooms.

GRADUAL SHIFT OF FARM LOAN CONTROL URGED

U.S. Should Get Out, Says Economist.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5 (AP).—Continuation of the agricultural production credit system, but gradual withdrawal of government capital so as to transfer control to the farmers, was proposed today by a Brookings institution economist.

"A permanent and comprehensive system of agricultural production credit should be maintained, supplementing that furnished by commercial banks and other lending agencies," said a study by Dr. Earl L. Butz.

Urges End of Relief Role.

The system should limit itself to the granting of sound credit and should not be concerned with rural relief and emergency rehabilitation, Dr. Butz said.

Urging a definite plan for retirement of the 76 million dollars of government capital in the production credit associations, Dr. Butz said that unless such a plan is put into operation, "private banking interests may be expected to continue their opposition because of the federal subsidy involved."

The farmers' investment in the more than 520 production credit associations operating at the end of 1943 was 27 million, and returns from the investment of the government-supplied capital during that year amount to a subsidy of $3,300,000, the study said.

Criticizes Subsidy Philosophy.

"It appears that the competitive effect on commercial banks of the production credit subsidy has probably not been as great, in the aggregate, as is sometimes alleged," Dr. Butz commented.

"The real threat to commercial banking inherent in the subsidy is not so much the amount of the past or present subsidy, but the philosophy underlying continuous subsidy and the genuine danger that it may be extended to the point where both private and coöperative credit institutions will be forced out of the farm lending field as the subsidized system moves increasingly toward political control, and complete socialization."

Market Holiday

Banks and principal markets, with the exception of live stock, will be closed tomorrow, election day.

Shipments of Grain on Lakes Mount to Peak Since 1928

Cleveland, O., Nov. 5 [Special].—Grain shipments on the Great Lakes will be the largest this season since 1928, but the late fall movement will drop below last year, vessel operators reported today.

Vessels moved 434,399,224 bushels of grain up to Oct. 21, compared with 421,961,725 bushels during the entire 1943 season. Additional millions of bushels are scheduled to be shipped this month and early in December, including scores of winter storage cargoes.

Storage Rate Is 8 Cents.

The general winter storage rate has been 8 cents a bushel. A small amount of tonnage was chartered for October loading at 9 cents. A year ago shippers were unable to line up tonnage for late grain loading and rates for the middle of November rose to 11 and 12 cents.

With most of the bulk ore freighters idle after the middle of this month, there is plenty of grain tonnage on the market and the rate may drop even lower.

Loading of grain has been slow in recent weeks with some vessels waiting a week at elevators before getting cargoes. The man power shortage, lack of railroad cars, prices, and other factors combined have retarded the rail movement from Canadian and American growing centers to loading ports.

October Shipments Higher.

Despite the delay, shipments for all ports, American and Canadian, in the first three weeks of October aggregated 51,600,000 bushels against 46,300,000 bushels in the entire month last year. The November movement, however, is expected to drop below a year ago.

The 1944 storage fleet also will be smaller. South Chicago, Erie, and Toledo will not get the large grain fleets they held last winter for the war food administration, but there will be a sizable fleet at Buffalo.

OMNIBUS PROFIT TOPS MILLION IN FIRST 9 MONTHS

Omnibus corporation, Chicago holding company which controls the Chicago Motor Coach company and the Fifth Avenue Coach company, New York City, yesterday reported net income in the nine months ended Sept. 30 of $1,078,312, equal to $1.09 a share, compared with $922,336, or 85 cents a share, in the corresponding period. Profit was after tax provisions of $1,038,192 in the 1944 period and $744,161 a year earlier.

American Seating company, Grand Rapids, Mich., reported net income of $256,059 in the nine months ended Sept. 30, compared with profit of $319,092 a year earlier. Sales rose to $10,462,850 from $8,726,758 a year ago. Federal income tax provision for the period was $684,000 against $564,000 a year earlier, and the company made a $75,000 contingency reserve provision compared with $50,000 in 1943. The company said it has claimed $2,254,000 in settlement of one of two canceled airplane contracts.

OIL STOCKS TOP INVESTING FIRM QUARTER SALES

New York, Nov. 5 [Special].—Investment company managers turned cool to the oil stocks in the last quarter, a report by the National Association of Investment Companies on portfolios of 30 leading funds showed today.

Eight companies sold 64,700 shares of Pure Oil and none bought any. Other oil issues in which selling predominated—oils were the first five stocks on the "sold" list—were Socony-Vacuum, Ohio Oil, Standard of California, Standard [New Jersey], Texas company, Gulf, Sinclair, Atlantic, and Standard [Indiana].

Current Opinion Not Indicated.

The report emphasized that the portfolio changes must not be interpreted to indicate present investment sentiment among the fund managers, but merely the changes between June 30 and Sept. 30.

Other issues sold by five or more trusts were International Nickel, Pan-American Airways, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, and preferred stocks of American Light and Power.

Stocks in which purchases exceeded sales showed no such common pattern. The most popular issues were B. F. Goodrich, Kennecott, International Paper, United States Rubber, and Deere.

Utility Issue Widely Held.

Funds the 30 companies had available for investment aggregated 98[illegible] million dollars on Sept. 30, with about 9 per cent, or 89 million [illegible] cash, against 8 per cent or 77 million at the end of June.

Twenty-three of the funds held $25,243,400 North American company stock, the 1,328,600 shares representing 15.5 per cent of stock outstanding. This is the most generally held stock on the list and the percentage of the stock held is the highest.

MANY CHICAGO WACS NOW ON DUTY IN PARIS

Tribune Writer Dines with Group.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 5—There are 3,000 Wacs in France of whom 1,500 are serving in Paris. They are doing a good job. Volunteers to begin with, they later volunteered to come overseas, hence you do not find them kicking up rows about anything.

Their presence is appreciated by the American soldiers and you can put this down as basic: "G. I. Joe respects and admires G. I. Jane."

They serve in every branch of the service. They are checking and issuing equipment in the quartermaster corps, handling the highly technical wireless telephone and radio equipment in the signal corps, sorting letters in the postoffice or serving as doctors' assistants in the medical corps. They are pharmacists and they draft maps for the geodetic service.

Praised by Air Force.

A 9th air force officer today praised the jobs they are doing in receiving and preparing intelligence reports, in radio location and in "filtering" the positions of planes in the air. They drive everything from six-wheeled trucks to swanky officers' cars, act as telephonists and stenographers and some are employed in the so-called psychological warfare department.

This correspondent had mess today with one WAC company, 10 of whose members were from Chicago, Ill. It was in a hotel where they are billeted. Like most of the hotels taken over by the Americans there is no hot water except once a week and no heat whatever, so they are not too comfortable. We ate weiners, sauerkraut, dehydrated vegetables, and chocolate pudding for dessert.

They react to their experiences much as does G. I. Joe. Some are a little homesick and some are thrilled at the opportunity of being abroad when stirring events are taking place.

"We feel exactly like the ordinary soldier," one said. "We are glad to be of service to our country and are willing to do anything to win the war but I would say that an overwhelming majority, when that is done, want to get back home and out of uniform.

There were some gripes. "The uniform made them all look alike and gave no opportunity for individuality." The same was true about the regimentation. Some complained there was not enough attention paid to the training and the capacity of each individual. One trained pharmacist said that her special education was being wasted as an office clerk. Another girl was serving as a telephonist and thought she ought to be employed in the psychological warfare department.

The WACs here are under Lt. Col. Anna W. Wilson.

On July 14, just two days short of a year after the first contingent of WACs landed in the United Kingdom, 49 landed on the Normandy beachhead. The members of this forward echelon were clad in field uniforms of leggings, trousers, combat jackets, and steel helmets. They camped out in an apple orchard and began to prepare for the arrival of other contingents.

There still were 4,000 left in the United Kingdom, most of whom were doing jobs that normally would have had to be done by a fighting soldier.

Prefer Yanks to French.

While the WACs are intrigued by the politeness and manners of the Frenchmen, they still seem to prefer G. I. Joe.

There have been few marriages. Up to four months ago, out of 7,000 who had crossed overseas, only 24 had married and all but three to Americans. They are allowed to have dates on their off hours and go to the movies and usually there is a dance in the various billets at least once a week. Many spend their spare time sightseeing or studying languages. They even have a basketball team which, however, seems to have been badly drubbed by a French women's team only last week.

Despite these recreations the WACs aren't having an easy time. The uniform has lost its original glamor and now is a working suit. The WACs are subject to the same rules and regulations and are punishable by the same articles of war as the male soldiers. But it is explained that while the discipline is strict it is based on common sense and is entirely functional, there being no discipline purely for the sake of regimented militarism.

Chicago Girls' Views.

The TRIBUNE found no complaints on the work being too arduous. Pvt. Ebba R. Nielsen, who worked in the Chicago quartermaster depot on Pershing rd., and whose father lives at 5607 Lake st., said she has both enjoyed and griped at being a Wac.

"The experience," she said, "undoubtedly will be to my advantage. It has been a privilege to be in England, France—and Paris—at such a time as this. I have managed not to miss any of the sights or scenes and what a break!"

Pvt. Doris C. Larson of 4942 Newport av., Chicago, a switchboard operator in civilian life, thinks that her work with the psychological warfare department is the "most important thing I have done since I've been in service."

Sgt. Mary J. Lawson, 329 Belden av., Chicago, who was production manager of two trade magazines, said: "I am finding Paris most intriguing and interesting—loving every minute of it."

T/Sgt. Edyth Hollender, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Hollender of the Park Lane hotel, Chicago, and who taught school in civilian life, came to France in the first WAC group of 49. "I enjoy," she said, "visiting French homes."

Corp. Frances Solmon, whose father, Joseph E. Solmon, lives at 1550 Hyde Park blvd., misses Chicago. She said: "All the boys I've talked to since being overseas and even some in the United States say that Chicago is the most hospitable city of any to the service boys."

Corp. Yetta Draznin, an assistant pharmacist in civil life, who lives at 3512 Palmer st., Chicago, wanted her friends to hear her most embarrassing moment story.

"I went to a Jewish rally given by the Jews of Paris," she said. "Upon leaving the hall I was putting on my coat when I spied a gray haired gentleman in a beautiful French uniform. I went up to him and asked him if he could speak English. 'Only two words,' he said, 'kiss me.' I never was so overwhelmed. Believe it or not, there I was being kissed by a general of France on both cheeks [very correctly]."

Pvt. Betty E. Anderson, 540 Briar pl., says her greatest thrill was to see the liberation of Paris and "seeing life getting back to normal."

Other Chicago WACs were Sgt. Ada Ball, 1833 Juneway ter.; Corp. Nettie Paisin, a dramatics teacher of 4508 Central Park av.; Pvt. Ruth Brechbiel, 7134 N. Wolcott av.; Sgt. Florence Hildebrandt, 2724 Harrison st., Evanston, and Pvt. Jessie McDonald, 7302 S. Langley av.

14,000 CIVILIANS EVACUATED IN ST. NAZAIRE AREA

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Nov. 5.—With American coöperation and after negotiation with the local German military command, the French Red Cross today completed the evacuation of nearly 14,000 civilians from the St. Nazaire "pocket" on the Atlantic coast. This is one of several regions remaining in enemy hands. The others are Lorient, La Rochelle, Boyan, and the mouth of the Gironde river.

The Germans occupy not only fortified points forming an actual part of the Atlantic wall but also a belt some 12 miles wide in which they requisition all foodstuffs. As a consequence the French populations are reduced to short rations and in some places have hoisted the black flag of famine.

The forces opposing the Germans consist in part of American units with a large proportion of F. F. I.
